Bud Melchert Is Killed

Eighth Traffic Fatality Counted In Pettis County

The eighth fatality for Pettis County this year occurred about 2:50 a.m. Saturday in a two-car accident in which three other persons were injured. The accident was about a half-mile east of the Smithton and U. S. Highway 50, west junction.

Dead is Bud Melchert, 27, 1031 Crysler, Independence. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Bothwell Hospital. Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher, coroner, who viewed the body said he died of a skull fracture on the front and right side of his head.

The body was taken to the McLaughlin Chapel.

Injured was Mrs. Patricia Ann Cotterell, 22, 1308 West Maple, Independence, driver of the 1965 Ford tudor sedan, in which Melchert was riding. She suffered a severe laceration of the forehead and a laceration over the left eye, also some minor cuts and bruises. She was treated by Dr. Stauffacher.

Her husband, Charles Wayne Cotterell, 28, who was riding in the front seat, suffered a cut on the left ear and right foot, and complained of a back injury. He was treated by Dr. Stauffacher, who had x-rays taken of his head and back.

Benny Keith Townsend, 18, Route 5, Sedalia, driver of the second car, suffered painful head injuries and a severe laceration on the forehead and bruises. He was treated by Dr. Joseph W. Maunders.

The injured and Melchert were all taken to Bothwell Hospital in a McLaughlin ambulance.

The injured were all reported in satisfactory condition late Saturday.

Trooper William Southwick, of the State Highway Patrol, reported Mrs. Cotterell told him, "I saw a car coming down the wrong side of the highway and I tried to get out of the way. It was a white car."

Townsend's car is a 1961 white Chevrolet tudor sedan.

She was headed west and Townsend east on the highway.

When questioned by Trooper Southwick at the hospital, Townsend said he didn't recall what happened.

The accident occurred at the bottom of the two grades coming from the east and west. The right front of the Chevrolet was demolished and the entire right side of the Ford automobile was ripped away, and extensive-damaged.

Melchert, it was reported, was asleep in the back seat of the Ford car and apparently his head was toward the right side where the full impact of the collision occurred.

Mrs. Cotterell, a nurse, tried in vain to revive Melchert as he lay on the back seat floor of the Ford car. Oxygen was administered as he was taken to the hospital in the ambluance.

The Chevrolet was towed back to Sedalia by Bacon's wrecker while Parks wrecker towed the Ford to Sedalia.

Judges To 45th Annual Convention

The state association of County Judges stages its 45th annual meeting next Thursday and Friday, Sept. 16 and 17, in Jefferson City and Pettis County judges will be taking an active part in the convention. Sessions are to be held in the Hotel Governor.

Charley W. Stock, Moniteau County, is the current president of the judges group while an area judge, R. J. Behrens, Benton County, is secretary-treasurer.

Thursday morning's program features as speakers Norman H. Anderson, state attorney general, and Haskell Holman, state auditor. Speakers Thursday afternoon include Fred T. Wilkinson, director of corrections; Mel Carnahan, majority floor leader in the state House of Representatives; Larry W. Stephenson, president of the U. S. Civil Defense Council; and Thomas G. Woolsey, Versailles, state senator from the 33rd district.

The business session is set for Friday morning.

Pettis County judges E. L. Birdsong, Eastern District, and C. M. Purchase, Western District, will be in the capital city Wednesday night for committee meetings prior to the convention opening. Birdsong is a member of the association's legislative and auditing committees and Purchase is a membership committee member.

Presiding Judge C. Berry Elliott also plans to attend if possible.

Two Persons Killed; Seven Hurt In Wreck

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP)—Two persons were killed and seven were injured Saturday when a truck and a car collided on U. S. 61, 15 miles north of here.

Fatally injured were Mrs. Earnest Johnson, 23, and her 3-year-old daughter Sharon of Kansas City, Kan. (No address avbl).

Injured were Mrs. Johnson's husband, 23; their son, Earnest Jr., 9 months; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Reed, 19 and 18; their 6-week old daughter, Angela; and James Parks, 16, all of Kansas City, Kan., and Wayne H. McDowell, 43, of Cape Girardeau.

State police said McDowell was driving a soft drink truck and the other eight persons were in the car.

Earnest Johnson was in critical condition. The others were not reported seriously hurt.

The Weather

Mostly sunny Sunday, warmer in afternoon. High around 80. Fair Sunday night with low 60 to 65. Monday sunny and warmer.

Democrats Will Support Hearnes' Plan

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis city and county Democratic committees said Saturday they would support Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' plan to redistrict the House.

The support came at a meeting at a restaurant in St. Louis. All St. Louis area House members at the meeting said they would back Hearnes' plan for a bipartisan commission to reapportion the House on the so-called "one man-one vote" basis.

Hearnes repeated a refusal to call a special legislative session on the problem until he was sure a majority of the House would support him.

Rep. Harry M. Raiffie, D-St. Louis, told the governor that Democratic majority members of the House would meet in Jefferson City next Sunday at 10 a.m. Raiffie said they would decide then if all the Democrats would support the bipartisan reapportionment commission.

"I feel we gave the House the opportunity to properly redistrict itself and the people rejected the House plan," Hearnes said. "I don't feel we should make that mistake again."

The governor rejected a recent proposal from three representatives that the commission be made up entirely of House members.

Those who offered the suggestion were Speaker Thomas D. Graham, D-Jefferson City; Majority Leader Mel Carnahan, D-Rolla, and Republican Minority Leader Ronald M. Belt of Macon.

"I don't say that the reapportionment plan I propose is perfect," Hearnes said. "But, its the best we have to offer."

Men, Food, Medicine

Emergency Aid To Hurricane Victims

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The federal government rushed emergency aid — men, food, medical supplies — to the beleaguered Hurricane Betsy flood victims and their weary rescuers Saturday.

"You ask for it and you'll get it," Robert Phillips of the Office of Emergency Planning told a meeting of city officials. He spoke as a personal representative of President Johnson.

Already the death count from Hurricane Betsy's murderous swing from the Gulf Thursday and Friday stood at 26 in Louisiana — most of them victims of drowning in the swirling waters that rushed through a broken levee in the wake of the wind.

Authorities couldn't guess how high the death toll might go when the waters subside and searchers begin probing the remains.

A patchwork armada of private boats and Coast Guard vessels churned through the flooded lowlands east of New Orleans, picking people from the uneasy safety of rooftops and little islands of high land in residential areas.

Helicopters whirled over the area, landing wherever they could for quick evacuation of the sick and the pregnant.

The copters and the ragtag fleet of boats and trucks brought out about 35,000 people and were looking for more.

Trucks and city buses moved the evacuees to emergency shelters in New Orleans — the city hall, the municipal auditorium, schools, churches.

The Red Cross reported 45,000 people in emergency shelters — most of them flood victim, others still unable to return to homes damaged by winds.

The meeting between Phillips and city officials came less than 24 hours after President Johnson made a flying trip to New Orleans and took a two-hour tour of the devastation. The President declared Louisiana a major disaster area, opening the way to federal aid for hurricane victims.

Phillips told the city officials that Army units were en route from Ft. Sam Houston in Texas and Ft. Polk in western Louisiana.

"You'll have enough men, food, medical supplies — all the supplies necessary — to take care of 25,000 evacuees," Phillips said. The Red Cross said the Army would bring five field kitchens, enough food to serve 360,000 meals, and equipment to purify drinking water.

In New Orleans, the cleanup moved ahead slowly. Broken glass was being swept off the sidewalks and streets. Loose power lines were being tied off. Telephone service was slowly being restored.

Damage estimates were hard

May Request Delay On Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said Saturday the Senate may be asked to delay action on the House-passed $3.28-billion foreign aid money bill to await developments in the India-Pakistan conflict.

The Senate Republican leader said that while the Senate Appropriations Committee probably will finish work on the bill soon, he does not expect it to be brought up "until we can see a little better what's likely to happen" in the Asian war.

The committee failed to raise a quorum Friday and postponed final action on the measure until Monday.

Before the appropriations group meets in midafternoon, Secretary of State Dean Rusk is to appear at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to report on the Southeast Asia situation. His review will cover the India-Pakistan fighting and developments in Viet Nam.

House Republicans tried unsuccessfully to write into the bill a ban on economic and military aid to India and Pakistan. This was rejected by a voice vote after administration spokesmen pointed out that such a provision would prevent the United States from giving military equipment to India if Communist China repeats its 1962 invasion of that country.

The United States has an agreement to give military assistance if India is attacked by any Communists. The Republican ban on arms aid would have applied to any country receiving such aid that moved militarily against another recipient of U.S. assistance.

Dirksen did not indicate that Senate Republicans will revive the aid ban beaten in the House. But he said in an interview that the India-Pakistan conflict is certain to be discussed at a Tuesday meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will report at that closed session on his recent swing through Asia during which he talked with high officials in each of several countries he visited.

Work On Pisa Tower

PISA, Italy (AP) — After years of perplexity, pondering and paperwork, technicians have begun on-site labors aimed at keeping the Leaning Tower from toppling. Soil samples are being taken from test borings in the broad green lawn of the Piazza dei Miracoli — Square of Miracles — to determine whether the water table contributes to instability under the 13th century bell tower.

BULLETINS

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Twenty thousand U.S. combat troops of the 1st Cavalry Division Airmobile have landed at Qui Nhon on the South China Sea and established a beachhead.

The first of four aircraft carriers, six troop ships and ten cargo ships are standing off Qui Nhon's bay.

The first group of 20,000 men — The "Flying Horsemen Division" — have already established a base camp. One of the earlier arrivals last month, an Army major, was killed Aug. 17 but this was never officially announced.

Major Shifts In Boundaries

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Six incumbent senators were tossed into three Missouri senatorial districts Saturday after a redistricting plan was approved 8-2 by a bipartisan commission.

The redistricting was ordered by a Federal District Court in Kansas City which retained jurisdiction over the remapping in case it was not accomplished in line with the U.S. Supreme Court's one man-one vote decision.

Boundaries were shifted considerably to bring the population of each district to less than 5 per cent of the median of 127,053 based on the 1960 census. Present districts range in population from 96,477 in the Missouri to 160,288 in the 29th district in southwest ninth district in Kansas City.

The new districts will range in population from 122,221 (3.8 per cent below the median) to 132,191 (4.6 per cent above).

St. Louis will retain its six districts. Jackson County (Kansas City), which now has four, will gain another district, the former 16th district of northwest Missouri. St. Louis County, with five districts, will lose 63,000 persons in three townships to the new 26th district that includes Warren and St. Charles counties and two townships in Franklin County.

The new 26th is the only district crossing county lines.

Counties in the present 16th district will be divided among four new districts. Daviess and Livingston counties will be in in the new 12th district, Ray will be in the new 17th and Lafayette, Saline and Pettis will be in the new 28th. Carroll County will be put in the new 34th.

The new 16th district will include eastern Jackson County.

Sen. Don Owens, R-Gerald, who represents the present 20th district will lose 8,000 persons from the Franklin county townships of Boles and Calvey, and 52,532 persons from St. Charles and 8,750 from Warren counties to the new 26th district.

Observers regard Owens' district as marginal. Other marginal districts are believed to be the 21st, represented by Sen. Omer H. Avery, D-Troy; the 31st represented by Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, and the 8th, represented by Sen.

Opening Of First Clinic Seen In '66

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The State Division of Mental Diseases hopes to have the first of its nine regional mental retardation clinics open for business by the middle of 1966.

Dr. Louis Belinson, deputy director of the division of mental diseases, laid down some of the planning for the immediate future in an interview with the Associated Press.

At this point six of the nine sites have been chosen — Albany, Hannibal, Joplin, Springfield, Rolla and Sikeston. Three more are still to be selected in the Kansas City area, in the north central area and in the upper southeast section.

Basically, the clinics will have a bed capacity of 40 with facilities for quick transferral of patients to other hospitals for such things as X-rays and special diagnosis.

The main idea, Dr. Belinson said, is to keep the patients close to home whenever possible.

He said of every 1,000 Missourians about 30 are mentally retarded. Some 25 of those 30 can be educated in special schools, four can be trained and the last probably must be in the care of an institution.

One of the big jobs will be to train families themselves in the daily care of the mentally retarded or how to share in the establishment and operation of sheltered workshops or day care schools.

For instance, Dr. Belinson said, a sheltered workshop in Sedalia, Mo., was so successful in simple jobs for outside interests that the patients received about $95 a month in earnings.

The establishment of the clinics will be a boost to the communities in which they are located. They will draw some 35 professional men and other people needed to staff them — from cooks and attendants to nurses and part-time diagnosticians.

Patients with special problems will be taken to larger hospitals for diagnostic help.

The Legislature has appropriated $400,000 for the construction of each clinic.

Spreading Imminent

Heaviest Fighting Reported In War

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The heaviest fighting of the India-pakistan conflict was reported swirling across the northern front Saturday and spreading of the struggle to eastern sectors appeared imminent. Pakistan claimed India's army is now "wholly" on the defensive.

An Indian spokesman said "very fierce battles—the heaviest battles so far" were being fought in the Sialkot and Lahore region of northern Pakistan, where each side struggled to protect its cities against the other's tanks. Sialkot is at the northern end of the front 60 miles north of Lahore.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri warned India may have to take counter measures in eastern areas of the subcontinent because of what he called provocative Pakistani air raids against strategic Indian installations in east India.

There has been no large scale ground fighting in the east but the Indian government made clear it will fight to halt what it say are Pakistani threats to air fields and supply routes leading to Indian units on the Red China front.

These threats include air raids and what authorities in eastern India said was a drop by Pakistani parachutists Friday.

All in all, it was a gloomy picture for U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, who arrived in Bombay, India, and is to fly to New Delhi Sunday on the last leg of his peace mission. His just-ended talks in Pakistan generally were regarded in New Delhi as unpromising.

In Moscow, it was disclosed at a news conference that Premier Alexei N. Kosygin had appealed to both sides to halt the fighting, pull back their armies, and let Thant settle the dispute. The Soviet Union offered its good offices.

The center of the dispute is Kashmir, the Himalayan state both sides claim and which has been divided by a U.N. cease-fire line since 1949. The fighting broke out last week when India charges, Pakistani troops crossed the cease-fire line and has since spread to border regions of India and Pakistan.

Shastri said he wants peace and President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan said India does not regard itself at war with Pakistan. But the government made claims that indicated India was very much at war.

In Rawalpindi, Pakistan's capital, a spokesman said Indian troops were beaten back on the Lahore front with heavy losses of men and tanks and were now fighting "a wholly defensive battle."

He asserted a Pakistani drive was well past Khem Karan, two miles inside India and 20 miles north of the Indian city of Ferozepore. India said Friday Pakistani shells fell on Ferozepore, 10 miles inside India, but the Pakistani spokesman made no mention of an advance on the city.

Kansas Girl Is Crowned Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) —Deborah Bryant, a brown-haired beauty from Kansas, was named Miss America of 1966 Saturday night.

Miss Bryant, a 5-foot-7 Christian College beauty who will enter Kansas University as a junior this fall, won a swim suit preliminary in the pageant. She weighs 115 pounds and measures 36-23-36.

Deborah, who wants to become a pediatrician because of her love for children, hopes to enter Kansas University Medical School after graduation.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hurley D. Bryant of Overland Park, Kan. In her spare time she writes fiction, swims and water skis.

Miss Kansas received a bouquet of pink roses and a robe was placed on her. Then she burst into tears, but regained her composure and began her stroll down the center aisle.

Runners-up in the contest, in order, were:

Miss Mississippi, Patricia Puckett, 20, Columbus.

Miss Indiana, Eileen Smith, 18, Indianapolis.

Miss Florida, Carol Blum, 21, Miami Beach.

Miss Wisconsin, Sharon Singstock, 20, Oshkosh.

LOSS WAS HEAVY — Roaring flames reach skyward as a three-hour fire destroyed two downtown business Thursday night and loss was estimated at $500,000 in Port Arthur. Trucks from six towns fought the blaze. (UPI)

Road Work Bids Okayed In Local Area

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The state Highway Commission has announced approval of $5,549,503 in highway improvement bids, many of them for highway beautification.

Two bids for rest area facilities on Interstate 70 near Danbury and Concordia were rejected but the projects will be re-advertised later.

Projects and successful bidders include:

Buchanan County—Highway beautification on Interstate 29 from St. Joseph to the Platte County line, Bruenings Nurseries of Higginsville, $37,812. Scott and Cape Girardeau counties — Beautification on Interstate 55 from I-57 to proposed Route Y, Owens Nursery Inc. of Kirkwood, $48,730.

Primary system:

McDonald County—Six miles of grading, bridging and concrete paving on U.S. 71 from Anderson to Pineville, W. J. Menefee Construction Co. of Sedalia, $2,095,486.

Urban system:

Cole County — Beautification on U.S. 50 in Jefferson City from Clark Ave. interchange to Walnut St., Bruenings Nurseries of Higginsville, $13,414.

FITNESS CHAMP — James Steininger, 9, of Vincennes, Ind., has been named National Physical Fitness Champion by the Amateur Athletic Union after racking up 161 points, highest in the nation for his age group, in the A.A.U. Physical Fitness Testing Program.

Washington Capsules

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Education says nearly 90 per cent of the Southern and border state school districts have adopted desegregation plans to comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The Office of Education is generally happy with the way Southern and border state school districts are complying with the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Under its terms they must promise to operate without racial or other discrimination. The penalty for noncompliance: no federal aid.

Officials say 89.5 per cent of the area's 5,044 districts have come up with either voluntary desegregation plans, statements of compliance or desegregation court orders.

Only about 100 of the remaining 509 districts are considered problems.

Officials wouldn't identify the districts. They did say about half of the 17 Southern and border states are involved.

CAPITAL QUOTES

Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity: "The public is entitled to know anything that goes on here, but in some audit reports there are matters pertaining to individual human beings. They are entitled to their privacy."

Jack Hood Vaughn, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs: "The (seven-nation) trip confirmed my belief that our Latin-American policy is basically sound."

Ray C. Bliss, Republican national chairman: "I urged them (46 political professors) that they join with me in this drive to rebuild and revitalize the Republican party."

CAPITAL FOOTNOTES

Old Drum Kennel Club To Present Dog Show

A prize-winning movie entitled "Dog Etiquette" will be shown by the Old Drum Kennel Club at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 15, at the Carpenter's Hall, Business Route 50, West, Warrensburg, Mo.

While Dog Etiquette covers fundamentals as well as advanced obedience training and reveals authoritative tips on housebreaking, unnecessary barking, and other problems, it also points up the need for more 'good dog neighbors.'

The 30-minute color-sound film demonstrates what can happen in a typical household when a boy's pet starts to become a neighborhood nuisance. Then it shows in 'how-to' fashion the way his parents help him deal with the problem — why and how pets should be trained.

Mrs. Lucille Gard and her German Shepherd Dog, Greta of Roy-Cil Farm, U.D. appear in the film.

The theme of the movie will be of interest to all dog owners in Warrensburg and the surrounding territory, and they are cordially invited to attend. The Club especially urges all dog owners who are interested in joining a Beginner Obedience Training class to attend this movie. A question and answer session will follow. Refreshments will be served.

The Old Drum Kennel Club, under the director of training, Mrs. Gard, will sponsor a beginner obedience school for all breeds. Classes will meet one hour for each week for 10 weeks, starting Sept. 22 at 7 p.m. at Carpenter's Hall.

Dogs must be in good health, have had rabies, distemper and hepatitis shots and be six months of age or older. Dogs need not be purebred to enroll in this class.

Any one interested should call or contact Mrs. John McMillan, 516 N. Holden St., Warrensburg or Mrs. William Sebring, WAFB Mo. for further information.

Drunk Driver Chemical Test Bill Begins Soon

Drunk drivers will be given tests beginning Oct. 13 of this year. This will be done in accordance with the Implied Consent and Chemical Test Bill passed by the 73rd Missouri General Assembly, according to an announcement by the Missouri State Highway Patrol recently.

This safety bill implies that a person has agreed to a chemical test when he operates a motor vehicle on a Missouri highway. The law requires those persons arrested for driving while intoxicated to take a chemical breath test to determine the alcoholic content of the blood. Refusal by a person to take the test will result in the revocation of that person's license to drive.

The purpose of the chemical analysis of a driver's breath is to measure the amount of alcohol in the blood which is the criteria for intoxication. This testing process has been medically recognized as being accurate in determining the amount of alcohol in the blood. The test does not attempt to measure the amount of alcohol that might have been consumed.

It should be noted that while these tests will confirm intoxication in some cases, they will also exonerate drivers. The tests may establish the fact that the alcohol concentration in blood is so small the driver cannot be considered intoxicated.

The basis of the implied consent provision of this law is that driving is a privilege. When a driver exercises his privilege to drive upon the streets and highways, he is considered to have agreed to submit to the chemical test. Refusal by the individual to take the test results in the suspension of the driving privilege.

Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner, the Superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, commenting on this new legislation said, "The chemical test law will aid greatly in the prosecution of 'driving while intoxicated' violations. It will help rid the highways of those drivers who get behind the wheel in an intoxicated condition, endangering not only their lives but those of the innocent as well."

Week In Business

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In the aftermath of the steel industry labor settlement, one big question remained: Will steel prices go up?

The United Steelworkers of America and the 10 major producing companies signed this week a 35-month contract reached after relentless prodding by President Johnson.

The union estimated the package was worth 47.3 cents an hour. This would mean that the cost to industry would be $450 million a year.

Immediately speculation arose as to whether the producers would impose selective price increases. There was no talk of a general boost, which surely would arouse the ire of the government.

The consensus seemed to be that any price adjustment would be gradual and over the long haul.

Gardner Ackley, the President's chief economic adviser, said the wage increase granted the steelworkers amounted to 3.2 per cent — the precise figure which the administration had set as a guideline for wage settlements.

This, however, was a matter of argument. Some sources calculated the raise at 3.7 per cent.

Some grumbling was heard from steel management about the cost of the settlement and its effect on profits.

Chairman Thomas F. Patton of Republic Steel Corp., third largest steel producer, expressed regret over the cost of price boosts were being considered.

"We are pleased that, after months of negotiations, a labor contract which will keep our plants open and our employes at their jobs has been concluded," Patton said.

"We regret, exceedingly, however, that the cost of the contract, regardless of how it is measured, greatly exceeds the 2.2 per cent long-term productivity gain which the industry has experienced."

Patton said the cost increases involved "will further intensify the cost-price squeeze under which we have been operating during the past several years, during which we have experienced steadily rising costs both in our employment costs and in the costs of materials and services which we purchase."

Ackley expressed the opinion that the excess of steel supplies built up during the long negotiations should be absorbed by the economy "without shock or strain."

He said the nation's economy may expand this year at a slightly higher rate than the official forecast in January and he predicted continued improving business through 1966.

Steel production last week declined to 2,413,000 tons, off 4.5 per cent from the previous week.

Automobile production lagged in this holiday-shortened week. Output totaled an estimated 53,500 cars, compared with 56,044 last week and 118,125 a year earlier.

Automakers, who rang up record production in the 1965 model year, put their sights on a new record in the final quarter of this year. Their goal is to turn out 2.6 million cars, the largest output for any three months in the industry's history. The current three-months record is 2,561,865 in the first quarter of this year.

Sales of new cars continued to hold up well. Dealers delivered 609,937 cars in August, up 7 per cent from 570,851 a year earlier and second only to 659,000 in August 1955.

Many of the country's business economists and statisticians expect the economy to continue its expansion through 1966. This was indicated by a survey reported at the annual meeting of the American Statistical Association in Philadelphia. Their forecasts look for a modest increase in the total output of goods and services next year.

A government survey showed that businesses have again scaled up capital spending plans. A record outlay of $50.92 billion was budgeted for new plant and equipment this year, up 13.4 per cent from 1964's record $44.9 billion.

Ex-Convict Shot, Killed In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Mandel (Manny) Skar, an ex-convict and an admitted crime syndicate associate, was shot and killed early Saturday outside a parking court on the North Side.

Police said the 41-year-old former motel owner had just returned from a restaurant to the plush Lake Shore Drive apartment building where he lived. Skar let his wife off at the building's front entrance and then drove his car to a car court where he was shot down.

Police said Skar's wife, Beatrice, 41, told them three men had followed their car from the restaurant. She said the men followed Skar to the car court after he dropped her off.

Skar was twice convicted on burglary charges, in 1942 and 1945, and once for mail fraud.

He opened the Sahara Inn North in Schiller Park., Ill., June 6, 1962 but it was placed in receivership in June 1963.

Skar was one of several underworld characters called to testify last May before a grand jury investigating political influence allegedly wielded by the crime syndicate.

At the time of his death, Skar was under indictment for evading income taxes on more than $1.4 million from the construction and operation of his motel.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Our 17-year-old son quit high school to join the Navy. My husband and I were glad to see him make this decision because he was flunking in every subject and he was getting out of hand at home. We thought the Navy might make a man out of him.

Yesterday he wrote that he is bringing a 24-year-old "girl" home. The "girl" works at the base and I'm sure she has had a lot more experience with members of the opposite sex than our son. He says nothing in his letter about the girl's background, her family, how he met her, or his feelings for her.

What do we do now? Should we hide our feelings or should we tell our son the door is closed if he can't make a better selection than that?—D.R.B.

Dear D. R. B.: When a son writes that he is bringing a girl home my advice is keep the door open — and be pleasant, even if the girl turns out to be a gorilla with six eyes.

No teen-ager ever accepted the fact that his selection was a poor one because his folks told him so. Therefore, keep smiling, Dearie, if it kills you and don't make the mistake of knocking the girl so hard that he marries her just to prove you are wrong.

Dear Ann Landers: I am worried. Recently I read a letter in your column from a woman who wrote that she is single and happy. You said, "Marriage is not for everyone." Maybe I am one of those—but I hope not.

I am 19, a sophomore in college and better than average looking. I feel ill at ease with people I don't know. Every girl in the room seems better poised than I. Although I find men appealing I've had very few dates. Most of my frineds have steady boy friends, or at least a fellow who asks them out on a Saturday night, but not me.

I love old houses and antiques, I'm a good cook. I enjoy gardening and sewing. I can't wait to have a home and family of my own. The thought of a life alone is depressing. Can you say something to cheer me up?—BOSTON BETTY.

Dear Betty: The right man hasn't come along yet, but he will one day—and when he does you'll know it. Girls who get rushed off their feet in their teens are not necessarily the ones who make the best marriages, so stop fretting.

You sound like a sensible dame with good values and the man who wants a girl with your qualities will recognize them. What's more, you'll recognize HIM.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please say something in your column about people who call on the telephone and fail to identify themselves? Maybe it's my fault because I'm not sharp enough to tell who's who, but several of my friends sound alike.

This morning a woman called to talked for five minutes and I didn't know who she was. Finally I had to ask. She snapped, "Well, you'll just have to pardon me. I didn't realize I was THAT much of a stranger to you."

Shouldn't the one who calls identify himself and not put the burden on the person he is calling? Am I all wet? Please print this not only for me, but for others who have a tin ear.—A POOR GUESSER.

Dear Guesser: It is good manners to start every telephone conversation by identifying yourself, regardless of how well you know the person. Often sisters sound alike, a father and son frequently have similar voices, and people who don't even know each other have similar voices, too.

A caller who fails to identify himself should not be miffed when he is asked, "Who is this?"

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Review of Week's News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Betsy, being a woman, changed her mind. From a safe, northerly course far out in the Atlantic, the hurricane turned southwestward.

Monday it struck the Bahamas, a vicious storm 600 miles wide with winds of 150 miles an hour. The east coast of Nassau and other portions of the islands were severely damaged, and Betsy roared on.

Early Wednesday it hit the Florida gold coast, from Palm Beach south to Key West. Wind, torrential rain and high seas smashed against the Miami area. Damage was tremendous, probably in excess of $100 million. Miraculously only six people were killed.

Later, Betsy swung northwest again and Thursday and Friday struck the Gulf Coast from Pensacola, Fla., to western Louisiana. With winds dropping to a still-strong 115 miles an hour, the storm hit Baton Rouge, New Orleans and the bayou country a bruising blow. At least 17 more persons died — 16 in Louisiana and 1 in Mississippi — and again the destruction was great.

Dropping in force but still dangerous, Betsy roared inland. After two weeks and 2,500 miles, she was stilla menace.

For the first time in months news of Viet Nam was overshadowed. The eyes of the world were on the India-Pakistan border, where bloody fighting again had erupted. Once again the cause was Kashmir, a tiny mountain state claimed by both Moslem Pakistan and Hindu India.

The two nations have fought over Kashmir since the British quit the subcontinent of India after World War II. A United Nations truce of 1949 gave two-thirds of Kashmir to India, one-third to Pakistan, but neither side has been happy with that. Border fighting across the "cease-fire line" has been frequent. This time, it looked like all-out war.

Pakistan forces, spearheading with American tanks and planes, attacked into the Indian zone of Kashmir and the fighting quickly spread. India, backed with aging British tanks and planes, attacked across the border south uof Kashmir, striking for the major Pakistan city of Lahore. Pakistan, containing that drive, smashed around the flanks heading for the Indian city of Amritsar. The subcontinent was aflame with war and the bitter religious hatreds of centuries.

The world stood in awe. Only Red China fanned the fire, egging Pakistan on. The rest of the world, including the Soviet nion, called for peace. Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations flew off from New York to visit both warring nations, hoping to stop the fighting.

Sovfet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev appealed to India and Pakistan to withdraw to their original lines. He urged them to "show realism, restraint and wisdom, to quench immediately the war flames." There seemed little likelihood of that, but meanwhile the world powers — sans Red China — were trying.

"God" died in Philadelphia. Father Divine, a cherubic Negro probably born as plain George Baker nearly a century ago in Georgia, expired Friday of the infirmities of age.

His demise occurred in a 32-room mansion known as the Mount of the House of the Lord, world center for Father Divine's Kingdom of Peace cult. During his heydey, he had attracted into the movement millions of dollars and thousands of Negroes and whites. He preached a credo of communal living, celibacy, absolute abstinence from theaters, movies, drink, smoking, obscenity and cosmetics.

Most members of the kingdom of peace were Negro, but there were many whites and Father Divine fought unceasingly against racial segregation. His only survivor is a white woman, Edna Rose Ritchings, whom he married in 1946, three years after the death of his first wife. Miss Ritchings, then a 21-year-old Canadian stenographer, adopted the named "Sweet Angel" when she entered the cult.

At exactly 3 p.m. the red velvet curtains parted in the Salle des Fetes of the Elysee Palace and there was President Charles de Gaulle, ready for his semiannual news conference. Nearly 1,000 newsmen, from France and from around the world, listened as De Gaulle spoke for nearly 90 minutes.

His message was the same as all the others during the seven years of his presidency — France would accept no "subordination," in North Atlantic Treaty Organization, in the Common Market, in world affairs, in any matter. As to NATO, he announced that in 1969, at the latest, France would no longer accept an integrated Western defense system. It was his clearest statement yet that France would not renew its NATO commitments when the 20-year pact expires.

Confirming earlier reports, the Vatican announced that Pope Paul VI will fly to New York on Oct. 4 to speak before the United Nations General Assembly. His theme, the Vatican said, will be a plea for world peace and the betterment of humanity.

The Pope, first reigning head of the Roman Catholic Church ever to touch American soil, will also conduct a public Mass in a New York baseball stadium.

Pope Paul visited the United States several times before his coronation, and speaks English. It was not known in what language he will speak to the United Nations. He is expected to arrive in New York about 10 a.m. and leave for Rome 12 hours later with the possibility of a meeting with President Johnson in New York in between.

Quotes of the week:

"We are at war." — President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

"I don't have to say I'm God, and I don't have to say I'm not God. I said there are thousands of people call me God." — Father Divine.

Unprepared For Events

LONDON (AP) — "Be prepared" is the Boy Scout motto — but Scoutmaster William Peto was hardly prepared for what happened when he did a good turn for a Girl Scout captain.

Peto and four boys from his troop drove by truck to Monmouth for a joint Boy Scout-Girl Guide encampment. In Britain, Girl Scouts are called Girl Guides.

They stopped at the home of Phyllis Pope, captain of Monmouth's Girl Guides. After discussing plans for the chaperoned joint encampment, the Girl Guide official asked the scoutmaster if he would do her a good turn.

He happily agreed to transport some bricks and planks to the camping grounds.

On the way, he drove the truck the wrong way around a sign that said "Keep Left."

A policeman gave him a ticket.

By letter, he pleaded guilty and was fined $14.

One of the magistrates who fined him was Mrs. Pope, who is also a Monmouth magistrate.

"I have no hard feelings against Mrs. Pope. She was only doing her duty," Peto said.

She observed: "I'm sorry I had to do what I did, but the law's the law and it should be the same for all people."

Two German Groups Seek Followers

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Nazi and Communist parties are banned in West Germany but two small groups are making a bid for their potential followers in the current election campaign.

Neither is given much chance of winning any parliamentary seats in the Sept. 19 balloting.

On the extreme right is the National democratic party — NPD — which is promoting a Germany-first policy. On the opposite end of the political spectrum is the German Peace Union — DFU — which is calling for unilateral disarmament and recognition of East Germany's Communist regime.

The NPD was born nine monthsa go out of a numbero f smaller ultra right-wing parties. It claims a membership of 12,000. German observers doubt it will get more than 2 per cent of the popular vote.

A party needs at least 5 per cent of the vote to put any of its men in Parliament. The NPD flatly asserts it will get 15 per cent.

The NPD is against the military and economic presence of the United States in Europe and leans strongly toward French President Charles de Gaulle's ideas.

It wants to halt Nazi war crimes trials, "Finally ending the lie of our exclusive war guilt."

Its leader, Fritz Thielen, a beefy, 48-year-old Bremen lumber dealer, admits that 10 of the 18 men and women in the NPD steering committee were members of the Nazi party. A Frankfurtn ewspaper says "roughly 40 per cent of the NPD candidates were politically active during the Nazi era."

The DFU has been endorsed by the exiled leader of the outlawed Communist party. It wants a nuclear-free central Europe, recognition of Communist East Germany and the withdrawal of West Germany from the Atlantic alliance.

The NPD and the DFU are on the ballot in all 10 West German states. The NPD has candidates in all but one of the 248 electoral districts while the DFU has fielded 243.

New Broadcasting Power Recommended

OTTAWA (AP) — A special government-appointed committee recommended Thursday night that Canada set up a new broadcasting authority with sweeping powers to improve the quality of the country's radio and television.

The 15-man authority proposed by the committee would set directly the general programming policies for the publicly owned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and indirectly control private stations by powers to lift their licenses.

Pilot-Astronauts Being Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifteen new pilot-astronauts are being sought by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to be trained for Project Apollo and other manned space missions.

The space agency said it will accept applications until Dec. 1 from qualified jet pilots who will not be more than 36 years old at that time. More scientists to go along on space missions also will be recruited within the next year, NASA said.

The agency now has 28 pilot astronauts and five scientists in its space program. It did not say how many more it is seeking, but officials at the Manned Space Center in Houston, Tex., said 15 new pilots will be selected.

Van Dykes Get Together To Discuss Pro Careers

By CYNTHA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Van Dyke brothers, Dick and Jerry, live in adjoining communities, play tennis together regularly. Their wives discuss their children and borrow sugar back and forth in normal family fashion.

But getting the Van Dykes together to discuss with a reporter their professional lives is an undertaking with some of the built-in difficulties of assembling Macy's and Gimbel's for a friendly conference.

Dick Van Dyke of "The Dick Van Dyke Show" works for the CBS network. Jerry Van Dyke of "My Mother, the Car," belongs to rival NBC. And if their respective public relations departments have their way, never the twain shall meet.

However, a get-together was arranged through the efforts of a third, interested but neutral party — Dick Linke, their mutual manager. But at the appointed hour at the appointed place with a photograher standing by to make a record for history, a management scout stumbled breathlessly into the restaurant with the word: Jerry was "unavoidably detained."

Older brother Dick showed concern; the photographer looked disgusted, and the reporter was dashed. Bravely, however, they carried on and Dick, between mouthfuls of a rare hamburger on the "dieter's special," talked about his own and Jerry's show business careers.

Jerry's special problems arise from the fact that Dick has been spectacularly successfuul in the past five years. Jerry, also a comedian but with a vastly different style, has run into some road blocks.

Inevitably there were, and will continue to be, comparisons.

"We've talked about it, and there's not much that can be done," Dick said. "There will always be people who will say something tactless, even hurtful, like 'Oh, yes, you're number two'," said Dick.

"We are ready for the criticisms of our shows. The ones who don't like Jerry's new show are bound to complain that he's no Dick Van Dyke. And the ones who don't like me will undboutedly warn me to look out. And I'm sure somebody will write that a feud has started between us."

Jerry undoubtedly has become weary of discussing the relationship and is perhaps sensitive about it. He finally built an all-purpose comedy routine explaining how it all came about. In answer to the inevitable question, Jerry soberly explains that for many years neither of the boys had any first names until one day their father called them together.

"Now, which one of you wants to be Dick?" the father asked, at which point the older brother sought permission to leave the room, and in approved schoolboy fashion raised his hand.

"Very well, you're Dick," said father Van Dyke, and that was that.

The story, typical of Jerry's style, brings chuckles.

In a way, Jerry's new series, if it strikes the fancy of the television audience, assures that there will be a Van Dyke in the medium for a while longer. Dick, who with "Mary Poppins" has emerged as an important new motion picture star, is in what is positively the final season — the fifth — of "The Dick Van Dyke Show."

Dick became serious for a moment.

"Even if the show isn't a hit, it will be good for Jerry," he reflected. "At least it will make him a star because the role is his sort of thing."

Jerry plays a young lawyer in the fantasy-comedy. The gimmick is that his deceased mother is reincarnated as an old automobile.

Push Evacuation Of US Citizens

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Maybe chocolate isn't so bad for Johnny's complexion after all.

Writing in "Missouri Medicine" Drs. J. D. Grant and P.C. Anderson of the University of Missouri Medical Center describe the results of experimental chocolate feeding to eight youthful volunteers with mild to moderate acne.

They found no significant flare up of the condition and wrote:

"This discredits the unqualified assertion that chocolate causes acne."

Humphrey Addresses Annual Festival

WORTHINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said today the nation can "afford billions of dollars to put a man on the moon and we can afford to help put a man on his feet."

Humphrey said in a prepared speech that it is good economics to "help our neighbor" at home and abroad.

The occasion was an annual festival in this city which bills itself as the turkey capital of the world.

Touches Off Mine In Death Strip

GOETTINGEN, Germany (AP)—A man apparently trying to flee into West Germany touched off a land mine in the Communist border death strip Friday night, customs officials here reported today.

West German border police said they saw East German troops carry off the man, who appeared to be severely injured.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says he favors U.N. membership for Communist China. He also urged a halt in U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam.

At a news conference Friay, following "fruitful and amicable" talks with U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, King admitted concern over recent belligerent statements by Peking but urged a reversal of previous U.S. policy against admitting Red China to the United Nations.

King also indicated he thought that bombing North Viet Nam was not the way to establish a basis for peace negotiations. He called for "an unequivocal and unambigious statement" of U.S. willingness to negotiate with the Viet cong.

LONDON (AP) — Britain has protested a United Arab Republic demand that the British military attache in Cairo leave by Sept. 21, diplomatic sources said today.

The demand that Brig. H. J. Bartholomew be removed is a reprisal for Britain's ouster of his London counterpart Sept. 6, sources said.

Britain requested the removal of Gen. Abdel Tawab Ahmad Hodeib, militarya ttache in the United Arab Republic's London embassy, after he was linked with the trial of a British sergeant convicted of spying for Middle East countries.

ROME (AP) — Premier Aldo Moro has told Communist parliamentarians he will refuse to allow a North Vietnamese delegation to enter Italy.

Moro said no visas would be granted to the Red North Vietnamese, invited to Rome by the Italian Communist party.

He said visas to nationals of states not recognized by Italy are granted only to persons on economic and trade missions. Italy does not recognize the Hanoi regime.

Group Seeks Members

An enrollment party for Sedalia Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association will be held Monday evening on King Kamahama Island, Parkhurst Farms. The chapter joins more than 560 national chapters in a membership drive. The effort's theme is "If you work for a man, in heaven's name, work for him," a quotation by Elbert Hubbard.

Negotiators Reach Strike Settlement

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — Weary negotiators reached a settlement today in the 20-day United Auto Workers strike at American Motors Corp.

The agreement was hammered together in an all-night bargaining session as the negotiators labored to prepare the terms in time to present them to a scheduled mid - morning membership meeting of UAW Local 72.

Announcement of the agreement was made by George Gullen, American Motors vice president who headed the company's negotiating team.

The strike, longest in the history of American Motors operations here, began Aug. 23, halting all production of 1966 Rambler automobiles and idling more than 17,000 workers at Milwaukee and Kenosha.

The union grievances that an AMC official said were the source of the dispute reportedly involved charges of a speedup in work standards and controversies over company disciplining of union stewards.

Apparently Kicked To Death By Cow

SHARON SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP) — A 4-year-old girl apparently was kicked to death by a cow Friday.

State police said Brenda Lee Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shaw of Sharon Springs was in a barn on the Leland Parsons farm.

Parsons and the girl's father were milking cows. They discovered Brenda was missing and found her lying behind one of the animals, police said.

Really Scattered

LA PORTE CITY, Iowa (AP) — Some of Benjamin Wilson's possessions were scattered far and wide two weeks ago when a tornado tore through his farm near here.

He didn't know how far until Friday when he received a letter from Oscar Schubert of Kent, Ill., 130 miles east. Schubert said he found on his farm a $25 savings bond with Wilson's name and address on it.

Wessin Not Finished With Red Battle

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Dominican Republic's major military nemesis of Reds vows he isn't through fighting them, even though exiled to a consular post.

"They haven't knocked me out yet," barrel-chested Brig. Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, 42, told newsmen after a U.S. Air Force plane flew him from Panama to Miami Friday night.

"I will serve (in the post of general consul in Miami) but in the meantime we are not finished with the Communists in the Dominican Republic. So I can't be happy."

The general said flatly in Miami that his ouster was "a victory for the Communists."

The controversial career soldier's flight to Miami was the last leg of a speedy exodus ordered for him by officials of the regime of provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy.

Officers rushed the stocky, 5-foot-7 general in rumpled fatigues Thursday night from his home to a plane that took him to the Panama Canal Zone.

Newsmen were not permitted to interview him there. They got their first glimpse of Wessin y Wessin when he stepped out of customs at Miami International airport carrying one suitcase and a spare suit over his arm.

Wessin y Wessin, who fought vigorously in early stages of the April rebellion, declined to answer questions about the present Dominican administration and internal politics.

He exchanged the traditional Latin hug-and-handshake with incumbent consul Alberto Arbelo and asked, "Where is my family?"

Arbelo told his longtime personal friend that Mrs. Wessin y Wessin, 34, and their three sons, aged 2 to 9, hadn't reached Miami yet.

Wessin y Wessin went to the consulate on fashionable Brickell Ave. to spend the night.

First Lady Returns To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — After four days of promoting and enjoying natural beauty out West, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson was back at the White House today.

Daughter Lynda, 21, was vigorously and gaily turning aside rumors of a new romance with a Wyoming medical student.

Conservationists were delighted at the flowing effects of the First Lady as their backer.

A Salt Lake City Tribune editorial referred to Mrs. Johnson as a "quiet persuader" who is catching the public fancy.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, a Republican, listened to Mrs. Johnson dedicate a garden of flowing waters, shrubs and flowers on the campus of the University of Denver Friday, announced he was sending a Colorado blue spruce tree to help beautify the capital.

He said Mrs. Johnson's speeches were helping advance his own state's South Platte natural beauty project.

Mrs. Johnson was putting low key presure on for beautification of American cities.

She told a Denver campus audience of some 1,500 that "it is going to take real planning and real imagination and training" to cope with the frightening growth of cities "or we shall find ourselves stifled by the uglification of a once splendid nation."

The First Lady quoted from British poet Abraham Cowley: "God the first garden made. and the first city, Cain."

On her way home from Grand Teton National Park, Wyoming, Friday, Mrs. Johnson spent less than two hours in Denver — enough time to take part in dedication of the $125,000 Mary Reece Harper Humanities Garden donated by a former university chancellor, Dr. Heber Harper, in memory of his mother.

There, she expressed the hope that American students of the future won't be doomed to cement campuses. And she expressed hope more philanthropists would make similar "wise and lasting donations to the beauty of the land and the joy of its inhabitants."

Mrs. Johnson's motorcade was routed mainly through residential areas of Denver and residents stood in their front yards and waved banners saying "Hi Lady Bird and Lynda."

Police sirens were silent as the First Lady drove through. A spokesman for Mrs. Johnson explained "Lady Bird doesn't like sirens."

Money Bill Cut Record Not Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the rate it's going, the present Congress won't set any records for cutting appropriations.

Just as it has given President Johnson almost everything he has requested in the field of legislation, so it has been cooperative in the matter of putting up the money to foot the bill for the legislation.

In the money area it may set two records.

It is almost sure to appropriate more money than any other peacetime Congress, and its appropriation cuts, percentagewise, may be the lowest in modern history.

Total appropriations are likely to be in the neighborhood of $120 billion, or about $30 billion below the all-time high of the 1942 wartime Congress. This includes about $12 billion this year in appropriations over which Congress has little control, such as interest in the national debt.

With only one more money bill to be originated, Congress has acted on requests for about $103.8 billion in new appropriations for federal activities over which it can control spending.

Not all of the bills have been passed finally, but on the basis of performance to date, the over-all cut will be in the neighborhood of 2 per cent.

The House has voted $98.6 billion in new appropriations and is expected to approve soon another $1.7 billion to finance the fighting in Viet Nam. The Senate has approved appropriations of 99 billion, including the emergency Viet Nam fund, but still must act on a House-passed bill providing more than $4 billion for foreign aid and related programs.

The Senate has boosted House figures on 12 of the 15 measures considered by both branches, the total increase being around $4.3 billion. It has gone along with the House on two bills and actually cut one. Some of the Senate increases resulted from presidential requests for additional funds after the House had acted on earlier and lower estimates. Many of the Senate increases have been scaled down in compromise measures.

Protest On Importation Of 50 Lions

FROME, England (AP) — A roar of protest sounded through the Town Hall this week over the Marquess of Bath's plan to bring 50 lions to the grounds of his stately home.

"It is quite conceivable," said the Rev. Edgar Tiller, "that there will be escapes — and escapes may not be one animal alone. The time to protest is now."

Lord Bath, owner of Longleat House, had announced he planned to import the lions as a tourist attraction. In keeping with other owners of stately homes — upkeep of which costs a small fortune — Lord Bath charges admission.

"It's one thing to have a tiger in your tank," said Councillor Albert Bull, "but quite another thing to have a lion in your lap, and that might happen."

Councillor Herbert Salvidge was worried about a 12-foot wire fence to separate lions from sightseers.

"Suppose we get a heavy snow, and we do have them," he said. "Will the fence be high enough to keep these animals in?"

Councillor Harold Hawkins told a meeting:

"I gather those lions are going to be fed from an armored car, and there's another thing. If they start roaring in the middle of the night some villagers are going to experience some sleepless nights."

Taking the other side of the case, Maj. Thomas Wilbraham said:

"We are making utter asses of ourselves. This argument is all ifs and buts based on old women's gossip. How many of you have any idea of how to keep lions?"

The councillors agreed to ask Lord Bath in detail about safety precautions.

POSTULANT — Miss Kathleen Ann Couhig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Couhig, 900 South Quincy, entered the Postulancy of the Sisters of St. Joseph, Concordia, Kan., Sept. 8. Miss Couhig was recently graduated from the Aspirancy.

People In The News

NEW YORK (AP) — Two physicians say multimillionaire Tommy Manville is too ill to testify about his marital status.

The New York State Supreme Court Friday ordered a medical examination for Manville, 72, who is being sued by one of his many ex-wives, Anita Roddy-Eden. She is asking the court to declare her his legal wife.

Two doctors submitted affidavits to back up the contention of Manville's present—and 11th—wife, Christina, that he is too sick to testify.

LONDON (AP) — Opera singer Joan Hammond has announced she is retiring because of ill health.

The Australian-born Miss Hammond, 52, said in London:

"It is a cataclysm in an artist's life, but my doctors have advised me my health will not permit me to resume the strains and stresses of an artistic career."

Refuse To Set Aside Jack Ruby Conviction

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Judge Louis T. Holland, saying he did not want to "disturb the present status of the case," refused Friday to set aside the murder conviction of Jack Ruby.

Holland made the ruling at the close of a two-day habeas corpus hearing in which Ruby's lawyers tried to have Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown disqualified. It was before Brown that Ruby was tried and sentenced to die for killing presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

The defense argued that Brown has a monetary interest in the case because he is writing a book about the Ruby trial.

The state contended that the book will cover only the trial, and therefore can in no way affect the eventual outcome of the case.

Where Women Are Is Sept. Topic for WSCS

"Where the Women Are" was the program for Woman's Society of Christian Service Sept. 9 at First Methodist Church. The following eight "compass points" were discussed: church, chart, change, community, Christian, citizen, commission, challenge.

Participants were: Mrs. Tom Miller, Mrs. LeRoy Harwood, Mrs. Ewing Gibson, Mrs. Lowell Wilson, Mrs. Richard Lukacs, Mrs. Bill Cline, Jr., Mrs. Charles Cheffey and Mrs. Wilbur Mosier.

A film, "Frontiers That Call Us," was shown. Program arrangements were made by Miller Circle.

Mrs. Ollie Lewis presided. Quiet music was played b yMrs. Gibson and opening prayer was by Mrs. Cline. Scripture was read by Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Cline gave meditation. Mrs. Cheffey presented spiritual life lesson and benediction was pronounced by Mrs. Gibson.

Luncheon hostess groups were Brown, Neighbors and Bordoli circles.

Seek New Lieutenants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is looking for 11,700 new second lieutenants, to be commissioned after 23-week training courses.

The new officers, needed to help meet the Army's increasing size, will be commissioned at more than three times the recent rate of about 3,400 a year under the officer candidate program. They will serve in infantry, artillery, armor and other arms and branches of the service.

The Army is to be increased by 235,000 officers and men to a new total of about 1,200,000 by next July 1.

Officers candidate schools at Ft. Benning, Ga., and Ft. Sill, Okla., will sharply expand their size and new schools will be established at Ft. Belvoir, Va., Ft. Knox, Ky., and Ft. Gordon, Ga.

Astronauts May Go To Greece In Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. may be going to Greece next week.

The International Astronautical Congress will be meeting in Athens throughout the week, and scientists planning to attend said they understood Cooper and Conrad, with their wives, would appear there.

They said Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who heads the National Space Council, also is scheduled to attend.

President Johnson told the two Gemini 5 astronauts at the end of their eight-day space voyage last month that they and other U.S. spacemen would soon be making some overseas journeys but gave no details.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration declined comment, beyond saying the foreign travel plans had not been completed for Cooper, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and Conrad, a Navy commander.

Frozen Orange Juice

Frozen concentrated orange juice now rates an important spot on the current plentiful foods list. Supplies in storage are at the highest level since 1962. Prices are already a bit lower than in 1964. Shoppers may expect to see special promotions in the weeks ahead.

Frozen orange juice is an excellent source of vitamin C in the diet. One 6 ounce glass of orange juice furnishes an adult daily requirement of vitamin C, as well as some vitamins A and B.

There is a difference between beverages labeled concentrated juice, punch, and drink. The description of the ingredients given on the label will show the difference. Remember this — the law is that ingredients must be listed in the order of volume. If water is the first ingredient, then water out-measures the juice or sugar or other ingredients in the mixture.

Major Types of Flooring

Long Life Flooring—Asphalt is a popular, low-cost flooring which can be used on or below ground-level. It resists acids and alkalies and fire (cigarette burns). It also resists abrasive wear if it is protected from tracked-in grit. It is brittle and dents, scratches and breaks easily. If used near glass exposed to sunlight, it will fade, soften, dry out, and shrink at the joints. The standard type is pitted and softened by oil, grease, gasoline, turpentine, cleaning solvents, and solvent-base wax such as paste wax. A grease resistant type costs considerably more. Protect only with water soluble, self-polishing wax or polish.

Cork is very quiet and comfortable under foot. Valued for its color and texture. Is porous, dents easily but has almost complete recovery. It absorbs oil and grease. Protect only with self-polishing wax or floor finish. Not suited for kitchen, utility room, or heavy traffic areas.

Vinyl Cork has a vinyl layer fused over cork. Is quiet and comfortable, stronger, more dent resistant, but also more expensive than regular cork. Resists grease, stains, and scuffing for the life of the vinyl layer. Durability depends on the thickness and quality of the vinyl layer.

Linoleum is a good, long-wearing flooring when given proper care. Is resilient and grease resistant. Durability and cost vary with the gauge. Color and pattern extend through the wear-layer to a felt or burlap back. Is damaged by dampness from below. Wash with a mild cleanser and little water. Protect from denting by heavy furniture. Clear white and pastel colors of vinyl are not possible in linoleum.

Rubber is long-lasting, resistant to dents, very comfortable and quiet under foot. Slip resistant when dry but slippery when wet. High gloss shows scratches. Most kinds now sold are synthetic rubber and, therefore, resistant to grease. Natural rubber flooring will pit and color bleed when subject to oil, grease, or spirit solvents. Use only a mild cleanser and only water soluble, self-polishing wax or floor finish. Never use a solvent-base wax such as paste wax. Highly resistant to cigarette burns.

Solid vinyl is expensive but highly styled and attractive. More resistant to dents from heels than any other type. Exceptionally resistant to wear, grease, stains, and all cleansers. Low gloss or textured surfaces show scuff marks less than high gloss types. Scratches and stains can be removed with very fine steel wool. Colors and patterns usually extend to the back and cannot wear off. Is both firm and resilient. Styling influences cost. A type with a translucent quality is in the highest price bracket, but is less resistant to scratches, soil, and cigarette burns. Sunlight and moisture do not age, harden, or soften it. Less frequent waxing needed than for other types. Solvent-base wax (such as paste) may damage some kinds — follow manufacturers directions.

Backed Vinyl (regular backing) is a good, long-wearing flooring which is moderate in cost. Colors in most types extend entirely through the vinyl or wear-layer. Highly resistant to grease, stains, household acids and alkalies and cleansers. May be stained by dyes, shoe polish, bluing and grape juice. Some brands have a layer of foam under the wear layer. The purpose of the foam is to improve the under-foot comfort and resistance to denting. Lay on a very smooth, uniform surface since irregulatities in the underfloor may show through to the surface. Its non-porous surface is easy to clean and polish.

Backed vinyl (alkali resistant backing) has asbestos or vinyl backing which makes it suitable for use on or below grade when installed with recommended alkali resistant adhesives. Not suitable under conditions of excessive moisture or alkali. Other charactristics are like "regular" backed vinyl. Types with a fairly thick vinyl backing perform more like solid vinyl. Price differences are usually due to styling, thickness of wear layer, type of backing and quality material.

Vinyl Asbestos is better than asphalt tile for use below and on grade because it is less brittle, dents somewhat less easily, and is highly resistant to grease, stains, solvents, and cleansers. Colors extends to the back on most patterns. Others have surface decoration which can wear off in very heavy traffic. The 1-16 inch thickness which is usually used in homes will soon show any irregularity in the floor beneath it. Thicker gauges (⅛ inch or 3-32 inch) usually are "styled" for commercial use.

Short Life Floor Covering — Printed Enamel is felt paper, surface-printed with enamel. Is resilient and resistant to grease and stain but it scratches and dents easily. In a comparatively short time the surface wears off to show the backing. Use only above grade. Quality and amount of paper and enamel determine durability and price. Sold as rugs or in 6 ft., 12 ft., and occasionally 9 ft. widths. Costs about 5 to 10 cents a square foot. Is not cemented to the floor.

Roto-Vinyl has a design made with vinyl inks on a vinyl coated felt base. Is covered with a thin layer of clear vinyl. Colors wear off but it lasts about twice as long as printed enamel. Dents and scratches fairly easily. Use only above grade. Sold as rugs and in 6 ft., 12 ft., and occasionally 9 ft. widths. Is not cemented to the floor. Price about 10 to 20 cents a square foot.

Cushioned Roto-Vinyl is a roto-vinyl with a layer of foam under the color layer. This foam imprives the under-foot comfort, resistance to denting, and probably increases its durability. A pebbled surface disguises scratches and blemishes. Is resistant to grease and stains. Cleans easily. Sold in 6 ft., 9 ft., and 12 ft. widths. Priced about 30 cents a square foot, not installed.

Bomb Shatters Two Plate Glass Windows

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two plate glass windows were shattered by a bomb at a Hart's Bread Discount Co. store at Lemay in south St. Louis County late Thursday night. No injuries were reported.

Police said the explosion appeared to be a black powder bomb.

It was the second bombing of a Hart's store in the St. Louis area this month. Earlier a bomb damaged a branch store in Jennings in north St. Louis County.

The four Hart's stores in the area have been picketed by representatives of Bakers Union Local 611 for the past three months. Hart's is a non-union bakery which supplies its St. Louis branch stores from a plant in Sikeston.

No human being can be genuinely happy unless he or she stands well in the esteem of fellow mortals. Who would deal successfully with us must never forget that we possess and are possesed by this ego. A word of appreciation often can accomplish what nothing else could accomplish.

Burial will be in Sunset Hills Cemetery, Warrensburg where the Rev. Herbert Woodruff will conduct graveside services Monday morning.

Ideas Are Exchanged

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Doctors and health workers exchanged ideas on improved medical treatment Saturday at the first Missouri Conference on Cardiac and Related Chronic Diseases.

Dr. Carleton B. Chapman of Dallas, Tex., president of the American Heart Association, was the keynote speaker. He raised many questions about improvement of community and regional health services in cases of chronic illness.

The two-day workshop type conference is being sponsored by the state and local medical societies, health departments and heart associations.

Record Enrollment

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP)—Southeast Missouri State College of Cape Girardeau passed the 5,000 enrollment mark Friday for the first time in its history.

Registrar Alton Bray said an increase of 700 students over the first semester of last year was an unprecedented increase rate. The continuing increase from year to year has been about 400 students.

Bray said late enrollments should push the total to more than 5,100, compared with 4,383 for the opening of classes in 1964. Classes began Friday.

Andre Jacques Garnerin made the first "live" parachute jump from a balloon in Paris in 1797.

Funeral Services

Funeral services for Mrs. Gertrude Goodin, 78, Kansas City, formerly of Windsor, who died Wednesday, were held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Huston Funeral Home, Windsor. The Rev. David Hicks officiated.

Burial was in Laurel Oak Cemetery.

Commission

James M. Taylor, R-Kansas City.

Districts considered Republican are the 7th, 10th, 12th, 29th, 30th, 32nd and 33rd.

District boundaries in St. Louis were not changed. In St. Louis County, minor changes were made in existing districts, including the loss of Meramec and parts of Florissant and Bonhomme townships to the new 26th district.

The incumbent senators that will be thrown together in one district in the next election are:

A. Basey Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, representing the present 19th district with a 1960 population of 128,298; and W. O. Mackie, D-Kirksville, representing the present 18th district with a population of 121,044, who will be thrown into the new 19th district. It now will have 124,653 persons.

Thomas G. Woolsey, R-Versailles, representing the present 33rd district with 101,049 persons in 1960; and J. Morris Hill, R-Lebanon, representing the present 26th district with 127,261 persons, into the new 33rd district. It will have 128,891 persons.

Richard Webster, R-Carthage, of the present 32nd district with 106,738 residents; and Harry E. Hatcher, R-Neosho, of the present 28th district with a population of 102,486, into the new 23rd district.

It will have 125,718 persons.

Voting against the remap plan were two Republican members—William J. Esely of Bethany and Albert L. Rendlen of Hannibal. Approval of at least seven of the 10 commission members were needed.

The redistricting plan automatically becomes law 10 days after it is filed with the Secretary of State. The commission was appointed by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes from lists submitted by the Democratic and Republican state committee chairmen.

There now are 23 Democratic senators and 11 Republican senators. Some believe the new districts could be classified as 23 Democratic, seven Republican, and four marginal.

Rendlen and Esely said the new plan would give undue advantage to the Democratic party. They said it would be a serious blow to their party.

Most republican districts in Southwest Missouri are among the smallest in the state. This apparently is the reason that four GOP senators and only two democrats were thrown together.

The commission redrew districts in counties in which more than one senatorial district existed—contrary to state law.

But commission attorneys apparently felt the federal court voided these provisions when it ordered the redistricting. The court could rule that the districts within St. Louis and St. Louis County and Jackson County must be done by local governmental units.

Three Republicans joined five Democrats on the commission in approving the new plan. The Republicans were H. Kenneth Wangelin of Poplar Bluff; Mrs. Florence A. Raeder of St. Louis and Robert L. Shirkey of Kansas City.

The Democrats were Chairman Edward J. Roche of St. Louis, Sidney Salomon Jr., of St. Louis County, William Morris of Kansas City, Gerald Lowther of Springfield and Hal E. Hunter Jr., of New Madrid.

Long Celebration

MONT - SAINT - MICHEL, France (AP) — France this weekend began a year-long celebration billed as the 1,000th anniversary of the famous abbey of this islet on the English Channel coast of Normandy.

The original abbey was founded in 708 A.D. by Aubert, Bishop of Avranches, but through the years and centuries it became a monastery-fortress-prison complex, and was made a national monument by Napoleon III.

Sponsors said the abbey part being commemorated was commissioned in 965 A.D. by Richard I of Normandy.

Sectional Stockholder's Meeting Set

Francis J. Mergen, branch manager of the local office of the Jefferson City Production Credit Association, announced a sectional annual stockholder's meeting will be held in Sedalia for members and their farm friends from Pettis and Benton Counties.

George C. Hill, general manager of the association, will give a report of the year's operations and an interesting program is expected to attract more than 600 farmers and guests from the surrounding area.

The meeting will be held in the Agriculture Building at the Missouri State Fair Grounds on Monday at 7:30 p. m. H. Roe Bartle, former mayor of Kansas City, will be the guest speaker on the program. Two directors will be elected for three year terms.

Entertainment will feature Mike and Bob Mallory with their electric guitars and a ham luncheon will be served by the advisory committee members. Attendance prizes will be awarded.

Other sectional meetings for the Jefferson City Production Credit Association, which provides agricultural credit service for 13 counties in the mid-Missouri area, will be held at Marshall, Sept. 16; Mexico, Sept. 22; Versailles, Sept. 14; Boonville, Sept. 20; and Jefferson City, Sept. 23, at which time the new directors will be announced. Local members who are unable to attend the Sedalia meeting are invited to attend in one of the other cities.

Freedom Is Brief For Two Escapees

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Freedom was brief for two prisoners who escaped from the Missouri Penitentiary Saturday afternoon.

They had been gone only a short time when they were caught about five miles south of the city.

Warden Harold Swenson identified the two as Thaddens Francis Brodkowicz, 25, and Rex Peck, 20, both convicted of crimes in Greene County. Brodkowicz was serving a 15 year term for first degree robbery and Peck 10 years for burglary and stealing.

The warden said the two apparently made their escape under the wall shortly after noon, while the prison yard was filled with prisoners.

He said a hole was found just outside the wall, and indications were they had tunnelled down about eight feet to go under the barrier.

Emergency

to pin down. Richard P. Ellis, vice president of the New Orleans Insurance Exchange, said property damage may total $50 million.

Agriculture officials estimated the loss to cotton, rice and sugar cane crops at $30 to $40 million or more. Vast offshore oil and gas properties, abandoned in the face of the storm, hadn't been inspected yet.

Across most of southern Louisiana and the Mississippi Gulf Coast, people were returning to their homes as Hurricane Betsy spun itself out to the north.

The list of 26 dead in Louisiana brought Betsy's total to 37 — seven in Florida, where Betsy struck before roaring through the Gulf to New Orleans, three in Arkansas where the driving rains of the dying storm caused highway accidents, and one in Mississippi.

The flooding in St. Bernard Parish (county) came as no real surprise to the people living in the low-lying area, but the extent of it — suddenly swollen by breaks in a levee — caught them unprepared.

About Town

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Steele, 1424 East 12th, are vacationing in Washington D. C. and visiting their daughter, Mrs. Doris Steele Bohon. Mrs. Bohon is employed by the American Air Filter Institute there.

Speech And Debate Squad Toning Up

The Smith-Cotton speech and debate squad is toning up for a new season according to Walter J. McCormick, director of forensics.

McCormick said the squad will be composed of three returning lettermen and ten novice debaters. For speech activities such as poetry and oratory, selections will be made from squad members and newcomers who have the ability and the interest.

Debaters will get their first taste of action at the Fort Osage discususion tournament, an event in which S-C placed well last year. McCormick said the first actual formal debate tournament will be at either Marshall or Rockhurst of Kansas City around mid-October.

McCormick believes that the outlook for the squad is good. Those composing the group are Ann Durley, Terry Winebrenner, Jack Austin, David Harms, Jim Denny, Mary Viets, Jill Hopkins, Craig Cassing, Carol Webb, Dick Wasson, Tracy Strombom and Carolyn Reisdorph.

Officers of the school's National Forensic League, the governing body for debaters, are Kenny Fine, president; Dick Wasson, vice-president; Ann Durley, secretary-treasurer; and Terry Winebrenner, sergeant-at-arms.

Carl Sandburg Is Reported Resting

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Carl Sandburg, poet and Lincoln biographer, was reported resting comfortably Saturday in a hospital where he was admitted Friday.

Dr. D. I. C. King of Hendersonville said the 87-year-old author was admitted to Pardee Memorial Hospital for the treatment of diverticulitis, an inflammation of pockets which form in the intestines.

"He is being treated medically," said Dr. King. "He is resting comfortably."

Hospital attendants said the disorder is uncomfortable but not necessarily serious. An attendant said that barring complications the aged poet and biographer should "be out of the hospital in a couple of weeks."

Sandburg was brought to the hospital from his home, Connmara Farm, at nearby Flat Rock, where he raises goats.

Sandburg's son-in-law, Dr. George Crile, a Cleveland surgeon, was reported en route to the hospital from Ohio. He married Helga Sandburg on Nov. 18, 1963.

Boost Anderson For New Circuit Judge Position

HILLSBORO, Mo. (AP) — John L. Anderson of Crystal City was indorsed Friday night for the new circuit judgeship for the 23rd Judicial District by the Washington and Jefferson County Democratic Central Committees.

Anderson, 38, was selected on the first ballot at a meeting of the committees at the court house here. The new district will include Washington and Jefferson Counties.

The committees will recommend to Gov. Warren E. Hearnes that he appoint Anderson to the job, but Hearnes is not bound by the recommendation.

Anderson is a former assistant prosecuting attorney in Jefferson County. He was an unsuccessful candidate for state representative in the 1964 Democratic primary.

He is the son of Judge Lyon Anderson of the U. S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

The Hearnes appointee will serve until the 1966 election. The committees nominated H. Glenn Weber of House Springs to succeed Wayne L. Townsend as Jefferson County Magistrate Judge.

Petitions Are Filed

MEXICO, Mo. (AP) — Petitions seeking an election on abandoning the city council-manager form of government was filed Saturday with the city clerk.

The petitions have been circulated by a five-man group, headed by Howard Kizer, for several weeks. It has not been determined yet whether the petitions carry the names of enough voters to force the calling of an election.

The city has been under the council-city manager form of government since 1949.

No one was injured in a two-car mishap involving a parked car in a lot in the 1200 block of East Fifth at 4:11 p. m. Saturday.

A parked 1965 Chevrolet, owned by Robert P. Sisemore, 710 East Fourth, was struck in the left front fender by a 1963 Oldsmobile, driven by John Roy Stephenson, 61, 611 West Sixth, damaging it. Stephenson's car was undamaged.

A hit-and-run accident at 1009 South Kentucky at 1:11 p. m. Saturday damaged the entire left side of a car owned by Robert C. Ellis of that address. Police are investigating the accident attempting to find the hit-and-run driver.

The intersection of Fifth and Moniteau was the scene of a two-car accident at 5:08 p. m. Friday.

A 1960 Chevrolet, driven by Corbett R. Martin, 19, Route 4, collided with a 1954 Nash, driven by Sharon L. Gilmore, 19, Route 4.

Damage was to the left front of the Gilmore car and to the right front fender of the Martin auto.

One person was injured in a two-car collision at 3:05 p. m. Friday on Highway B, 4.6 miles west of Highway 65.

According to the Highway Patrol a 1965 Plymouth, driven by Charles Gipson, 23, Purdy, Mo., was making a left turn into a private drive when it collided with a 1963 Pontiac headed east and driven by Bernice Pahlow, 43, 1908 South Quincy.

Mrs. Pahlow was taken to the Bothwell Hospital where she was treated for several broken ribs and injuries to the right arm by Dr. D. R. Edwards.

Parks' wrecker removed the Pontiac from the scene while Shoemaker's towed away the Plymouth.

No one was injured in a two-car accident in the 100 block of West Sixth at 12:46 p. m. Friday.

Involved were a 1957 Chevrolet, driven by Opal Dee Hugelman, 62, 1003 West Third, which was pulling away from the curb, and a 1963 Mercury, driven by Eugene G. Semkin, 40, 612 East Ninth.

The entire right side of the Mercury and the left front fender of the Chevrolet were damaged.

Marchers Picket At Lindenwood College

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP) — About 20 marchers carrying American flags and signs picketed Lindenwood College Saturday.

An assistant professor of English at the girls' school, James Feely, was the apparent target of the pickets. Feely is vice chairman of the St. Louis Action Committee to Increase Opportunities for Negroes (ACTION).

Feely has been involved in several demonstrations staged by the civil rights group.

Lindenwood College Dean Homer Clevenger said the marchers were all young and made no attempt to interfere with students arriving for the start of classes. He said he talked to them and they told him they represented no organized group.

The placards, some of which read "Civil Disobedience is not Academic," protested against Feely's civil rights activities.

Readiness Broadcast By Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union broadcast its readiness Saturday to use its good offices to settle the Indian-Pakistani conflict. But at the same time it gave its full support to the United Nations peacemaking effort.

To emphasize its interest in ending the conflict, the government took the unusual step of calling a news conference to read out letters sent by Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

The letters of Sept. 4 appealed to both countries to end the conflict and settle their disputes peacefully. The Soviet Union offered to use its good offices to bring peace on the subcontinent.

About 60 correspondents were called to the foreign office to hear the letters read, first in Russian, then in English.

Earlier in the day, a letter from Shastri replying to Kosygin was delivered to the premier thanking him for the proffer of good offices but apparently withholding any request that they be used at this time.

Instead, both India and the Soviet Union appeared to feel that first efforts to bring peace should be left to U Thant, U.N. Secretary-General.

As in the past, the Soviet premier blamed the United States for stepping up tension in Asia and indicated "outside sources" were not averse to seeing the India-Pakistan struggle escalate into more bitter war.

Some comments in the letters probably were aimed not only at the United States but at Red China as well. Red China sides with Pakistan. Neither in the notes, nor in the press conference, was China mentioned.

A special paragraph was added to the letter to Pakistan which appeared to put some additional burden on Pakistan to seek a way out of the conflict over Kashmir.

The Pakistan Embassy declined any immediate comment. A Pakistan reply to the Soviet overtures was made Sept. 7 but has not been published.

Former Presidents To Speak At Meeting

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two former Presidents will appear before delegates to the National People - to - People conference here Oct. 7-10.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, chairman of the board of trustees, will be here Oct. 7 for the opening session of the meeting.

The following day, the delegates will go to Independence, where former President Harry S. Truman will address the group at the Harry S. Truman Library.

People-to-People is now in its fifth year as a non-profit, non-governmental organization designed to advance the cause of international friendship.

Trainmen Are Back After Short Strike

CHICAGO (AP)—A strike by trainmen halted or delayed trains early Saturday on about one-half of the Santa Fe Railway's massive system, but workers returned to their jobs late Saturday after President Johnson created a three-man emergency board.

A Santa Fe spokesman said in a telephone interview that the first crew had arrived at Dearborn Station in Chicago. The spokesman said the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen began calling workers back to their jobs immediately.

The President signed an executive order in Washington creating the emergency board to investigate the dispute between the railway and the union.

The board, to be appointed by the President, will report its findings to Johnson within 30 days.

The executive order said the labor dispute threatened to "deprive a section of the country of essential transportation service."

Earlier, Santa Fe President Ernest S. Marsh said he expected the strikers would return to their jobs upon creation of such an emergency board.

The Santa Fe spokesman said the executive order requires both sides to resume the status quo pending an investigation.

The rail line asked the National (Railroad) Mediation Board to intervene. The board quickly contacted both sides.

"We are confident that the strike comes so squarely under the provisions of section 10 of the Railway Labor Act," Marsh stated, "that it is clear that an emergency board will be appointed to investigate all the facts regarding the dispute which would result in employes returning to work with immediate resumption of normal service."

Marsh said the strike had had an impact on transportation in a major section of the country, including military establishments, defense production plants and industries vital to the economy.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which includes yardmen, switchmen and brakemen, pulled its men out at midnight on lines between Albuquerque, N.M., and Chicago by way of Colorado, between Belen, N.M., and Chicago through the Texas Panhandle and from Wichita, Kan., south to Purcell, Okla.

Other segments of the 13,000-mile network — longest single rail system in the nation—were not hit by te walkout stemming from a deadlock over work rules.

A Santa Fe spokesman estimated that about 50 per cent of its main line routes were affected.

Pickets appeared at depots and freight yards.

Five stood in front of the Dearborn station in Chicago.

High School Rule To Be Challenged

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A high school rule backed by the school administration and the PTA is going to be challenged by a Cleveland Heights mother.

Mrs. James Bell says she is going to defend what she terms her son Sam's right to wear a beard. The beard is neatly trimmed and not large, but it's a beard and the school handbook says all boys shall be clean shaven.

Mrs. Bell contends that such rules only cause teen-agers to rebel by enforcing conformity. She plans to appeal the decision of Sam's instructors that he must stay home until he shaves.

Sam's father, an engineer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, reportedly liked his son's beard so well he grew one of his own.

Operators Find Profits In Ghana

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Smart operators are finding profits by fishing in Ghana's troubled economic waters.

Ghana is nearly bankrupt as a result of overly ambitious industrialization, mismanagement and corruption, plus a decline in the price of cocoa, which earns more than 6 per cent of its foreign exchange.

No new industry has come here in more than two years. The nation's currency is sharply discounted in money markets. Import controls, intricate barter deals, and profiteering have caused shortages of such basics as sugar, matches, shoes, flour, milk, medicine and automotive parts.

Ghana would at first glance seem to offer little to international money men. Not so.

"Financial vultures who are not bothered by ethics or inhibited by scruples are making fortunes here," said one diplomat.

Some dabble in smuggling and black-market currency deals. Others are involved in development contracts. A recent visitor was a young salesman for a Swiss-based mutual fund company, on a month's vacation.

"I read the financial papers to discover which countries seem to be going broke and I spend my vacation in one of them selling mutual funds. I make more money in that one month than in the other 11 in South America," he said.

Many of his sales were to high government officials. Ghana's strict foreign exchange controls didn't bother him, he said, because many purchasers "have Ghanaian money I deal with them on a confidential basis."

Some operators deal directly with President Kwame Nkrumah.

Ghana dug its way into an economic hole much like a consumer who buys too much on the installment plan.

Cement mills, breweries, shipping fleets, airlines and vast agricultural schemes are national status symbols in black Africa. Industrialization seems to most African politicians the answer to all their country's needs.

Commercial banks and other regular financial channels often decline to finance a project considering it uneconomical or a poor risk. A number of European firms quickly move in with enticing offers to handle the entire project with low down payments and easy credit.

The down payments frequently turn out to be much more than expected. Hidden interest and other strings push up the price. Shoddy workmanship and construction delays are common.

NO BEATLE FAN—If the Beatles are one extreme in show business hair styles, singer Serge Viatkin is the other. The 20-year-old entertainer, born in Leningrad and now in England, shaves his head, except for the pigtail, every two days.

S-C Tigers, Owls Battle To 0-0 Tie

2 Teams Open '65 Season

Smith-Cotton High School Tigers opened the 1965 football season with a deadlock scoreless game Friday night with the Marshall high school Owls on the Jennie Jaynes stadium gridiron. It is the first time since 1960 the Tigers have had an "even break" with the visiting Owls.

The game, however, has no bearing on the standing of the Tigers in their conference, the Central Missouri Conference, this being a non-conference tilt for both clubs.

Both teams made desperate attempts to score, twice the fans were given thrills of seeing the teams reach within one-yard of the goal line and a score. Twice they saw the defense of the opponent come through to hold the scoring attack.

It was in the last 24 seconds of the first half the Tigers made their threat. They took over shortly after the opening of the third quarter on their own 37 yard line and the march started, with five first downs tucked under their belts, they arrived on the four yard line. Two plays, one from Steve Long the other by Jim Arnest, went for nil. Don Wright came in and picked up two yards, then with 24 seconds left time out was called. When the clock started on the the next play, Long hit the line and was stopped with a yard gain, two seconds left and they ticked off the clock to end the half.

Marshall's threat came in the third period. The kickoff by Smith-Cotton gave the Owls the ball on their own 25 yard line. A first down and they reached their own 27. The Tigers put up a terrific defense and forced the visitors, who had picked up only six yards on the three downs, to punt on the fourth.

Steve Long, trying to get the ball, saw it hit his leg and bounce and the Owls took advantage of the fumble and recovered on the Tiger 30 yard stripe. Two first downs had the ball on the nine yard line. Three plays after Ronnie Absher made one yard, Roy Hunter four and Charles Guthrey two, to put it on the two-yard line. Marshall took a time out after which Absher tried to plow through and met a rock wall on the one-yard stripe and the ball went back to the Tigers.

With the game still scoreless at the start of the final quarter, both teams became desperate and began trying every kind of an attack. The Owls took over on their own 42 yard line, and were forced to punt. The Tigers were on their own 23 yard line when they succeeded moving up to the 46 line of the Owls. There they met a stiff wall which forced them to punt on the fourth down, and Marshall was back on their own 10. On a punt by Absher from his 14 yard line the ball bounced to Mike McEver who lost control and it fumbled away, but Jim Lewellen was wide awake and recovered it on the Owls 44.

Two first downs on six plays had the ball on the visitors 23. Again the Owls tightened up and Arnest picked up three, Russ Cusick had the misfortune of a fumble but recovered quickly without losing ground. Cusick pitched out a pass and Billy Harris of the Owls moved in and intercepted it on his 13 yard line and moved it down five yards to his own 1.

Marshall went into a passing attack which netted them two first downs to their own 40. Hunter passed and Jim Vinson reached up and took on his own 49 and crossed the center strip to the Owl's 49. Cusick on the first play tried a pass, Tommy Washington snagged it out of the air on an interception for the Owls on his own 33 and went to the 49, but the Owls drew a penalty which moved the ball 15 yards from the penalty and it was on their own 37.

Hunter tried to pass and was trapped and deliberately grounded the ball which drew a five-yard penalty for the Owls. On his next pass it went to Billy Harris who moved it to the Tiger 34 yard line, a 34 yard gain as the ball game ended.

The statistics show the Tigers out-gained the visitors 166 to 114 yards rushing, but the visitors were ahead in passing 78 to 40 yards. The Tigers lost no ground rushing while the Owls were set back 29 yards. The Tigers attempted eight passes, two of which were intercepted while the Owls tried 13, one intercepted. Both teams punted three times, the Tigers going for 100 yards while the Owls had 102 yards. The Tigers failed to return any yards from the opponents kicks, while Marshall made 17 yards on runbacks. Marshall drew 45 yards in penalties while the Tigers had no assessments against them. Smith-Cotton's kickoff was good for 44 yards while Marshall's went 32 yards.

In the first down department the Sedalians made 13 first downs while Marshall had nine.

Fumbles were costly to Smith-Cotton making three which were recovered by Marshall, and three others which they recovered. Marshall had none.

Steve Long figured in four of them according to the press box. Two in the first quarter, one on the Owls 26 yard line and one on his own 34 yard line. In the second stanza he made another which was recovered by Lewellen on his own 15 yard line, and this the Tigers gained seven yards off of. In the third period Long was credited with a fumble when the punted ball struck his leg as he started to reach for it and Larry McClure, an Owl, covered the ball. In the final quarter, Mike McEver fumbled a punt but Jim Vinson made the recovery for the Tigers. Russ Cusick fumbled but recovered without any loss of ground.

Smith-Cotton handled the ball 62 times and Marshall 45.

Next Friday the Tigers travel to Fulton to resume play with an old rival formerly in the Central Missouri Conference. This is not a conference battle.

Starting lineups of the game were:

Smith-Cotton	Pos.	Marshall
Joe Lamy	LE	Glenn Miller

Key to 1965 Season

Brawny Nebraska May Oust Alabama In Grid Ratings

By BOB HOOBING
Boston Herald
For The Associated Press

Nebraska's brawn, a schedule of outstanding games on Oct. 16 and the Alabama-Louisiana State meeting on Nov. 6 appear as the keys to the 1965 season as college football starts hitting on all platoons this week.

Defending national champion Alabama, representing the Southeastern Conference which has produced four of the past eight titlists, bumps into Georgia's Sun Bowl kings Saturday.

Big, brawny Nebraska has about the best chance of any challenger to unseat Alabama — if the Crimson Tide will budge. The Cornhuskers open at home against Texas Christian.

Other feature games include Notre Dame at California, Texas A&M at LSU at Miami of Ohio at Purdue Penn State at Maryland, Kentucky at Missouri, Oklahoma State at Arkansas, Army at Tennessee and Duke at Virginia.

Coach Bob Devaney of Nebraska says: "We should be improved, offensively and defensively, but that's not enough to indicate we're national title material."

The facts are the Huskers have 26 lettermen — 16 of the top 22 — from the sixth-ranked, two-time Big Eight champs who won nine straight in '64 before being upset by Oklahoma and edged 10-7 by Arkansas (11-0) in the Cotton Bowl.

The schedule is favorable because outside foes include cribbing-riddled Air Force and the league slate has the roughest rivals down the stretch.

Alabama is definitely in the picture provided squadmen, sophomores and redshirts shore up the gaps at tackle and guard. The Tide should be as sound defensively as last year with a better running attack and quarterback Steve Sloan, who played more than his celebrated co-pilot Joe Namath, at the throttle.

The showdown comes Nov. 6 at Baton Rouge where Bama tangles with LSU, a team with nearly twice the number of lettermen, 30, but a very tough schedule. The winner will have an inside track to the SEC crown.

October 16 two other national championship contenders may well be determined as an ominous-looking Purdue squad invades the lair of Michigan's Big Ten defenders and Texas visits Arkansas in the battle of the teams which are runaway choices to dominate the Southwest for the seventh straight campaign.

That same day the Lambert Trophy can be settled when Penn State is at Syracuse. In addition, Stanford visits Southern California in a big coast battle and Harvard goes to Cornell in a major Ivy League test.

Rabid Notre Dame fans are talking No. 1, recalling only a sensational finish by USC prevented a perfect Irish season in 1964. Then they note the Varsity crushed the Old Timers 72-0 in the annual spring game.

Pessimistic coach Ara Parseghian, pointing out he's got no sure-fire quarterback to replace Heisman Trophy winner John Huarte and that the spring game was no measuring rod, says "we're overrated." The truth lies somewhere in between, possibly at an 8-2 season.

Most likely candidates for top 10; not necessarily in order: Alabama, LSU, Kentucky, Notre Dame, Purdue, Michigan, Arkansas, Texas, Nebraska, USC, Syracuse.

Ashe Is Defeated

Spain Upsets New U.S. Tennis Hopes

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Cagy Manuel Santana of Spain burst the latest American tennis bubble when he cut down sensational Arthur Ashe Jr., 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 Saturday and qualified to meet South African Cliff Drysdale for the 85th U. S. Men's Singles Championship.

Dark-horse Drysdale, seeded eighth, used a two-fisted backhand as a weapon of destruction in erasing an out-of-touch Rafael Osuna of Mexico 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1.

In the 22 - year - old Ashe, winner Friday over top-ranked Roy Emerson of Australia, Americans had begun to envision a new day in the game — reminiscent of the glory days of Bill Tilden, Don Budge and Jack Kramer — and the first American champion since Tony Trabert in 1955.

But Santana, the quick, heady court matador from Madrid who less than a month ago wrecked American Davis Cup hopes, used a sparkling shot variety to blunt Ashe's powerful serve and volley game.

Americans, however, got a lift when bespectacled Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., upset the two-time champion, Maria Bueno of Brazil, in the women's singles semifinals 6-2, 6-3.

Miss Moffitt faced a bleak prospect in Sunday's finals, however, against the top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia, holder of the Wimbledon crown, who crushed little Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., 6-2, 6-2.

The finals, starting at 1 p.m. EST, will be nationally televised over ABC-TV.

Should Santana beat Drysdale, as expected, he would become the first player from continental Europe to win the U.S Nationals since Henri Cochet of France did it in 1928. The last European in the finals was Germany's Baron Gottfried von Cramm in 1937.

A whistling, cheering crowd of 14,000 saw Santana come from one set back and grit his way through a painful groin injury to take the vital match which again put a damper on American tennis hopes.

A disputed shot in the fourth set played a big role in Ashe's defeat. Trailing 3-4 after losing his service in the seventh game, Ashe was struggling for a rebreak in a long deuced game.

Finally with advantage against Ashe, Santana hit a blazing shot that seemed to nip the edge of the back line. The linesman yelled "out" and Santana had the game.

The crowd roared and whistled its disappointment but the die was cast. Santana held, yielded the ninth game to Ashe's service and won with a love game in the 10th.

Big Goal Lies In Waiting For Tom Rolfe

CHICAGO (AP) — Powhatan Stable's diminutive Tom Rolfe aims Monday for the national 3 - year - old championship, a chance for Horse-of-the-Year honors and a winning purse of $83,600 against five others in the American Derby.

The 1¼ mile fixture, grossing $128,000 with a field of six, closes Arlington Park's 103-day meeting.

Tom Rolfe, with Bill Shoemaker aboard, is an early 4-5 choice to win the derby and make a sweep of the so-called Mid-America Triple. Earlier at Arlington he won the $100,000-added Chicagoan and Classic, adding them to victories in the Preakness, the Citation and the Chesapeake Stakes.

The main opposition for the little bay son of Ribot is expected from Ford Stable's Royal Gunner, one of the top 2-year-olds last season, and Calumet Farm's Reverse, winner of the July 3 Laurance Armour Handicap at Arlington.

Larry Adams will ride Reverse and Mimmy Nichols will be up on Royal Gunner.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

ANOTHER season has arrived, FOOTBALL, and it was a perfect night for Sedalians who went to Jennie Jaynes Stadium Friday night to look over the prospects of Smith-Cotton for 1965. They saw the makings of what most believe will be a good ball club by the time Coach Dick Rees and his crew of assistants get the rough edges smoothed off.

It was back in 1960 the last time the Tigers have defeated Marshall and that was a 34-13 trouncing. Since that time it has been Marshall over Sedalia 20-14, 19-6, 13-12, and 21-0 up to this past Friday night when the locals held them scoreless and drew out a tie ball game. If this is any indication, the Tigers are gradually coming into their own.

The premier opening is over, the stage fright of going before a large crowd has come and gone, and now the boys should settle down to business the rest of the season. What the local fans appreciated was watching a team, which Friday night showed a desire to play football, and boys who seemed to enjoy it, especially with the outcome results, when they were considered to be the underdog team for this game.

There is little doubt in the minds of many the Tigers will have a fairly rough way to go through the season, playing some mighty tough opponents, but on the other hand a team like appeared Friday night can improve steadily and could possibly work itself into a crew which could be classified as "upsetters." It has happened in the past and could happen again, if they will continue to maintain that DESIRE to play football for what it is worth.

This weekend coming up will see the Tigers get another testing when they go against the Fulton Bulldogs, an old rival of the Central Missouri Conference days. We recall that Smith-Cotton and Fulton played four games in CMC, starting in 1956 when the Tigers won 7-6, then 26-0, and in '58 it was 18-13. Fulton decided to withdraw from the conference, but kept their scheduled games in 1959 and that was the year Fulton came through to romp all over the Tigers to the tune of 45-14 and Sedalia hasn't had a chance to "get even" since then until this year.

It's a question if they'll ever "get even" over the 45-13 smarting, but one thing is sure the locals will be endeavoring to keep from getting a repeat show of that 1959 affair and try and bring a win back home.

Anyway we wish the Smith-Cotton Tigers a lot of luck this season just as long as they try, and put through the efforts they did Friday night.

—o—

SUPPORTING a 78-percent average of being correct in predictions of the outcome of college and pro - football games in 1964, Monti's Football Forecasts have been signed by the Democrat-Capital for this season. The predictions will appear each Thursday in an advertising page sponsored by local merchants, to be run the week the Smith - Cotton Tigers are playing at home.

We are hoping that Old Major Hoople will be back in the swing in his predictions. It's a known fact he goes w-a-y-o-u-t on a limb, but it is rather interesting just how far he gets out on that limb and comes smelling like a rose, with that big nose of his.

Of course the Major does his work for the NEA and is rather proud of how he handles his choices, but inasmuch as he hasn't notified us todate just what he plans on doing, one begins to wonder if maybe he isn't planning on resting on his laurels.

Anyway, if he decided to start this weekend, we'll be having him on the sports page, every week.

—o—

WE were rather disappointed in the cooperation with area coaches this past week in the opening of the 1965 football season, for lack of calls on their game results. However, it is possible our early information might also have been misleading as some coaches probably figured the other coach would have one of his staff notify us.

By all means we want to do our best by these area high schools, and your call will be gladly accepted. We had hopes the coaches would appoint some team manager or school reporter to give us the information.

Football gets into full swing this weekend, and your cooperation would be most appreciated.

Moccasin Wins Big Race At Aqueduct

NEW YORK (AP) — Claiborne Farm's Moccasin made a major bid for 2-year-old filly honors Saturday, romping to an impressive six-length victory in the $108,680 Matron at Aqueduct.

Larry Adams, her regular jockey, took the filly over the six furlongs in 1:11.3 and had her eased up in the last sixteenth.

The fleet filly, the odds-on choice of a crowd of 42,683, paid $2.80, $2.60 and $2.20 and collected $67,717, richest purse ever in the Matron.

Winston Takes First In Weekly Tourney

W. Winston took first and Bud Larson second in the weekly horseshoe pitching tournament at Liberty Park Thursday after two round robins of play.

In the four-man round robin, Smithers took first, Carr second, Hampson third and Stumpf third.

In the 12-man match, the results were: 1. Winston; 2. Larson; 3. A. Brownfield; 4. D. Morley; 5. G. Greer; 6. C. Faulkner; 7. C. Martin; 8. G. Morley; 9. R. Barnes; 10. B. Barnes; 11. J. King; and 12. M. Mullins.

Offensive Squad Needs More Work

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The University of Kansas football offensive and defensive squads scrapped each other Saturday in a two and one-half hour scrimmage and Coach Jack Mitchell commented:

"I'm not necessarily disappointed. I am pleased with the effort and hard work although the offensive squad was erratic and inconsistant."

The offensive crew came up with five touchdowns, two on 70-yard runs by Dick Bacon of Neodesha, Kan., and Sim Stokes, junior slotback from Mobile, Ala. Stokes also scored on a 42-yard pass play with quarterback Bill Fenton passing. Fenton completed 12 out of 24 throws for a total of 121 yards during the session.

Stokes gained 96 yards in four carries rushing, while Bacon gained 71 yards in two carries.

Mitchell said it was evident his young team needed more work.

Face Two Threats

St. Louis Among Top NFL Squads

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland, St. Louis, Green Bay and Baltimore appear the teams to beat as the National Football League heads into its 46th season.

And Minnesota and Washington appear to be teams that can do the beating.

Firing begins in earnest for the NFL's 14 clubs Sunday, when the 14-week, 98-game schedule opens with seven games.

Top attractions are the Minnesota Vikings vs. The Colts at Baltimore, the Cleveland Browns against the Redskins at Washington, the Green Bay Packers against the Steelers at Pittsburgh and the St. Louis Cardinals against the Eagles at Philadelphia.

Also on the slate are Los Angeles at Detroit, New York at Dallas and Chicago at San Francisco.

Pro football continues an ever-burgeoning entertainment and 1965 should be another lush year for the NFL. The league drew an astonishing 4.5 million cash customers last year and it's possible that's the saturation point. But it's also possible it will be surpassed this fall.

Additionally, each club will be enriched by a bit over $1 million for television rights in this second final year of the contract with CBS.

Jim Brown, the fullback nonpareil, and Frank Ryan, the erudite quarterback, lead the defending league champion Browns against the steadily improving Redskins. Cleveland will be without its injured pass-catching flash, Paul Warfield, but helped itself in the defensive secondary with the addition of Erich Barnes, late of the Giants, in the recent three-club trade.

Quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, receiver Bobby Mitchell and halfback Charley Taylor spark the attack for Washington —a team solid enough all-around to be rated a challenger in the Eastern Division.

St. Louis' Cardinals almost made the top last year and rank in most quarters today as Eastern cofavorites with the Browns. They should be better with two 1964 casualties, runner Bill Triplett and pass catcher Sonny Randle, restored to starting roles.

The Dallas Cowboys are coming, but present potential chinks. Don Meredith needs a big year at quarterback, for example, and the running game must pick up.

New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh seem destined to be Eastern also-rans.

Baltimore, defending Western champion, and powerful Green Bay are a toss-up for that division's title. The Colts, of course, are steered by blue ribbon quarterback Johnny Unitas—who is enough to make a threat of any pro team.

The rugged, methodical Packers corrected a major falldown of last year—Paul Hornung's placekicking—by getting Don Chandler from the Giants. They've added to their riches with seasoned pass catcher Carroll Dale and have an apparent ace in defensive back Tom brown, ex-baseballer.

Minnesota is given a solid shot in the West, with Fran Tarkenton, that scramblin' man, star runners Tommy Mason and Bill Brown, a nifty crop of receivers, and veterans acquired to strengthen several spots.

Way Back When...

By Pete Daniels

THE SMITH-COTTON Tigers' encounter with the Marshall Owls, which opened the Bengals' season here last Friday, has already become a part of history. Smith-Cotton and Marshall have been constant foes on the gridiron for more than 25 years, but the rivalry has remained a friendly one.

Going back 25 years, to another Marshall-Sedalia season opener, recalls some names and events well known in football circles in those days.

Sedalia met Marshall on Sept. 26, 1940 and the two schools battled for the better part of four quarters without crossing a goal line. Then, in the last minutes of the game, Marshall connected with a long pass attempt for the first and final score of the game, ousting the Tigers 7-0.

That game was played in Marshall, but the Sedalians didn't come home disheartened by the loss. As a matter of fact, Coach Joe Benson said he felt good about the game, in spite of the outcome, because the Tigers had shown him they were fighters.

The 1940 Smith-Cotton football club had a powerful line and their running plays were definitely adding yardage at a regular rate. However, the Marshall game proved that Sedalia needed improvement in both its pass defense and pass plays.

Sedalia's pass attempts clicked, but just not often enough, nor with the desired results. All this and the fact that Sedalia's backfield was just too slow against Marshall that year led Benson to make several changes.

WITH LESSONS FROM the first game being studied and worked on, the Bengals were preparing for their next contest —against Bolivar. That was to be the first home game in 1940.

Prior to that game, Jack Graham and Randall Scott, both Tiger strongmen, were battling for a permanent berth in the Tiger fullback slot.

S-C's Cecil Landers and Charles Weller, both linemen, had given the Owls plenty of trouble in that first game and promised to show improvement for the Bolivar contest, proving that Smith-Cotton's line that year was one of the best in years.

The changes made by Benson that year shifted Charley Wingate to center, Leland Thomas to halfback and put Jimmie Myers to calling the signals for the team.

By-and-large, those changes indicated that the club would enter its second game equipped with more speed, even though the immediate passing problem still needed some work.

A's 3, Orioles 2

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dick Green slapped a single to center in the ninth inning, scoring Bill Bryan and giving the Kansas City Athletics a 3-2 victory over Baltimore Saturday night.

The loss dropped the Orioles nine games behind the American League leading Minnesota Twins.

Bryan got the A's started with a leadoff single in the ninth off reliever Dick Hall. Mike Hershberger sacrificed and then Green brought Bryan home.

A homer by Baltimore's Boog Powell, his 15th of the season and third in the last two had tied the score 2-2 in the sixth.

Twins 8, Red Sox 4

BOSTON (AP) — The Minnesota Twins' pennant-bound express picked up added steam Saturday as Camflo Pascual turned in a strong pitching performance in an 8-4 romp over the Boston Red Sox.

The Twins' fourth straight victory and 16th in 17 meetings with the Red Sox this season boosted their American League lead to 8½ games over Baltimore and Chicago pending the outcome of night games.

Pascual, a 31-year-old right-hander, served notice he is returning to form in his second start since undergoing surgery for torn muscles near his right shoulder Aug. 2. He went 7 1-3 innings, allowing five hits.

The Twins, feasting on their Boston cousins in chummy Fenway Park, raked four Red Sox pitchers for 117 hits, including four by Jimmie Hall and three each by Tony Oliva and Zoilo Versalles.

Minnesota added insult to injury by stealing five bases, including a pair apiece by Hall and Versalles.

Pascual boosted his record to 9-3 with his first victory since June 8. Boston rookie Jim Lonborg took the loss, and is 9-16.

Angels 6, Senators 5

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim Fregosi drove in two runs with an opposite-field double in the eighth inning and scored the winning run on a fielder's choice as the California Angels nipped the Washington Senators 6-5 Saturday.

Pinch hitter Al Spangler beat out an infield hit, opening the eighth and Charley Dees singled down the third-base line. Fregosi scored both with a double, tying the game 5-5. He moved to third on the throw to the plate and scored on Willie Smith's infield out.

Jim King had put the Senators ahead 5-3, in the seventh with a three-run pinch homer, scoring behind Don Lock, who singled, and Ed Brinkman, who walked.

Aubrey Gatewood was the winner and Jim Hannan, recalled from Hawaii this week, was the loser.

Tigers 5, Indians 3

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gates Brown's three-run homer in the third inning got the Detroit Tigers off to a lead they never gave up Saturday as they defeated the Cleveland Indians 5-3.

Brown's home run, his seventh, came off starter and loser Luis Tiant, 11-10, with two out and Joe Sparma and Jerry Lumpe on base via singles.

The Tigers added two more runs before the third inning ended. After Al Kaline walked and Norm Cash singled, Floyd Weaver replaced Tiant and yielded run-producing singles to Don Wert and Bill Freehan.

Phils 3, Cards 1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wes Covington's 14th homer capped a three-run sixth inning as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated St. Louis 3-1 Saturday night behind the seven-hit pitching of Chris Short.

Covington's blast over the right field wall also scored Johnny Callison, whose double had brought home Rich Allen with the Phils' first run.

Allen was robbed of a homer when his smash into right hit the top of the fence and bounded back onto the field for a triple.

Short gave up a third inning homer to Curt Flood in gaining his 17th victory aganst nine losses. he struck out nine, including the side in the eighth on 10 pitches.

The loser was Tracy Stallard, now 10-7.

Giants 6, Cubs 4

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie McCovey, with a three-run homer and a double, and Jim Hart sparked the National League-leading San Francisco Giants to their eighth straight victory Saturday, a 6-4 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

The triumph increased the Giants' lead to one game over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who played Houston at night.

McCovey, who hit a grand slam homer Friday night, put the Giants ahead to stay with a three-run blast in the first inning off starter Bill Faul. The blow followed a walk to Jesus Alou and Willie Mays' single.

McCovey also led off the fourth inning with a double and came all the way home when Faul grabbed Hart's infield single and threw it past first. Hart reached third on the error and scored on Faul's wild pitch.

After Ron Santo made it close with a three-run homer in the sixth, the Giants added an insurance run in their half of the inning when Mays singled and Hart doubled him home.

Giant relievers Masanori Murakami and Gaylord Perry pitched out of jams in the seventh and eighth innings.

The Cubs loaded the bases with two out in the seventh, but Murakami ended the threat by getting Beckert on a pop up.

Williams and Santo singled with none out in the eighth, bringing on Perry. The runners advanced on a wild pitch, but Perry retired the next three batters.

Reds 3, Pirates 2

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Fireballing Jim Maloney singled in the winning run and pitched a five-hitter as the Cincinnati Reds came from behind and edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 Saturday.

The triumph kept the Reds 1½ games behind the National League-leading San Francisco Giants, who defeated Chicago 6-4. The fifth-place Pirates fell 5½ back.

Maloney's hit capped a three-run uprising in the sixth inning.

After the Pirates got a pair of runs in the third, Maloney got tough and retired 14 batters in a row before Bill Virdon singled in the eighth. The victory was Maloney's 18th against seven losses.

Gordy Coleman reached first on a force play in the Cincinnati sixth and Frank Robinson singled. Then, after Deron Johnson advanced the runners on a ground out, John Edwards walked, loading the bases.

Leo Cardenas tied the game with a two-run single to left, sending Tommy Sisk, 6-3, to the showers and bringing on Joe Gibbon.

Braves 9, Mets 0

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Cloninger allowed only one hit — Cleon Jones' pinch hit single in the fifth inning — and drove in three runs as the Milwaukee Braves handed the New York Mets their eighth straight defeat 9-0 Saturday.

The victory kept the fourth-place Braves 2½ games behind the National League-leading San Francisco Giants, who defeated Chicago 6-4.

Cloninger gained his 21st victory against nine defeats in pitching the Braves' second one-hitter against the Mets in less than 24 hours. In Milwaukee's 3-1 triumph Friday night, Wade Blasingame, Billy O'Dell and Phil Niekro combined to hold New York to one hit.

Cloninger already had a 3-0 lead when he got into the hitting act himself in the second inning. Following Sandy Alomar's leadoff single, the 25-year-old right-hander unloaded his first major league home run off starter Al Jackson, who suffered his 19th defeat against seven victories.

Alomar tripled in the sixth inning and raced home on Cloninger's squeeze bunt.

The loss was the 100th of the season for the Mets, who now have reached that undesirable plateau in all of their four seasons of existence.

Player In First Round Golf Lead

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Gary Player, the well-rested U. S. Open champion, put on a late charge Saturday to grab the first round lead in the $77,500 World Series of Golf.

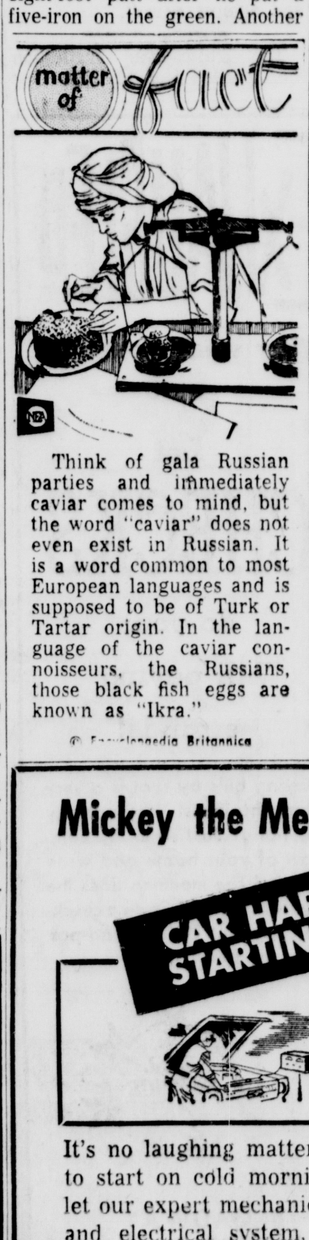
Player, who hasn't played competitive golf for three weeks, fell behind Masters champion Jack Nicklaus in the early going, pulled into a tie with a birdie on No. 12 and took the lead with another birdie on No. 17 when he dropped a three foot putt and finished with a 37-33—70 to match par.

Nicklaus was one stroke behind the black-clad South African with a 36-35—71. British Open champion Peter Thomson collected successive birdies on the 16th and 17th holes to remain in contention with a 38-35—73, and PGA titlist Dave Marr, hampered by erratic play, had a 38-36—74, four shots off the lead.

The chase for the top prize of $50,000 ends with a second and final round Sunday with the final six holes being televised from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. EDT over NBC-TV. The runner-up will receive $15,000 with $7,500 for third place and $5,000 for fourth.

Player carded only two bogeys, and both came on the first nine. He hit a four wood into the trap onut he 230-yard No. 5, blasted out and missed an 11-foot putt. On the 450-yard No. 8, Player's second shot landed in the left trap. He blasted out within five feet but missed the putt for another bogey.

Player's birdie on the 180-yard par 3 No. 12 game on an eight-foot putt after he put a five-iron on the green. Another brilliant iron shot on No. 117 enabled him to wrest the lead from Nicklaus.



Think of gala Russian parties and immediately caviar comes to mind, but the word "caviar" does not even exist in Russian. It is a word common to most European languages and is supposed to be of Turk or Tartar origin. In the language of the caviar connoisseurs, the Russians, those black fish eggs are known as "Ikra."

Coach Disappointed With Team's Showing

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — University of Oklahoma Football Coach Gomer Jones expressed disappointment with his team's showing in a 1½ hour scrimmage Saturday.

"Our pass defense and pass receiving looked bad," said Jones. "We dropped too many."

However, Jones added that "the passers were pretty well on target."

The offense scored only two touchdowns and a field goal in the scrimmage. Quarterback Gene Cagle ran six yards for one and halfback Ben Hart scooted three yards to another. Defensive end John Koller booted a 29-yard field goal.

"THE SONS OF KATIE ELDER," a Hal Wallis production for Paramount release, stars John Wayne, Dean Martin, Earl Holliman and Michael Anderson, Jr. Filmed in Technicolor and Panavision, it opens today at the 50 Drive-In Theatre. Based on a story by Talbot Jennings and directed by Henry Hathaway, "Katie Elder" is a dramatic tale of how four brothers attempt to redeem the blackened legacy and reputation of their family name. Martha Hyer has the feminine lead as the only woman in the cast. The screenplay was written by William H. Wright, Allan Weiss and Harry Essex.

St. Louisan Killed By Shotgun Blast

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 25-year-old St. Louis man was killed by a shotgun blast as the aftermath of a card game Friday night, police said. Police sought a man who ran with a shotgun from the scene.

The victim was Dave Sprouell, 25. He was found dead in an alleyway at the rear of a building after neighbors heard an argument and a shot. The blast struck him in the head.

A man carrying a shotgun was seen running from the neighborhood a few minutes later.

Viet Actions May Prevent Tax Cutting

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP)—Future federal tax cuts will "go down the drain" if the war in Viet Nam and federal welfare programs continue at their present pace, Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., said today.

The House minority leader charged the Johnson administration with practicing deception in the financing of the Viet Nam war.

In a news conference here, Ford said the escalation in Viet Nam will cost the United States an estimated $10 billion more than was contemplated in President Johnson's 1965-66 budget.

Ford said that if the cost of living continues to rise as rapidly in the next year as it has in the past four months, it will have increased four per cent—the largest jump in 15 years.

The administration, he said, claims to have added $75 per year to the income of the average worker through tax cuts. But, he added, it has actually taken $175 out of the average pay check through more payroll taxes and through failure to keep up with the cost of living.

Speaking at a Republican state leadership conference, Ford said that unless the party unites and supports all its candidates "there will be just one political party...and it will not be ours."

The Republican party "must be inclusive, not exclusive," Ford said. "Our appeals must be made to Democrats, independents and Republicans alike."

Ford argued that unless Republicans make sufficient gains in Congress, "the White House will have total domination of the federal government."

No New York Strike By School Teachers

NEW YORK (AP) — There will be no strike this year by New York's 50,000 public school teachers, who enthusiastically accepted Friday a new two-year contract that will cost the cityy $66 million.

The settlement was worked out by a city mediation team and quickly approved by leaders of the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers. The federation's membership approved it by a 5-1 margin.

The union had threatened to strike Monday, the scheduled opening day of school, if contract agreement wasn't reached.

It was estimated the new contrict will give teachers an average raise of $800. Salaries now average $8,489 a year and range from $5,300 to $11,025.

Wants State To Levy All Cigarette Taxes

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Board of Estimate and Apportionment wants the state to levy the entire cigarette tax so St. Louis residents won't go to outlying communities to buy cigarettes.

St. Louis levies a five-cent tax and the state levies a four-cent tax on each package.

The board agreed Friday to explore the possibility of getting the state to levy the entire tax—nine cents—then refund a portion to the cities.

The refund probably would be based on population, benefiting cities that now have no cigarette tax, said City Comptroller John H. Poelker.

The legislature would have to pass a bill enabling a collection of the entire tax, and legislation also would be necessary to eliminate the authority of cities to levy their own cigarette tax.

Mayor A. J. Cervantes said taxes in St. Louis were down for the past five months by $103,565. The city expects to collect almost $3.5 million in cigarette taxes this year.

Detective Shoots Jailer In Burglary

GALLUP N.M. (AP) — The Gallup City police detective chief, dying as he fired, shot and killed the Gallup city jailer as he was surprised during a burglary attempt early today.

Capt. John Arviso, 60, died with a single 38-caliber bullet in his chest.

As he fell, Arviso got off a single shot from his 12-gauge riot gun which knocked down Larry Ambler, 24, a city policeman assigned as city jailer. He ran a few steps and died.

Arviso was part of a six-man squad assigned to the Navajo Motor Co. after Gallup Police Chief Manuel Gonzales received a telephone call that the firm was to be burglarized.

A second man was with Ambler, but he got away during the exchange of gunshots. Police said Vincent Barraza, 19, Gallup, was arrested 2½ hours later near his East Gallup home. He was held for questioning.

Decide To Protect Polar Bear Resource

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Scientists of the United States, Russia, Norway, Canada and Denmark decided Friday that polar bears are an international resource and must be protected.

In concluding a conference held to consider the bears' future, they decided each nation should conduct a research program on the animals within their territory and adjacent international waters.

They agreed information gained through those programs should be funneled into an organization such as the International Union for the Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources.

Ellsinore Woman Injured Fatally

ELLSINORE, Mo. (AP) — An 80-year-old Ellsinore woman, Mrs. Mary Korenak, was injured fatally Friday in a two-vehicle accident on U.S. 60 near here.

Mrs. Korenak, a passenger in a pickup truck driven by her husband, Val, 83, died later in a Poplar Bluff hospital. Hospitalized were two others in the truck, Loretta Gower, 18, and Woodrow Gower, 48, both of Ellsinore.

The highway patrol said the accident took place when the truck was struck in the rear by a car trying to pass.

Granite City Steel Worker Is Killed

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP) — A Granite City Steel Co., steelworker was killed Friday night when 19,500 pounds of steel slipped from a hoist and part of the load crushed him.

The victim was Perry J. Biddle, 40, of St. Louis.

Company officials said Biddle was standing on the bed of a truck directing the lifting of a load of sheet steel when the sheets slipped out of the hoist and knocked him off the truck and against a wall.

The Smithsonian Institution was founded Aug. 10, 1846.

Storm Deaths Mount

ROME (AP)—The death toll in a new outbreak of torrential rainstorms in Italy mounted today to four.

The new storms hit northern Italy Friday and spread south today. They came after five days of clear weather following disastrous cloudbursts and floods in which 40 persons were killed, with five missing.

Newspapers Will Merge Due to Costs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The morning San Francisco Examiner and the afternoon News Call Bulletin will merge Monday into an afternoon paper. Both are Hearst owned.

The merged paper is joining with the independent morning SanFrancisco Chronicle in a single production operation and in publication of a single Sunday paper.

Publishers said the move was dictated by constantly increasing production costs.

In announcements in today's editions they emphasized that the newspapers will have separate and competing editorial staffs.

The new Hearst afternoon combination will be known as the Examiner and News Call Bulletin. It will be published Monday through Saturday.

The Chronicle is becoming a six-day morning newspaper, Monday through Saturday.

Together they will publish the San Francisco Sunday Examiner and Chronicle, beginning Sept. 19, containing sections contributed by each.

A joint committee of 13 newspaper employe unions, which said it represented 4,000 employes on the dailies, said: "We do not know how many jobs will be lost. In some jurisdictions it appears the loss could be substantial."

Deadly Ailment Begins With Fracture

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A fracture of a tiny bone in her foot started the ailment from which actress Dorothy Dandridge died six days later, the coroner's office said.

Dr. Harold Kade, coroner's pathologist, reported Friday that bone marrow particles from the fractures entered her bloodstream flowing to her brain and lungs to cause death.

The 41 - year - old Negro actress-singer's body was found Wednesday in her apartment.

Miss Dandridge suffered an almost unnoticeable fracture of a bone in her left foot Sept. 2 when she slipped on the stairs of a Hollywood gymnasium, detectives said.

Newsmen Injured

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two newsmen were injured today in the crash of a helicopter near An Khe, about 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

The pair was Robin Mannock of The Associated Press and Martin Stuart - Fox of United Press International.

Mannock reportedly was cut, bruised and possibly suffered an ankle injury. Stuart-Fox was said to have suffered a leg injury that will require hospitalization, but his condition was not reported to be serious.

Leaves 48 Dead

TOKYO (AP)—Typhoon Shirley, on a 24 - hour rampage through central and northern San Francisco Chronicle in a dead, 16 missing and 780 injured, the National Police Agency reported today.

The agency said the season's most devastating typhoon, carrying center winds of 78 to 110 miles per hour, also destroyed 1,961 houses, damaged 2,590 and flooded 45,512 others.

BEE'S BUDDY—For Frank Cashion of McKinney, Tex., bees and their stingers hold no fears. He claims he enjoys letting them crawl around on his hands, ending up here with three fingers full of busy bees.

ABWA Meeting

Mrs. Melvie Pilcher Tells Of Advances for Retarded

Mrs. Melvie Pilcher, teacher in charge of the Sedalia Center for Retarded Children, was the speaker for Sedalia Charter Chapter, of American Business Women's Association dinner meeting Sept. 7 at Bothwell Hotel.

Times have changed, said Mrs. Pilcher, since retarded children were practically kept prisoners because the parents were ashamed that such a situation occurred in their family. Sometimes even today people are not open minded and retarded children are not always given the opportunity to mingle with others.

There are three classifications for retarded children: 1, educatable, should be in special education class in public school; 2, trainable, the child who needs special training and cannot be in public school and 3, those who require custodial care at all times.

The I. Q. may not be the best measure of a child's intelligence, said Mrs. Pilcher, but it is the best we have at the present time.

The Sedalia Center for the Retarded Child, she told the group, is located on East Fifth, and is a part of the State Department of Education.

Sometimes the children have never been used to the word "No," she said, and must be made to see that they must rceognize authority, that they can fit into a group, that they are accepted by others and that they can be sociable.

Some cases, Mrs. Pilcher continued, are due to brain damage, while others have an inherited weakness. These children are transported to and from school and if there are eight children in a community, a center may be set up. Children, to be eligible, must have a mental age of at least three years and, ift hey are progressing, may stay until they are 21.

When 16, these children may be in the Sheltered Workshop, where they learn a skill.

United Church Women, with representatives from 17 Sedalia churches, provided a Bible School for these retarded children last summer and set up an excellent course and guide for future use.

Teachers must have special certification to work with retarded children. The 11 goals they work for in teaching these children are: 1, self care, personal health such as brushing teeth, dress-up day proves an incentive to get such children to learn self care; 2, mental health, teach the importance of each child; 3, safety; 4, social adjustment; 5, moral values; 6, discipline; 7, sensory training; 8, physical training and exercises, skating; 9, appreciation of environment; 10, effective communication; 11, vocational preparation and economic usefulness.

Much emphasis is placed on homemaking training, Mrs. Pilcher said. They need to feel accomplishment. Success or the feeling of such success makes for success.

Mrs. Pilcher was introduced by Mrs. Esther Blankenship.

The meeting was presided over by Miss Margaret Bohon, presidnet, with invocation by Miss Luella Schlesselman.

Mrs. Polly Campbell, operator 54, pocket bagger at Lamy Manufacturing Co., gave a vocational talk. The Lamy Manufacturing Co., she said, ships to Levi Strauss and Co., only, and ships to 3 distributing points: Knoxville, Tenn., Amarillo, Tex. and San Jose, Calif., from where Levi's are distributed to all the continent of North America, parts of Central America and to many countries in Europe and the Far East, particularly Japan and the Philippines.

Lamy Manufacturing Co., has an annual payroll in the neighborhood of one million dollars, employs on active payroll approximately 325 to 330 employees, and produces daily 750 dozen or 9,000 pairs of Levi's, which averages 3,750 dozen or 18,750 pair per week and 183,750 dozen or 2,205,000 pair a year.

Miss Ann Logan, registered nurse at Bothwell Hospital, was a guest.

Benediction was given by Miss Emma Kraft.

Tables were decorated by Miss Gwendolyn Tuck, using a clown face centerpiece and a parade of small circus animals carrying ABWA banners, were used as favors.

Switchmen, Brakemen On Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — A surprise strike by switchmen and brakemen halted freight service across wide areas of the Santa Fe Railway Co.'s line Saturday, a company spokesman said.

He said the strike started at midnight without notice to the railroad and involved switchmen and brakemen on freight trains from Purcell, Okla., northward to Chicago and from Albuquerque, N.M. eastward to Chicago.

The strike, reportedly called by Charles Luna, of Cleveland, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, interrupted some passenger service.

A Santa Fe spokesman said the company had not immediately decided if new passenger trains would be started. He said supervisory personnel would be called into service to take passenger trains to their destinations.

A ticket agent at Dodge City, Kan., said that three passenger trains were stopped there by the strike. All three were bound from Los Angeles to Chicago. They were the Superchief, an all-Pullman train of about 150 passengers; the El Capitan of 200-300 passengers and the smaller Grand Canyon with nine passenger cars.

A union source in Amarillo, Tex., said the union had been negotiating with the Santa Fe over work rules since a strike in 1956. A company spokesman said that of 68 issues in the work rules, all but 10 or 12 had been resolved.

The railroad said it had immediately asked the Federal Mediation and Counciliation Service in Washington to take jurisdiction in the strike. A spokesman added the company had not decided immediately if a court injunction would be sought to halt the walkout.

Picket lines were set up at several freight yards and also at the Kansas City, Mo., Union Station. At least 12 freight trains wre halted at Kansas City and an undetermined number of others at Chicago, Amarillo, Waynoka, Okla., Clovis, N.M., and Wellington, Kansas.

The railroad said switchmen and brakemen onu freight trains on the Pacific Coast and in parts of Texas were not immediately involved in the strike.

Smithton WSCS Holds Fall Meeting

Woman's Society of Christian Service, Smithton Methodist Church met in September in fellowship hall of the church with Mrs. William J. Lamm, president, presiding. Mrs. Lamm announced the fall district meeting will be Oct. 4, in Clinton. Miss Mildred Wright, missionary from India, will be guest speaker.

Mrs. William Ratje conducted the study, "I Am the Vine, Ye are the Branches," assisted by Mrs. Louis Hubbard, Mrs. William Green and Mrs. Audrey Neumeyer.

Miss Laura Kruse led meditation and the president dismissed the group with prayer for luncheon.

Esther Circle, with Mrs. Harry Henderson and Mrs. George Meyers, chairmen, was hostess group.

The table, and worship center were enhanced with fall decorations.

Mrs. Ben Mahnken, at the piano, played quiet music. She also accompanied singing of "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

Mrs. Shelby Kahrs, vice-president, announced that Deaconess Miss Joyce Ray Patterson, Wesley Community Center, will be guest speaker Oct. 31, at morning services. She told of two films in observance of the WSCS silver anniversary, "Living Response" and "Portrait of a Woman" will be shown at October and November meetings of the society.

Mrs. Kahrs gave introduction for the afternoon program, "School Dropouts."

She led in responsive reading, "Social Justice." Assisting Mrs. Kahrs were Mrs. Robert McCandless, Mrs. Clarence Eicholtz, Mrs. Frank Page and Mrs. Golder Luetjen.

Mrs. William Green sang "Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life," accompanied by Miss Laura Kruse.

Approve Ambassador, Top UN Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has given its approval to a new U.S. ambassador to Poland and changes in the country's top staff at the United Nations.

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski was confirmed for the post in Warsaw, and has said he will be leaving in six to eight weeks. Succeeding him in the Post Office Department will be Lawrence F. O'Brien, a White House aid whose nomination was confirmed last week.

Approved for U.N. posts were Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., on the U.N. Economic and Social Council; Charles W. Yost of New York City, as ambassador and deputy U.S. representative to the United Nations Dr. James M. Nabrit Jr., of Washington, Security Counci, Eugenie Anderson of Red Wing, Minn., Trusteeship Council; and Dr. James Watt of Washington, World Health Organization.

Bill To Honor U.S. General On Coins

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to provide for minting new quarters honoring the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been introduced in Congress.

The 25-cent pieces would have a likeness of MacArthur on one side and the inscription "Duty Honor Country" on the other.

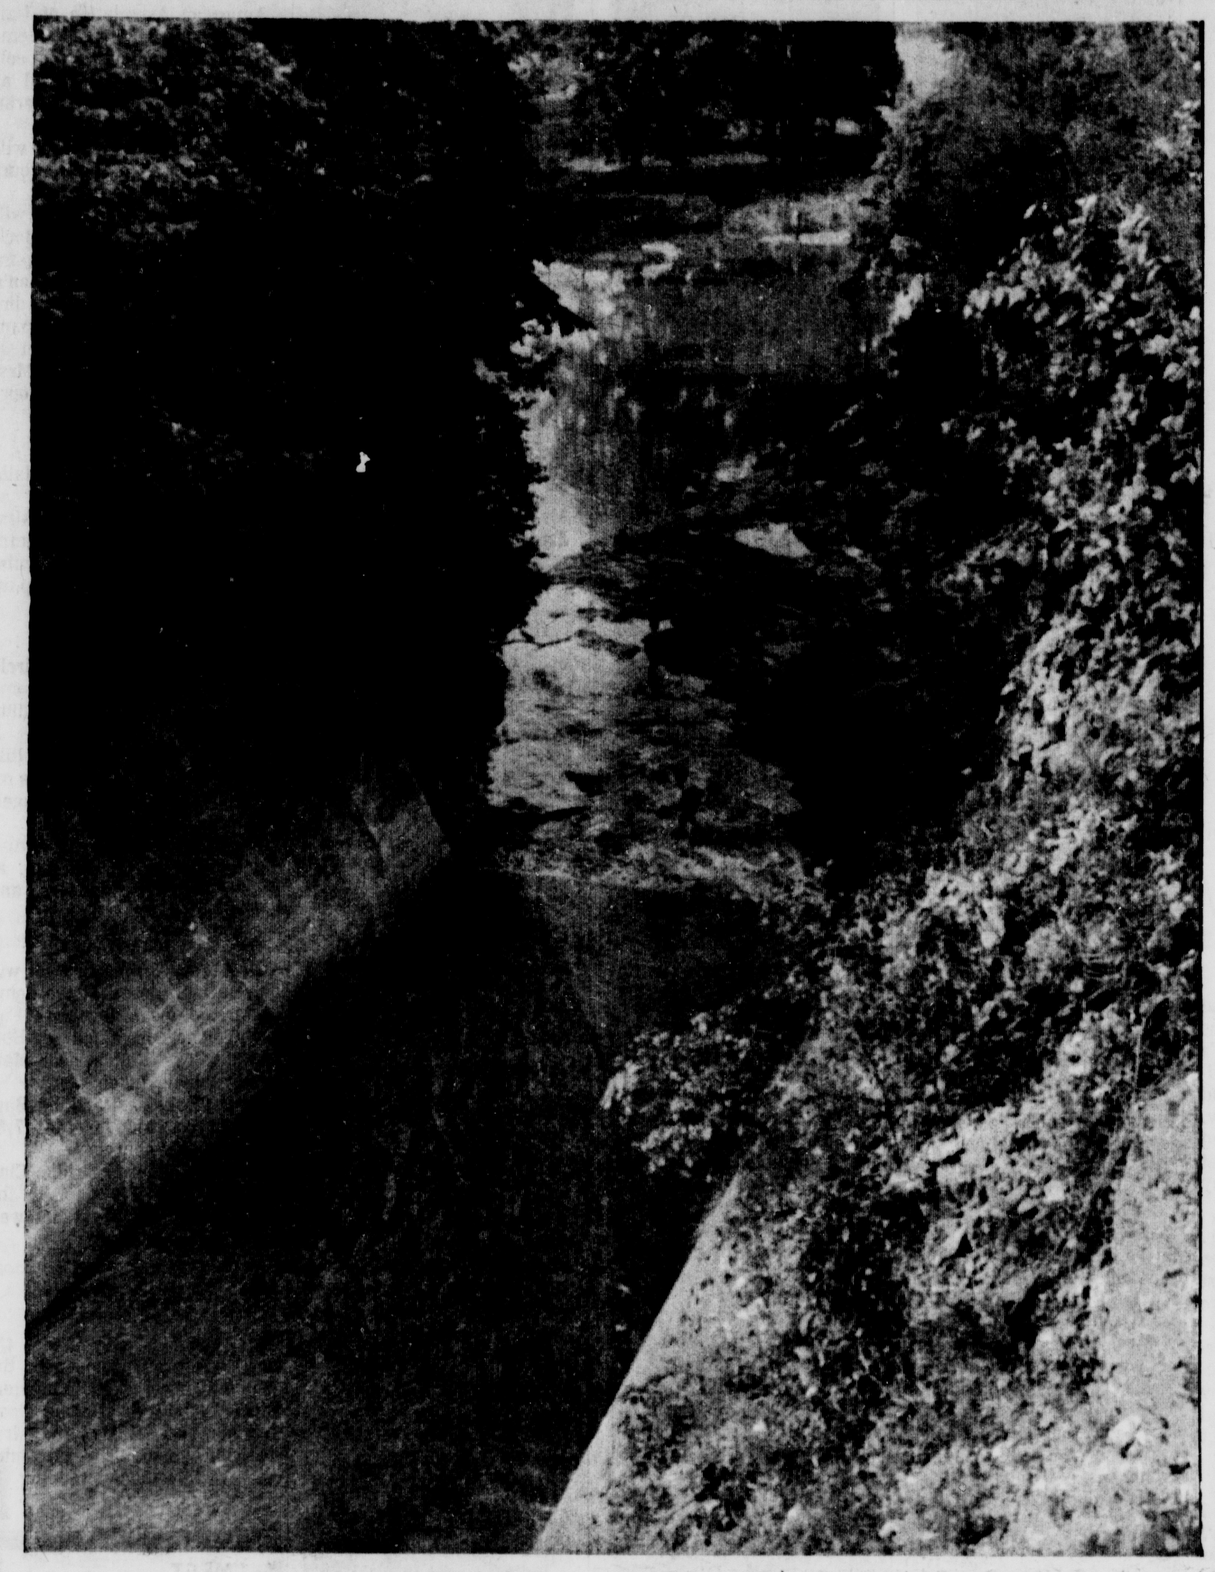
THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT

Sunday Morning, September 12, 1965 | In Combination With The Sedalia Capital | Feature Section



FUN IN THE OVERFLOW—Springfork Lake was overflowing briskly Labor Day and a number of anglers tried their luck below the spillway. Here youngsters take a slow day of fishing lightheartedly and wade in the swift spillway water. There were fish to be had below the spillway, though, and one small boy came in with a long string of perch just the right size to please a youngster. (Democrat-Capital photos)

First Annual Fishing Derby Provides Fun Despite Rain

One Angler Takes Home Two Prizes

By LARRY EMBRY

"Rain, rain go away . . . the channel cats won't bite!"

We heard no one repeating this little chant, but it might well have been the byword of the 147 anglers who ignored muddy water to compete Monday in the Water Department's first Labor Day fishing derby at Springfork Lake south of town.

And we're certain it mirrors the thoughts of the city Board of Public Works, whose members went to special pains—and expense—to promote the first Springfork derby.

But while the channel catfish, as well as other species, weren't too cooperative, the derby drew a record number of fishermen who had a pleasant day to fish beneath cloudy skies.

Frank Russell, 117 East Broadway, was out early to start the derby like a lot of other fishermen, but went home shortly after noon when success was low. Before leaving he checked in a one-pound crappie and a 1½-pound bass.

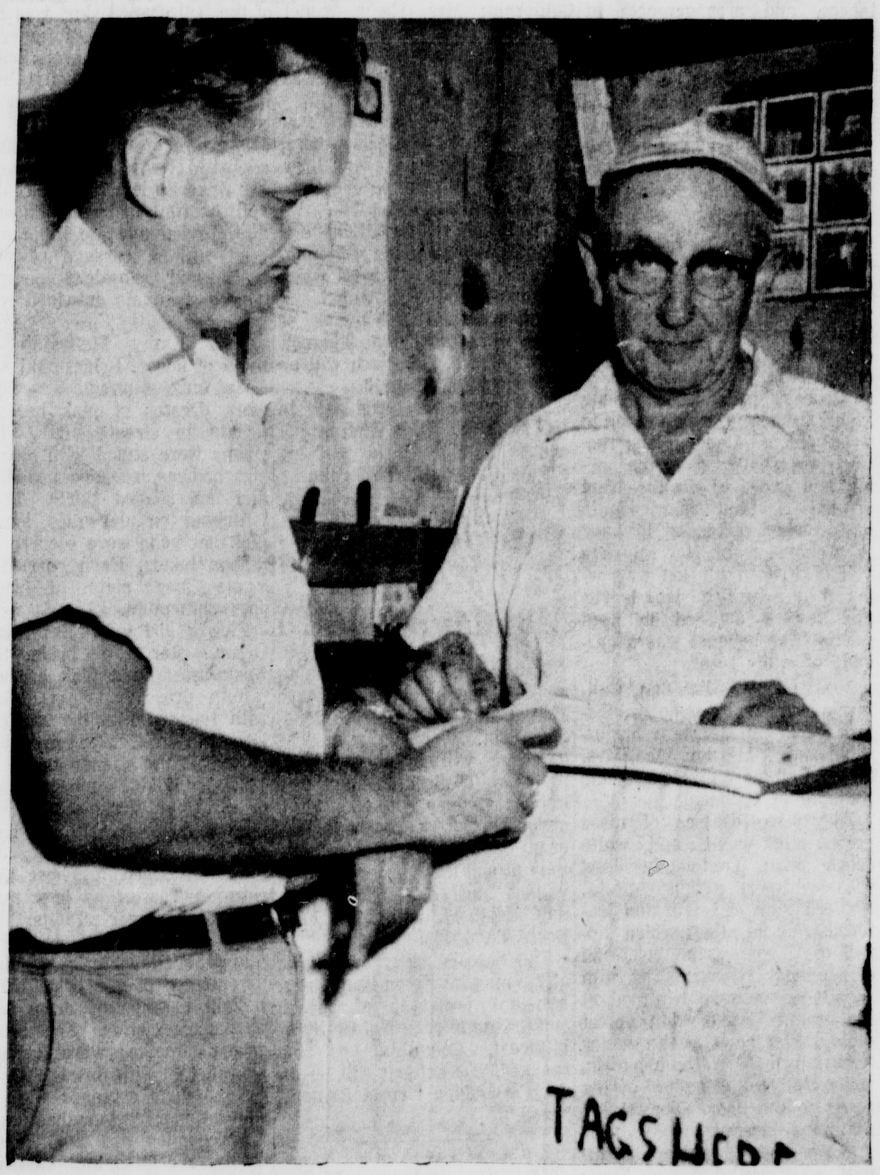
He returned shortly before the 6 p.m. deadline for weighing-in derby catches and spent some anxious moments waiting out the clock. But no one came in with larger fish in the two species and his two catches netted him the Water Department's $10 prizes for the two species.

Thomas Jinks, 1902 East 14th, fared better and landed a 3½-pound channel cat to win the $10 prize for that species. Jinks' fish was apparently one of some 125 released a week before the derby and tagged. The fish had lost its tag, but bore the scar in the gill cover and Jinks was credited with a free day of fishing at the lake—the prize for landing a tagged fish.

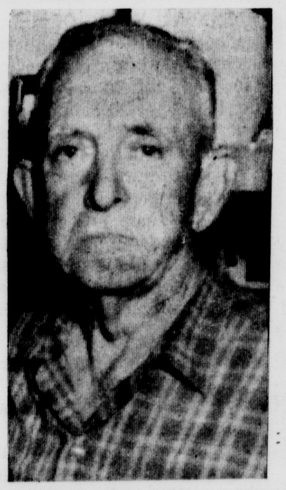
Those nine - pounders, like board member Wm. H. Bunn was photographed lowering into the lake, are still at large, however, and their day on the stringer may come when the waters clear.

The water board planned the fishing derby after a record 132 fished the lake on July 5 during the Independence Day weekend.

WINNING CHANNEL CAT — Thomas Jinks, 1902 East 14th, displays the 3½-pound channel catfish which won him a $10 prize in the Springfork Lake fishing derby. Waters were muddy and the fish was the best caught during the day. In a special release the week prior to Labor Day channel cats weighing up to nine pounds and better were tagged and freed in the lake.

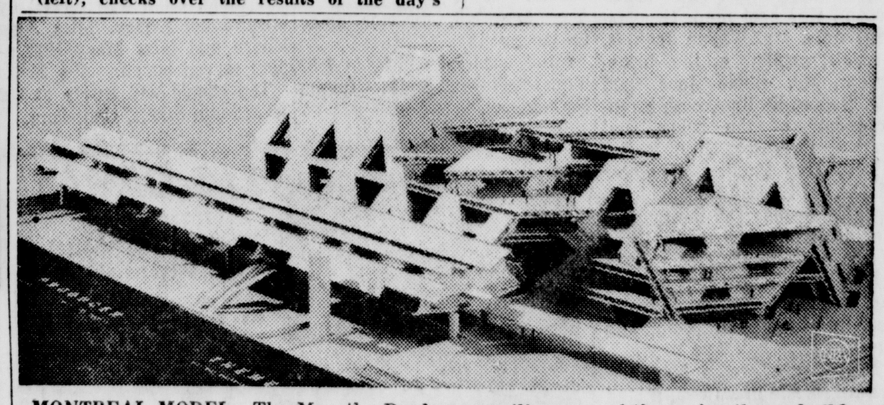


A $20 WINNER — Frank Russell, 117 East Broadway, was lucky despite the muddy waters and landed the largest bass and crappie in the Springfork fishing derby. Here Russell, (left), checks over the results of the day's catch with Alvin Lumpe, caretaker at the lake. Russell's fish were good for two $10 prizes. Lumpe resides in the house overlooking Springfork Lake.



CARETAKER TOO — Roy Meier, Route 1, shares caretaking duties on alternate days with Alvin Lumpe at Sprinkfork Lake. Meier and Lumpe put in a long day to serve city fishermen using the lake. Fishing opens at sunup and early anglers are out regularly ready to fish. Both men were on hand for the derby.

ELECTED — Robert A. Schroeder, Kansas City, has been elected president of the Missouri Bar Association at the organization's annual meeting in Kansas City. He succeeds Loyd Roberts, Joplin, as head of the 7,000 member lawyers group.



MONTREAL MODEL—The Man the Producer pavilion, one of the major theme buildings for the 1967 world exhibition at Montreal, Canada, will look like this model. Its structure based on "truncated tetrahedron" elements, the pavilion will stand on an island in the St. Lawrence River and will house exhibits illustrating man's advances in applied science.

Sand Spots Daily Menu In Viet Nam

CAM RANH BAY, South Viet Nam — (AP) — Take millions of tons of sand, stir in 5,000 American soldiers, season with a sprinkling of still more sand and simmer for one tour of duty at between 118 and 135 degrees.

That's the recipe for Cam Ranh Bay, the United State's unloveliest supply base in Viet Nam. Here is where the guns, planes, shells, gasoline and food will be unloaded for future battles against the Viet Cong in the central highlands.

Cam Ranh Bay's soldiers must be among the grittiest in the world. When a breeze blows in from the sea, sand is on the menu for supper, lunch and breakfast.

Fine, highly polished, buff-colored sand slithers into sleeping bags at night. Outside tents, it is loose and ankle-deep. Trucks and jeeps flounder up to their hubcaps.

Pfc. Robert A. Busby was trudging down a sand rut which the Army calls a road.

"Sand makes things rather difficult," he said with grave deliberation. Busby, who comes from Salt Lake City, Utah, was heading for chow at the top of a sand hillock where the 515th Light Truck Company has its tented cantonment.

Vietnamese have always shunned this place. Once it was a refuge for outlaws; later it was a penal colony.

Cam Ranh Bay was chosen because it is one of the world's finest natural harbors. Located on a long spit of sand jutting into a huge bay, it can be defended easily.

Ocean-going freighters can sail right up to a deep-water berth at a stone jetty. GIs already are unloading 50,000 tons of supplies each month.

A floating pier being towed across the Pacific Ocean from the United States will more than double Cam Ranh Bay's supply capacity.

Acres of shifting dunes are being fenced off with barbed wire entanglements to serve as ammunition and fuel dumps. A new airfield will supplement the present handkerchief-sized strip made of perforated steel planking.

Most problems land in the lap of Col. Allen L. Morrison, commander of the base logistics elements. He comes fom Mattoon, Ill., and in 1943 he commanded a base at Hollandia, in New Guinea.

"My biggest problem at the moment is the question of which item to tackle next in building the base," he said. "There are a million things to do."

Mrs. Glen Oliver Rohrbach

Miss Nancy Ellen Keil is Bride Of Mr. Glen Oliver Rohrbach

The Rev. Marvin J. Pitney performed the double ring ceremony uniting in matrimony Miss Nancy Ellen Keil and Mr. Glen Oliver Rohrbach at two o'clock Sunday afternoon Sept. 5 at California First Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Keil, California. Mr. and Mrs. Emmett O. Rohrbach, California, are parents of the bridegroom.

The ceremony was said before the altar, which was decorated with candelabra holding lighted tapers, and arrangements of greenery and chrysanthemums.

Miss Sharon Rohrbach played traditional wedding music at the organ and accompanied Miss Trudie Jenkins, California, who sang "More" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Candles were lighted by Mr. Dale Keil, California, brother of the bride, and Mr. Dwayne Porter, Barnett, nephew of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of nylon organza. The molded bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long tapering sleeves, which came to wrist points. Alencon lace motifs were appliqued on the bodice and repeated on the front of the bouffant floor length dress, which extended in back to a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was secured by a spray of lace leaves and flowers outlined in seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses.

Miss Carolyn Lehman, California, was maid of honor. Sisters of the bride were bridesmaids: Mrs. Marilyn Jobe, Mrs. Susan Phillips and Miss Vickie Keil, all of California.

They wore dresses of moss green silk velvet and white crepe peau, completely lined with whisper weight taffeta. Bodices were of velvet and featured wide necklines which dipped to U shapes in back, and elbow length sleeves. The slim sheath skirts were trimmed at the empire waists with velvet piping. Flat bows at the center back tops held Watteau panels, which fell the lengths of the skirts to the floor. Dior styled matching headpieces of moss green velvet bows were trimmed with crystal beads. Their circular veils were of nylon maline.

Mr. Marvin Rohrbach, California, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Mr. Wayne Jenkins, Barnett, nephew of the bridegroom, Mr. David Jobe, and Mr. Ronnie Phillips, both brothers-in-law of the bride, and both of California.

Miss Tina Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Phillips, California, was flower girl. Her dress was styled like those of the bridesmaids.

Master Jim Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morris, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

Mrs. Keil wore a blue and green brocade dress with a blue and green feather hat and beige accessories. The bridegroom's mother selected a black and blue two piece knit dress with black accessories. Each mother wore a large chrysanthemum at the shoulder of her costume.

A reception was held in the church basement after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a green linen cloth overlayed with white lace. Centering the table was a four tiered decorated wedding cake, featuring a miniature bridal couple. Lighted candles and chrysanthemums were used to decorate the table.

Serving, were sisters of the bridegroom: Mrs. Kenneth Porter, Barnett; Mrs. Rose Scott, California; Mrs. Erma Wilhel and Miss Lyda Rohrbach, both of Independence.

Attending the guest book was Mrs. Jim Rohrbach. Mrs. William Easley, Leavenworth, Kan., sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Dianna Porter, Barnett, niece of the bridegroom, presided at the gift table.

The couple left for a Louisiana wedding trip after the reception. The bride wore a winter white lace two piece dress with black accessories and a corsage of roses from the bridal bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Rohrbach will be at home after Sept. 13.

The couple was graduated in 1964 from California High School and is employed at Ralston Purina Company, California.

The wedding is to take place Oct. 22 at Wesley Methodist Church.

Pamela Greer, Gary Scrivner Weds Aug. 28th

The marriage of Miss Pamela Jean Greer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Greer, California, to Mr. Gary Kent Scrivner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scrivner, Russellville, took place at half past two o'clock Saturday afternoon, Aug. 28, at First Baptist Church, California. The Rev. Marvin J. Pitney performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Sharon Rohrbach, organist, accompanied Mrs. Charlene Hofstetter as she sang "O Promise Me" and "The Wedding Prayer." The bridegroom sang "I Love You Truly," as part of the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of peau de soie over bouquet taffeta. The fitted bodice, fashioned with an overlay of Chantilly lace embroidered with iridescent sequins, featured a scalloped sabrina neckline and long traditional sleeves tapering to points over the wrists. The controlled fullness of the bell shaped skirt was enhanced with hand embroidered appliques of lace flowers trimmed with sequins. A flat bow of peau trimmed the waist at the center back.

A crown of tiny seed pearls, set with crystal beads, secured her fingertip length full circular veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a white Bible covered with a corsage of pink roses and snowdrift pompon chrysanthemums entwined with ivy.

Miss Emily McBride was maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Julia Huffendick. They wore dresses of pink brocade taffeta in street length. The gowns were styled with sleeveless bodices, rounded necklines and bell shaped skirts. Their matching circular face length pink net veils were secured by pillbox bands. Each carried a single long stemmed white chrysanthemum.

Flower girl was Miss Kathy Greer, sister of the bride. She was attired in a pink brocade taffeta dress, princess styled, with rounded neckline and cap sleeves. Her circular veil matched that of the attendants.

Master Mike Steenbergen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Steenbergen, Jefferson City, was ringbearer.

The bridegroom chose Mr. Norman Theroff as best man, and Mr. Roger Taggart as groomsman.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride chose a light blue jersey dress with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige lace dress with brown accessories. Their corsages were of white spider chrysanthemums.

A reception was given in the church reception hall following the ceremony. Miss Paula Hackney assisted at the guest book. Miss Sharon Bledsoe and Miss Linda Gerhart presided at the gift table. Cake was served by Miss Janet Doney. Miss Joan Moore and Miss Mary Huffendick served punch.

The couple will reside at 302 West Main Street, California.

Mrs. Reinhold Kropp

Mary Martin, Reinhold Kropp Are Married in Late Summer

Baskets of pink gladioli and lavender chrysanthemums flanked the altar of St. Paul's Lutheran Church for the wedding of Miss Mary Martin and Mr. Reinhold Kropp. The Rev. Walter F. Strickert performed the double ring ceremony at half past two o'clock Saturday afternoon, Aug. 28.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Everett Martin, Green Ridge. Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Schlender, Route 3, Sedalia, are the bridegroom's parents.

Mr. Leonard C. Schnell, organist, played wedding selections preceding the ceremony and accompanied Mr. Richard Weymuth, who sang, "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a crystal white gown of silk taffeta and Chantilly lace styled with a scalloped sabrina neckline and long lace sleeves, which tapered to traditional points over the hands. The bouffant skirt which was highlighted in front with a deep lace flounce and fashioned at the back with a Watteau train, edged with handclipped lace, attached at the shoulders. Her illusion veil fell from a crown of tiny seed pearls accented with crystal teardrops. She carried a crescent bouquet of white carnations and Stephanotis intertwined with ivy atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Ken Bruns, Ottawa, attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a dress of pink brocaded taffeta styled with short sleeves and Empire waistline and wore shoes to match. Lavender carnations formed her bouquet. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathryn Pottorff and Miss Betty Brownfield, both of Green Ridge. Their lavender brocaded taffeta dresses were styled the same as that of the honor attendant. They wore pink carnation wrist corsages.

Miss Kendra Bruns, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She was gowned in a pink dress with lace bodice and full skirt of organza over taffeta. She carried a basket of rose petals, which she scattered in the bride's path.

Mr. Willie Kirst, Independence, served as best man. Groomsmen were Mr. Albert Dial, Independence, and Mr. Fred Martin, Sedalia, brother of the bride.

Master Robert Schlender, brother of the bridegroom, carried rings on a white satin pillow to the altar.

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother wore a navy sheath skirt, navy and white houndstooth checked jacket and white and black accessories.

The bridegroom's mother selected a muted green print dress with green and black accessories. Both mothers had corsages of white carnations.

The guest book was attended by Miss Janice Martin, sister of the bride.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church basement. The bride's lace covered table was centered with a four tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Robert Harlan. Each tier was edged with pink and lavender icing and a miniature bride and bridegroom were placed on the bridal tier. A crystal punch bowl was placed at one end of the table. Members of Eunice Circle served.

Presiding at the gift tables were Mrs. Ervin Miesner, Kansas City, and Mrs. Albert Dial, Independence, sisters of the bride.

For traveling, the bride wore a white fitted shift and brown patent accessories.

A 1964 graduate of Green Ridge High School, the bride has been employed by Firestone Co. in Kansas City, Kan. The bridegroom, graduated in 1963 from Green Ridge High School, has been attending Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg. He is employed by Claude Lambirth Plumbing. The couple is at home on Route 3.

SHOP TALK from Chapman's

We know very well that it is not a matter of National concern that there are things in this world we do not understand . . . but every once in a while we think it is good for a person to 'air' them.

For instance . . . Why don't magazines number ALL pages instead of skipping the ones with ads on them and causing a person to turn back and forth until you have forgotten what you were reading in the first place?

Why do women look so much smarter with gloves on even in the hottest of the summer? . . . These are two things we happen to think up on the spur of the moment, we have lots more but right now we are running out of space and we would like to mention a few things we DO like . . . very much!

The "British Lady" bonded jersey dresses are here. If, by chance, you are not familiar with the "British Lady" dress, they are the smartest basic, half-size dresses on the market. No fuss, no clutter, just good simple lines. Most of them have three quarter length sleeves, some are shifts with belts, all are slim skirted and in the most beautiful array of Fall colors you have ever seen! Wear them with jewelry, furs, under your coat . . . anywhere. They look like a million and are only $12.95 and $14.95. See them at CHAPMANS in downtown Sedalia. Come in soon.

Make-up helps a woman over the awkward complexion period in the weeks between summer and fall. As the sun tan fades select a personalized face powder to camouflage changing skin tone. A Charles of the Ritz trained specialist blends powder (left) for the model's lighter skin tone. Also important in brightening skin tone are at-home beauty masks and throat cream. For that new fall wardrobe, select make-up to match autumn shades. For the eyes, wear the new taupe tones; lipsticks in brilliant tawnies. A roll-on mascara applied to false eyelashes (far right) completes new fall make-up.

The Mortar of Poverty

TOKYO (AP)—Jantan Bin Ismaili, a Malaysian railroad fitter; Sutomo, an Indonesian government worker, and the widow, Chang Yau-ping, who barely exists cleaning used cement bags in Hong Kong, have one thing in common. They are desperately poor.

Huynh Van Tet of Viet Nam, U Pho Choe of Burma, Santiago Polo of the Philippines and Chao Oua of Laos are peasants also bound together, in different degrees, by the gray mortar of poverty.

They are the countless little people of Southeast Asia, a miasmically hot, shimmeringly beautiful region of the earth whose 222 million inhabitants today stand at the crossroads between communism and national independence.

Theirs are lives of quiet desperation whose only certainties are hunger, malnutrition, too many children, disease and death.

The Communists prey on their misery, tempting them with promises of more food, their own land, a better education for their children and surcease from the unending blight of sickness.

For this reason, the United States, while fighting a hold-and-clear operation against the Communists in Viet Nam, has set in motion a billion-dollar Southeast Asian aid and development program it hopes will persuade the little people that their best bet for the future lies with individualism and free enterprise rather than regimentation and communism.

Southeast Asia is a vast area of land and ocean bounded on the north by the green islands of the Philippines and on the south by the coral reefs and rain jungles of the Indonesian archipelago.

Its inhabitants are a rich mixture of races, religions and political ideas.

Democracy thrives boisterously in the Philippines, sedately in Malaysia. A one-man dictatorship runs Indonesia and Cambodia. Military men control Burma and South Viet Nam. A part of one country is colored red: North Viet Nam.

It is to prevent the red from suffusing all of Southeast Asia that the United States is expending her men, material and money.

The central problem the Americans face is that Southeast Asia got off the starting blocks in the race for industrialization 100 years later than Europe or the United States.

The hard fact is that after a century of supplying the raw materials for the furnaces, lathes and spinning machines of imperialism, Southeast Asia still is an almost totally agricultural area.

Indonesia, biggest of the Southeast Asia nations with 105 million people, has the thinnest veneer of industrialization. It has rich natural resources such as oil and rubber, which it has taken over from foreign companies. But a badly managed currency and economy, the strictures of President Sukarno's brand of socialism and inexperience, have throttled development. Even with important aid from the United States, the Soviet Union and Red China, industry has yet to get a real toehold.

Viet Nam, the embattled country the United States proposed to help most, has a long way to go to become industrialized. Under the late President Ngo Dinh Diem, some progress in establishing light industries had been made and with American help power projects were undertaken. Railroads and roads were re-established. But the war has disrupted all this.

In the Philippines 60 per cent of the people are farmers, many of them sharecroppers. Only 11 per cent of the labor force is engaged in manufacturing. The industrial growth rate can hardly keep up with the annual increase in population.

Malaysia, one of the richest countries in the area with a per capital income of about $300 a year, gets its wealth mainly from the basic tin and rubber industries.

A $146-million campaign has begun to boost the average farm income from $20 a month to $100.

But much of the present industry is of the light variety.

Newly independent Singapore is expected to be the chief seat of heavy industrialization, with the area of Prai, opposite Penang Island in the federation, growing as an industrial site. Both Malaysia and Singapore are seeking foreign technical know how and investments.

The Laotian per capita income is $70 a year and the divided little kingdom has no industry except a cigarette factory, an American-licensed soft drink plant and a few sawmills. There is no industrial working class.

Fifty percent of Cambodia is virgin forest and the main industries are timber, fishing and agriculture. The developing industries are textiles, paper and plywood.

Thailand's major industries are the tobacco monopoly, the railways and the power system —all government owned. Most other industries are of the assemblying or packing variety.

The country's per capita income is $90, with the average dropping to $60 a year in the underdeveloped northeast provinces.

Industry has been neglected in Burma for the past three years as General Ne Win concentrated on agriculture. The country's 300 rice mills need new machinery and oil exploration, mining and home industries suffer from a shortage of investment.

The human side of the picture is even bleaker than the industrial.

The per capita income for most of the area is less than $100 a year. The high is Malaysia's $300. Endemic diseases are cholera, malaria, dysentery, tuberculosis, gastro-enteritis, snail fever, influenza and hemorrhagic fever. The 20th century plague — the disease of the Middle Ages of Europe — periodically ravages Viet Nam.

Population is growing at an alarming rate and little attempt at birth control is made. The result is that humans are outstripping the food supply.

Malnutrition is common. Recently some 20,0000 infants died in the Philippines partly from this blight.

Doctors are scarce. There is one for a quarter-million people in one sector of Viet Nam.

Educational opportunity for the poor is almost non-existent. Ignorance and resistance to change are the result. Another is gullibility, a proneness to accept Communist slogans without questioning their deeper meaning.

Sutomo, the Indonesian worker, lives with his wife and four children in a one-room slum in Jakarta. He has no electricity or water and his monthly salary is 7,000 rupiahs, $1 on the black market.

He doesn't blame Sukarno for his woes. It is easier — and simpler — to shout himself hoarse in one of the many anti-American rallies sponsored by his union.

Jantan Bin Ismail, who has worked 22 years for the Malaysian railways as a fitter, gets $67 a month to feed a wife and 10 children. The government-provided housing he inhabits is barely big enough to lie down in. He has seen one movie in five years.

Of all the little people of Southeast Asia, the widow Chang Yau-ping of Hong Kong lives a life whose poverty and pain are on the plane of Greek tragedy. At 65, she lives in a 65-square-foot wooden hut without water or toilet facilities for her or the six other persons she supports by cleaning used paper cement bags.

Each day she trudges two hours up and down hill to get fresh water from a public hydrant. A 36-year-old son, who used to be her chief support, is ill in a charity hospital with tuberculosis.

There are four grandchildren, ranging in age from one month to 10 years. All share the same bed.

The widow's income is $14 a month.

Chang Yau-ping lives out her life of squalor and hopelessness five minutes away from the epicurean restaurants of Hong Kong where more favored humans eat plump duck washed down with wine then go on to the ultra-modern hotels for an evening of drink and dancing.

In more ways than one this contrast between the very rich and the very poor sums up the central drama of Southeast Asia, a region of dazzling wealth and crushing poverty.

"I hope," says the widow Chang with a tired sigh, "that God will help us."

Raines-Krueger Vows Said Aug. 28

The double ring ceremony, uniting in marriage Miss Denise Raines, Sedalia, and Mr. Leon Krueger, took place at one o'clock Satuurday afternoon, Au 28, at Saline County Courthouse, Marshall. Judge Perry G. Storts read the service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Raines, Ione, Wash. Mr. Krueger's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Krueger, Mt. Park, Okla.

The bride wore a two piece pink whipped creme dress with pink accessories. Her cascade bouquet was of pink roses and frenched chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Robert Graham, Hannibal, was matron of honor. She wore a two piece blue dress with accessories of white. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Best man was Mr. Dale Montgomery, Sedalia.

Representing parnets of the bride, who were unable to attend, were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wing, Sioux City, Iowa. Mrs. Wing is a sister of the bride. She chose a white A-line dress and her corsage was of pink carnations. The mother of the bridegroom wore a navy suit with navy accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

A reception was held at Holiday Inn, Sedalia, in the afternoon. The bride's table featured a three tiered wedding cake, surrounded at the base with greenery. Centering the table, was an arrangement of pink carnations and roses.

Cake was served by Mrs. Robert Hogan. Misses Janice and Carol Raines served coffee and punch. Miss Carolyn Oehrke registered names of guests. Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Lloyd Wright, Roosevelt, Okla., and Miss Ruby Rucker, Mt. Park, Okla., sisters of the bridegroom.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wing and family, Sioux City, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, Hannibal; Mr. and Mrs. George Rucker, Morrison; Miss Ruby Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. George Krueger and Neal, Mt. Park, Okla.; Mrs. Lloyd Wright and Lori Ann, Roosevelt, Okla.; Miss Dorothy Niebruegge, Denver, Colo.

The bride is employed by Adco, Inc., and the bridegroom by Shamrock Construction Co., Dodge City, Kan.

A pre-nuptial shower was h Aug. 20 for Miss Denise Raines by Mrs. Max Raines and Mrs. Harry Nagel, at the Nagel home, 2200 West Second. Nineteen guests attended and game awards went to Mrs. Vi Simpson and Mrs. Nagel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hubbard, Syracuse, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Barbara Virginia, to Mr. Jack H. Doyel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack H. Doyel, Tipton. An autumn wedding is planned.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

by Mary Studer

HERE ARE SOME DECORATING HINTS

Mrs. Studer

From time to time, we are pleased to bring you some decorating suggestions which we trust you will find interesting and perhaps useful. Here are a few that we present this week:

Don't over - crowd your rooms. Most rooms contain too much furniture. Furnish with the least amount necessary to do the job—not the most.

In your living room, try to arrange your furniture according to your family living habits. And, there should be a conversation group so that people may face each other while talking.

If your television set is in the living room, your main seating pieces should face the set.

Be sure to leave open passage-ways so that you can easily walk from one room to another, and from one part of a room to another.

After deciding on your furniture arrangement, color scheme, styles, etc., try to select furniture you can enjoy living with and using, aside from furniture you like to look at. Don't furnish in such a way that the living room is reserved for company and not the family.

The average family furnishes a home just a few times during their lives, so try to select quality and style that is lasting. We are here to serve you — and help you — and we look forward to talking with you when you are ready to shop for any furniture or furnishing ideas.

Brighten up your home this Fall . . . Call TA 6-2122 or visit Homakers. We'll be glad to assist you with your Home Decorating problems.

Humphrey Reports

Spends More To Buy Glue Than To Attract Tourists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States spends more to buy glue for its postage stamps than it does to attract tourists from other countries.

That's a we-ought-to-do-better report from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, a real travel enthusiast.

The Lyndon B. Johnson administration, the U.S. tourist industry and many individual American citizens are getting behind the "Visit U.S.A." program.

The program already has done much to encourage foreign visitors. Take it from John W Black, new director of the U.S. Travel Service, a branch of the Commerce Department:

"We had a quarter of a million foreign visitors in 1947, two years after the war.

"It took us 14 years to double that to half a million, in 1961.

"Then last year we had almost a million."

Travel officials estimate that each foreign visitor spends an average of $393 whole in the United States.

Black, a 39-year-old attorney-economist who was born in Spokane, Wash., helped write the basic Travel Service Act of 1961, as a Senate committee aide. He had been acting director of the service for 14 months before President Johnson tapped him for the top job this summer.

What do foreign visitors want to see in America? He was asked in an interview.

"First, American cities. They've heard about them and seen them in the movies.

"Second, the wide - open spaces. They want to see cowboys, Indians and mountains."

What's the major criticism visitors have for America?

"Poor service," Black answered flatly. "Service in the United States is not as good as it is in Europe."

Here Black interposed to stress that most visitors don't have any criticism, that 9 out of 10 go away happy.

One Travel Service thank-you note from Australia had this to say of Americans whom the writer met over here:

"They are very friendly and considerate and offer all help we need without any intrusion. The children are so polite and friendly and without self-consciousness. I am amazed—."

Black says foreign visitors naturally get the most attention where they are a rarity — outside such centers as New York — and "people are probably a little more friendly in the West than in the East."

Looking at the 90 per cent of visitors who go home pleased Black commented especially on the warmth that comes from the "meet Americans at home" arrangement that is provided in scores of cities.

The foreign visitors are told in welcoming literature:

"These short visits are not part of your planned itinerary but are simply a cordial gesture on the part of Americans who extend to you an opportunity to visit them at home for a couple of hours."

Travel writer Michael Frome, who accompanied a British group that visited in Richmond, Va., homes, wrote:

"To visit an American home was an experience the British visitors earnestly desired and appreciated . . . the willingness of Americans to exxtend home hospitality is difficult for them to understand at first. Some members of an earlier French group were suspicious; they felt the government must be subsidizing the host families.

"But during the course of an evening, it became evident the hospitality is genuinely extended. It could not possibly be otherwise and prove as successful as it was in Richmond."

Black's Travel Service is one of the smallest agencies in government, certainly the smallest conducting a worldwide operation. It has only 76 employes, divided among Washington and nine foreign offices. Its annual budgets run around $3 million.

A primary reason for encouraging visits from abroad is, as Black put it, "to try to keep the dollar gap from getting bigger." President Johnson is keen on cutting down the gap caused by an excess of U.S. dollars going abroad. One of the factors contributing to the gap is that American tourists spend far more money in other countries than foreign visitors do here. There are more Americans traveling, for one thing, and they spend freely.

Teenagers Find Cause In 'UNCLE'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — 'Twixt 12 and 20, the cry is "U.N.C.L.E." and nobody is more surprised by it than Robert Vaughn.

The actor plays Napoleon Solo, the man from the alphabetized undercover organization, on the NBC series. The show appears to have been taken up as a cause by teen-agers, along with stretch pants and folk music. Both Vaughn, 32, and costar David McCallum have been getting Beatle-like treatment wherever they go.

"It's something quite new to me," observed Vaughn after stripping out of a skin-diving suit he had worn in an MGM lake.

"Before, I was always playing villains. I received fan mail, but it was largely about acting. Now the mail comes in a flood and it concerns all kinds of personal matters. And the crowds!"

He had returned from a weekend appearance at a Detroit amusement park, and he still seemed shaken by the experience.

"I've been in crowds before, but this was the first time I was really frightened," he remarked. "I saw several thousand girls between the ages of 12 and 15 coming at me on a dead run, with only a dozen policemen with locked arms in front of me. The girls grabbed at my coat, my tie—I thought I was going to lose a whole head of hair."

The U.N.C.L.E. mania is likely to flourish in the coming season, provided NBC hasn't outsmarted itself with a schedule switch. The series had been earning a highly respectable rating in its Monday night spot —in fact, doing better on summer reruns than on the first time around. Starting Sept. 17, the show will appear in the east and west at 10 p.m. Friday.

"A lot of kids seem upset about it, and I must say it concerns me, too," said Vaughn. "After all, Friday night is the traditional date night for teenagers and college kids, and 10 is pretty late for the subteens as well.

"Friday doesn't seem to be a very good night for ratings; only 'Gomer Pyle' seems to be able to get into the upper ranks.

"But I'll wait and see what happens. NBC was right about moving our time from Tuesday to Monday; maybe they'll be right again."

WHERE'S THAT AMPHIBIAN? — Residents of the northeast section of New Orleans wait on roof top, surrounded by debris laden water, for army amphibian to take them to dry land. The people were caught by fast rising water and sought refuge on the housetop. The high rise of the water followed Hurricane Betsy, which pased through the city earlier this week. (UPI)

Tax Collectors See Increase In Receipts

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—The aquanauts in Sealab 2 neared the end of their two-week excursion 205 feet beneath the sea by blazing underwater trails.

The trails — lines fixed to stakes driven into the ocean floor — extend up to 200 feet from the Sealab capsule and are designed to help the aquanauts get around easier in their underwater habitat.

Nine of the 10 aquanauts in the Navy's underwater living experiment are scheduled to come to the surface Sunday and are making preparations for the ascent.

Cmdr. Scott Carpenter, the former astronaut now an aquanaut, will stay down another 15 days.

Another team will go then go down to the Sealab to continue the scitntific investigation started by the first group.

To Renew JuCo Bid For Sedalia

Members of the Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce voted Thursday night to renew efforts for establishment of a junior college district in the Sedalia area. The action was taken at the civic club's dinner meeting held at the Holiday Inn.

Last year a junior chamber committee headed by Barry Williams conducted numerous educational talks before PTA's and other groups throughout the area, obtaining sufficient signatures on petitions for submission of a two-year college proposal to the State Board of Education.

But the Jaycee committee decided to withdraw the Sedalia proposal and redraw the college district lines after opposition developed to the inclusion of two Cooper County school districts. Heading the opposition to inclusion of the Pilot Grove and Bunceton school districts was Elston J. Melton, publisher of a weekly newspaper at Boonville and a member if the State Board of Education.

Complete re-petitioning of the new district will be required as the proposed boundary is being remapped. Hopes are to re-petition the new proposed district in ample time to gain State Board of Education consideration for submission to the voters at regular school elections in April, 1966, it was indicated.

Jaycee members heard a report on the progress of committee work toward the annual Chicken Barbecue scheduled this year for Sunday, Oct. 3, at the Thompson - Greer Motor Company, 1700 West Broadway. Joe Bowers is general chairman and Leo Letourneau is in charge of ticket sales.

Bibbed as new members were Al Letourneau, Mike Battles and Mike Racunas.

A film on a national Jaycee convention was shown at the conclusion of the business session. Dennis Onwiler, president, presided at the meeting.

Nine Persons Killed

LINCOLNTON, N.C. (AP) — Nine persons, including a family of three, were killed late Friday night in a two-car accident 11 miles west of here.

The State Highway Patrol said a vehicle driven by Ray Field Farley, 21, of Rt. 2, Vale, apparently was traveling at a high rate of speed in the wrong lane when it was hit on the side by the other car.

Among those killed were Ernest Lee Self, 49, of Rt. 2, Lawndale; his wife, Laura Minnie Self, 49, and their son, Michael, 6.

The other victims, passengers in the Farley car, included Brenda Farley, 17; Bennie White, 14, Gennie White, 19, and Paul Bryant, 18, all of Rt. 2, Vale; and Clemmer Bansk, 23, of Rt. 1, Cherryville.

ARMY ENLISTEES — Gary L. Ash (left), son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Ash Route 1, Smithton, and James Richard Brown, son of Mrs. L. E. Brown, 916 South Harrison, and the late Mr. Brown, have enlisted in the United States Army through the Army Recruiting Office in Sedalia for periods of three years each. They are both at Ford Leonard Wood for processing and assignment for basic training.

508th Crew S-032 Selected Wing Combat Crew For August

Crew S-032 of the 508th Strategic Missile Squadron, 351st Strategic Missile Wing have been selected as the Wing Missile Combat Crew of the Month for August, according to an announcement by Col. George T. Chadwell, 351st SMW, commander this week.

Capt. Jack A. Leach, missile combat crew commander, and 1st Lt. Donald D. Dickerson, deputy MCCC, of Crew S-032, have been selected for the top wing missile combat crew honor.

In the letter recommending Crew S-032, the letter stated: Crew S-032, Captain Leach and Lieutenant Dickerson, have become one of the outstanding crews of the 351st SMW. The quality of instruction administered by Captain Leach's crew has earned a reputation for being of the highest caliber. It is not at all unusual to find a 508th SMS crew which will soon be due a standardization check demanding an instruction ride with Captain Leach and Lieutenant Dickerson. Crews which have been instructed by Crew S-032 have had consistently high scores on evaluations.

Captain Leach and Lieutenant Dickerson have contributed immeasurably to the wing upgrade program. During a period when the instructor force was depleted due to illness and leave, they cheerfully contributed extra time and effort to maintain the level of excellence demanded by a professional force.

Crew S-032 has guided duty, Crew S-032 is selected several individuals and crews along the path to combat readiness, and invariably they have been the best qualified, best informed crews and have attained the highest grades on tests and evaluations.

For superior and outstanding performance over a long period of time, and for maintaining the highest degree of professionalism, dedication, and devotion to duty, Crew S-032 is selected for the honor of Wing Missile Combat Crew of the Month for August.

NY Population Grows

NEW YORK (AP) — The steady decline in New York City's population has been reversed.

A survey showed the city lost 112,000 residents between 1950 and 1963 but gained 190,000 since then to total 7,960,000 at the start of this year.

Peace Bid, UN Support By Kosygin

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Saturday appealed to India and Pakistan to stop fighting, and put his support behind U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's efforts for a cease-fire.

In one of the rare news conferences given at the foreign ministry, the Soviet premier's letters to the Indian and Pakistan governments were read to correspondents.

The premier pointed out his country's special interest in the dispute over Kashmir, which, he said, lay directly on the Russian frontier.

In nearly identical letters sent Sept. 4 to Premier Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan, Kosygin warned that the present fighting could escalate into war.

Today a letter from Shastri was delivered to Kosygin by the Indian ambassador who announced the Soviet leader had pledged his full support of the efforts of U Thant to restore peace in the troubled sub-continent.

In his reply, Shastri indicated he would not immediately call on the Soviet Union to use its good offices. But Leonid Zamyatin, foreign office press chief, said the offer was still open.

About 60 correspondents were called to the foreign office to hear the letters read. This was an indication of the intention of the Soviet Union to exert maximum influence on the two countries, both of which have received Soviet aid, although India by far the most.

Pink Shaft Of Peace In Mekong Delta

SADEC, South Viet Nam (AP) — In the Mekong Delta, peace comes creeping slow.

Like the first pink shafts of the westering sun breaking over the muddy Mekong, a glimmer of hope may be coming through.

"It has to be", said Lt. Col. John Morgan, an American officer with the 9th Vietnamese Division, with weary fervor. "Why would these people bother to go on fighting? Why would any of us be here?"

The map on the wall in Morgan's office here at division headquarters looks like a patch quilt.

Patches of serene light blue for areas secured from the Viet Cong and brought under government control, blue checks for areas undergoing pacification, green for sections cleared of significant communist troop concentrations.

Less than a year ago the colonel could look at his map and see red, blood red, lots of it, relieved only here by a touch of blue or green.

It will be years, decades perhaps, before the map will show the delta people sleeping in peace, free from the nightly terror of outposts under attack by Viet Cong, of village chiefs taken from their beds and murdered, of school teachers kidnaped and brutalized.

But hamlet by hamlet, village by village, province by province that day may be dawning.

For patience is an ancient Asian virtue, and peace an eternal yearning among people who have been fighting oppression since the earliest days of invading Chinese war lords.

The war in the delta is a constant struggle to keep the main roads and canals open for the long lines of trucks and barges moving down from Saigon with the goods and materials — and back up north with the vital foodstuffs needed to feed the nation. Hardly a day goes by without a bridge being blown, a ferry crossing knocked out, a line of trucks held up by roving Viet Cong tax collectors. At night, nothing moves except troop convoys under heavy guard.

Lately, longer sections of road and canal have been kept open for longer periods, particularly in 9th Division territory.

Ninth Division country stretches across the heart of the delta in a long, narrow band from the South China Sea to the Cambodian border. It counts 2.6 million people, most of them farmers and fishermen, living in 7 provinces and 1,900 hamlets, roughly one-fifth of the entire population of South Viet Nam.

Here in the middle of South Viet Nam's rice bowl, a land lush enough to feed much of Southeast Asia, the Viet Cong controls 50 per cent of the land but only 14 per cent of the people.

Col. Morgan's map shows that 4.7 per cent of the people now live in secured and pacified areas, another 26 per cent are undergoing pacification and, perhaps the most heartening statistic of all, nearly 900 hamlets have been pacified.

"We are nearing the halfway point in controlling the hamlets, which have always been the VC's main strength," said Capt. James Orr of Atlanta, Ga., a specialist in pacification. "But it's slow, plodding progress. After an area has been cleared of significant Communist troop concentrations, and by that we mean roving units with sophisticated weapons like mortars and recoilless rifles, it takes anywhere from three to six months to teach the people to defend themselves, train them to go out after the enemy and set up a viable local government.

"Even then, the VC can come in the night and take it all back with shattering swiftness. Just because an area shows blue on the map doesn't mean the hamlet chief can walk around without fear of ambush. In guerrilla war, there's almost nothing you can do to stop a drug- crazed terrorist from walking up to the province chief with a hand grenade to shake hands.

"We learn to live with our setbacks, even when it means starting all over again to take back what you thought was yours."

When the war in Viet Nam began nearly 20 years ago, the peasant down on the delta following his docile water buffalo across the same rice paddy his ancestors had plowed for generations couldn't have cared less whether the Viet Cong or the Vietnamese government controlled his province.

Governments were like war lords, they took from you, they gave nothing back. No matter who dwelled in the presidential palace, the French, the Communists, the new government, the delta sun would be just as hot, the monsoons just as sultry and unrelenting, the living just as hard and monotonous.

But gradually in the last few years, and more startlingly so in the last year, a change has come over the delta dweller. Led by American advisers, both military and civilian, working in a variety of fields—political, medical, psychological — and bolstered by massive American aid the Vietnamese government has tried to get the message across that governments can care, that officials are supposed to serve and not to steal.

Vietnamese agriculture experts are trying to teach new tricks in an area that doggedly clings to ancient ways, and similar work is being done in fishing, silk worm raising and light industry.

In many a village new classrooms are being added to the local school, a roof put on the church or pagoda, an improvement made in drainage or public power or a new well dug.

Progress in some areas is painfully slow and corruption is a constant menace, but a beginning has been made.

"The important thing is that it is the Vietnamese who are going in and doing this, not the Americans," insisted Capt. Orr. "We provide the materials and in some cases the background advice, but this is a Vietnamese war and in the long run it is the Vietnamese who are going to have to win it."

The program used to be called "pacification," but the word when translated into Vietnamese had undertones of French colonialism so now its called rural reconstruction.

Throughout the secured areas of the delta thousands of highly trained and dedicated Americans are engaged in the enigmatic endeavor of trying to remain in the background while pushing the Vietnamese government into the foreground of helping the people.

Rural reconstruction is Ben Weaver of USOM — United States Operations Missions — checking on the progress of a school in some remote hamlet, doling out sacks of corn meal and boxes of dried milk to the province officials for distribution to the people.

Rural reconstruction is Phil Mayhew, on loan from the State Department to USIS — United States Information Service — training the Vietnamese in the new psychological warfare weapons of free movies in the market place, posters and placards on the walls of public buildings, loudspeaker messages from little three-wheel motor scooters and pamphlets dropped from planes.

The fish vendors in the sprawling delta hamlets love wrapping the daily catch in the nice clean leaflets, but the program is successful enough for the Viet Cong to shoot at the planes and to try to ambush the loudspeaker trucks.

Col. Morgan's map still shows too much red to indicate who is winning the war in the delta, but already there may be solid indications of who is winning the peace.

Dawn is slowly coming up over the Mekong, even if the night is still black with terror when the broiling delta sun dips into the Gulf of Siam.

Floyd Estate May Become Part of Parks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The historic Long Island estate of William Floyd, a Revolutionary War Patriot and signer of the Declaration of Indepndence, may soon become a part of the national park system.

Congress is moving toward possible adoption of a bill to permit the secretary of the interior to accept as a gift from Floyd's descendants the 611-acre estate, complete with a pre-Revolutionary period manor house, as part of the Fire Island National Seashore.

Ex-Cabinet Member To Oppose DeGaulle

PARIS (AP) — Francois Mitterand, who served in Charles de Gaulle's postliberation cabinet but opposed his return to power seven years ago, has announced he will run for president of France in December.

The 4-year-old non-Communist announced his candidacy Thursday night shortly after De Gaulle told a news conference he will disclose "within the next two months" whether he will seek re-election. He is expected to run—and to win—if his health holds up.

The Trees in My Home Town

Items in the 25 and 40 Years Ago column on this page have considerable personal interest to those who recall the incidents and names referred to from time to time.

Recently in the 25 Years Ago column there was an item about Patricia Banner, former Sedalian, who with her husband, Lou, are favorably remembered. Mrs. Banner in a magazine competition won first prize for a song lyric, "My Home Town." Friends of her husband remember him as quite agile with a fiddle.

The item brought recollections to many Sedalians of this delightful couple and, of course, queries about the lyric. Fortunately, Miss Eva Evans of Adco, Inc., still has a copy of the lyric which deals with a subject of current local concern—trees. It reads:

"Have you ever been to Sedalia?
Have you ever seen the fine trees
That burst forth in flame in the autumn?
If not, make of a note of it please.
Hard maples march proudly down Broadway,
Hard maples stroll over the town,
Clad in green, burnished gold and vermillion,
Each tree wears a bright damask gown.
If you've never been to Sedalia,
If you've never seen this array,
If you long for breath-taking beauty
You must come to Sedalia some day."

Twenty-five years later, if Pat knew what has and is happening to trees not only on Broadway but all over the city of Sedalia she would indeed mourn for the community's plight.

The city record today shows that Sedalia has lost 205 trees this year and 133 more are scheduled for removal. Most of them died this year of the Dutch elm disease, according to Councilman Walter Jessee, chairman of the street and alley committee, in his report to city council.

Coinciding with this revelation is a comment by a contemporary that "whenever we visit a city without trees we seldom wish to tarry, but want to get out of town as quickly as possible . . . the leafy community inspires a sense of well being, a feeling of hospitality instead of hostility."

There is nothing more ugly or indicative of indifference than a community in which there are few trees.

The importance of trees to a community cannot be underrated not only from the standpoint of their aesthetic value but also for the physical comfort they provide mankind.

It is disheartening to learn that the City of Sedalia doesn't have sufficient money allocated for the removal at this time of all diseased trees. Perhaps something will be done about this deficiency.

But of still more importance to the community is the hopeful inception of an organized program of planting and permanent care of trees, a project which has been suggested and talked about for decades.

For Pat's sake, let's get something done about it.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Perplexed, Aiding India, Pakistan

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It was announced only this week, but last June President Johnson took a firm stand against sending any more military aid to the two nations now unofficially at war — India and Pakistan.

President Ayub Khan of Pakistan has let out a series of public blasts at this, and even the camel driver whom LBJ, when vice president, invited to the United States, has written a critical letter on his former host.

In India, Ambassador Chester Bowles has urged continued foreign aid. However, the President has stood pat.

"They say I'm inexperienced in foreign affairs," the President remarked to friends the other day, "but I don't need much experience to know not to send weapons to these two countries."

Prior to President Johnson's veto on further arms shipments, the United States had shipped a tremendous arsenal of tanks, fighter planes and bombers to Pakistan, with a far lesser amount to India. The exact amount of this aid is secret, and when Jack Anderson asked the Pentagon why the figures should not be available to the American taxpayers who foot the bill, the reply of one spokesman was: "It's classified because it's classified."

At the State Department a spokesman freely admitted that India has received $6,335,000,000 in economic aid with $3,067,000,000 going to Pakistan, up to this summer. The amount of military aid, he added sorrowfully, is strictly classified.

"It seemed a good idea," he said, "not to annoy one by telling how much we give to the other."

This column can reveal, however, that Pakistan has received close to $2 billion worth of military hardware since 1954 when John Foster Dulles first started the policy of building up Pakistan's military machine.

Despite the shroud of secrecy, this column can further reveal that Pakistan now has in active service 96 F-86 subsonic fighters, 25 B-57 light bombers, and 11 F-104 supersonic fighters, all gifts from the United States. It was impossible to ascertain the number of artillery pieces, small arms and transport planes we have sent to Pakistan, though the number of Patton tanks is around 70.

The Indians have received only $200,000,000 of U. S. military aid or one-tenth of what we have sent Pakistan.

Ironically, the Indians have also received some Migs from the Russians to defend themselves against China, despite the fact that the Russians and Chinese are supposed to be allies.

Meanwhile, India has demanded an explanation from U. S. Ambassador Bowles as to what the United States intends to do to stop the use of its weapons by Pakistan. The Pakistanis, in turn have protested in equally bristling language against the use of American-made weapons by the Indians.

U. S. officials, meanwhile, are waiting gloomily for the inevitable pictures of captured weapons that will be issued by both sides.

Foreign Policy By Generals

What has happened in the massive subcontinent of Asia is that Dulles in 1954 deliberately picked Moslem Pakistan as a belligerent nation which had supplied the backbone of the British Indian Army, so could train the best troops to help us contain China.

After Dulles had set this policy, it was more or less turned over to the Pentagon, and the U. S. military have pretty much dictated foreign policy in this area ever since.

The flood of arms into Pakistan made war with India almost inevitable, just as the shipment of arms to Latin-American countries has given the generals the means of staging revolution after revolution.

But what neither the American military nor the State Department foresaw was that China, the country we wanted to contain, would become the virtual ally of Pakistan.

This occurred when China invaded India, and the United States, trying to implement its policy of containing China, rushed fighter planes to India to help stop the Chinese onrush. It was not until that time, 1962, that we began sending any military aid to India.

The Pakistanis promptly saw red, immediately rushed into the bosom of China. A treaty was signed giving the Chinese special landing rights in Pakistan for a new air route to Africa. It is this air route which has enabled the Chinese to send thousands of agents, technicians and provocateurs down to Africa to stir up trouble against the West in the new African republics.

President Ayub Khan, who once charmed Congress in a special appearance before it, has since gone to Peking where he also charmed the Chinese.

The inescapable fact is that the U. S. policy of building up the military might of Pakistan just hasn't worked. It hasn't contained China. It has caused war with India. And the name of the United States today is mud in both countries.

Plan Carefully For A Trip With Baby

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you plan to travel with an infant under one year of age the question arises whether you should have your head examined or be given a medal. Some babies seem to be born travelers but they belong in the same category as hen's teeth and five-leaf clovers.

If you have the other kind, take him by jet if you can. Although you will have to feed, pacify and change him in public your trip will be mercifully short. Since the stewardess will barely have time to serve a meal before landing she won't be able to give you or your baby individual attention.

Travel by auto will give you more privacy but will take a lot longer unless the trip is under 150 miles. Breast feeding is still the best and most convenient but, if you have given up on that, you will really appreciate the ready-to-feed formulas now available in grocery and drug stores. The bottles are disposable and do not require refrigeration or warming. Let your baby get used to this preparation for 5 or 6 days before you start your trip — this means one less surprise for the little tyke.

If you carry along cans or jars of baby food, discard what he doesn't eat in one meal. Saving leftovers in your refrigerator is fine but on a trip with no refrigeration it is an open invitation to bacterial food poisoning.

Q — What would make a 7-month-old baby's eye water and the lids stick together in the morning?

A — Conjunctivitis in an infant is usually caused by infection with the pneumococcus, staphylococcus or streptococcus. If penicillin doesn't cure it a search for an allergy should be made.

Service

My job is one of service
In which I try to do
The things that the public,
I feel, expects me to,
Nobody ever questions
At what time ends my day
Or if, for what I'm asked to do,
I might get extra pay,
Nobody even wonders—
And I don't care at bit,
My job is one of service
And I'm mighty proud of it;
A sales girl was impatient
When I went in before,
To make a little purchase,
About time to close the store,
'Twas something that I needed
And I was late, you see,
Because I worked till nearly five
Instead of half past three—
Somebody had a story
But they found they would be late,
And so they called me on the 'phone
To ask me if I'd wait,
More than an hour I gave them,
With not a penny in it,
And yet the sales girl didn't want
To give an extra minute;
I'm always watching people
In their jobs everywhere
And I can tell the difference
In the ones who really care
And those who are so eager
For the ending of their day,
Only two things are important—
Closing time and lots of pay,
And for them I'm truly sorry
For they have never learned
The joy of giving service
For the money that is earned;
They know no dedication
And they've never felt the thrill
Of giving time and talent
In service or in skill,
They've never felt the challenge
Of a job they really love,
Not to merely do their duty
But to go beyond—above—
To consider not the pay check,
Just the job that they have chosen
To wear a friendly smile
And not a face that's frozen,
It's a privilege to serve
In any way your fellow man
It is such a satisfaction
When you do the best you can,
Sure, the boss may never notice,
For bosses you will find
Are just like the employees
Not all generous and kind,
But the smart ones know their people—
Know those dedicated,
And they always let them know
That they are appreciated;
But whatever the job is
If you've found the right one
It's a mighty happy feeling
To know that it's well done,
I wish I could inspire youth
Following now in any line
To love the kind of work they do
As much as I love mine.

Q's and A's On Tax Matters

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—My wife and I won a week's expense-paid trip to the N. Y. World's Fair in a magazine contest. Is there any tax on what we received?

A—Yes, prizes won in contests like lucky number drawings, TV or radio quiz programs, or door prizes are taxable. You should declare as income the fair market value of your prize. The contest sponsor should be able to give you this information.

Prizes that are not taxable are those received of past accomplishments in religious, educational, charitable, scientific, artistic, literary or civic fields. Nobel and Pulitzer awards are examples of these tax-free prizes.

Q—I will be paying $150 in interest over the next 36 months on my car loan. How do I figure out how much of this I can deduct each year for tax purposes? Can I deduct the full $150 this year, some each year, or the full amount when it is paid off?

A—You may only deduct what you actually paid in interest each year. If you are paying this interest off in equal monthly payments, then you may deduct $4.17 of it for each month you made a payment during the tax year.

This interest deduction may be taken only if you itemize deductions.

Q—I expect to return to college as a full-time student in the fall. Since the money I make this summer will be all I'll make this year, can I file a return in September and get my tax refund then?

A—No. Returns cannot be filed until the close of the taxable year. If you file early in January, whatever refund you have coming will be processed quickly.

Q—We just hired a part-time maid and we'll be paying her about $10 a week. Will we have to pay Social Security taxes for her and if we do, what form should be used?

A—Your $10 a week wages will amount to more than $50 a calendar quarter, so Social Security taxes must be paid by you and your maid. The form to use is Form 942, Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees.

An explanation of your responsibilities as an employer for this tax is contained in Circular H, Household Employer's Social Security Tax Guide. It is available at no charge from any local Revenue Service office.

FINDING THE WAY

For Better Or For Worse

By RALPH W. LOWE, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There is a plaintive little whine which was written about many marriages which threaten to fall apart:

"As soon as they take us for better or worse,
They also take us for granted."

That's true of much of life. We miss the wonder of the psalmist who saw the earth leaping with joy. Take it for granted and you waste resources, pollute the air, despoil the streams and ravish in a moment what centuries had labored to produce. So freedom is turned into license, community into exploitation of individuals and economic or social advantage becomes prideful selfishness. As soon as we have these gifts, for better or for worse, we take them for granted.

A recent hospital experience riveted the whole matter. Suddenly the health that we take for granted is jeopardized and independence becomes dependence. Now nurses, aides, orderlies, technicians as well as doctors and surgeons are marshaled into a team bent on meeting one person's need. Take this for granted and you drain compassion from the whole process of restoring health and well-being.

Or there are those little fluted cups which the nurse delivers. They brim with a variety of capsules containing antibiotics and vitamins. It's really been only a few decades since these have become a part of medical procedure. We take these things for granted. Think for a moment of what the procedures were before the researchers and the scientists devoted their talents to producing these life-restoring drugs. Suddenly you hold the little cup as though it were a chalice.

Most of all, none of us can be taken for granted. Wrote the late and saintly Martin Buber. "Existence cannot be possessed, but only shared in." That is never more understood than at the hour of greatest need. To make of any person an "it" instead of a "you" is to take for granted the gift of personhood.

Nor can one take the prayers of others for granted. There is a new sense of the trust of faith in times when the mind is too foggy to pray literally just to know that many others in an ecumenical fellowship are praying for God's healing. It is in this merging of needs and in the understanding of them as within the possible redeeming love beyond ourselves that we are at the threshold of a faith that is vital.

Catastrophe always compels community. In the face of disaster we express concern for one another. We ought to be compelled by the urgencies of our faith.

No man and no nation can walk through this life insulated against trouble. Personally—and nationally — we have to keep faith, for better or for worse. But never for granted!

The best players don't get the best results with every hand. Sometimes they make the best mistakes. No one is immune to that. Other times they stop at a low contract and a fortunate break of the cards reward overbidders who have gone higher and sometimes the best play does not gather in the maximum number of tricks.

Thus in the recent Brooklyn tournament most declarers arrived at four hearts although at a few tables South played at one heart only.

The better players made five odd because they all played the hand so as to guarantee their contracts. This safety play consisted of ruffing the first club; cashing one high heart and entering dummy with a second heart. Then the jack of spades was led and allowed to ride. West would win with his queen and either take his ace of diamonds right away or wait until later. That made no difference.

Those players who overlooked the safety play managed to make six. They ran off several rounds of trumps and then finessed successfully against West's queen of spades.

So as to forestall argument with many readers we refuse to comment on whether or not the South hand is worth a forcing two bid opening. Personally we have an open mind on that subject and have no criticism of either a one bid or two bid opening with this particular hand.

New Method

Children Enjoy Locating Own Mistakes In English

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — So what is it with youngsters and the English language?

"They can't read it, they can't write it, they can't spell it, they can't use it," says English teacher Nellie Thomas.

Most of all, Mrs. Thomas says, they can't write it:

"The monosyllabic grunts so many high-schoolers communicate with are transcribed with heart-breaking fidelity to the scribbled page."

But, she added in an article in the journal "Illinois Education," "it wasn't the pupils' fault that they were lazy, inarticulate and illiterate. It was the fault of the methods we were using in the first four grades."

The thing to do, Mrs. Thomas decided, was to develop a new method of teaching children how to write. So she did—a method that has children writing original, legible, coherent sentences with properly spelled words, as early as the end of the first grade.

And that's writing she teaches, cursive writing, not printing.

Mrs. Thomas started putting her theories to work back in 1951 in the Westview Elementary School here. Basic to all was her conviction that traditional methods don't work because the children don't get enough writing practice.

What evolved was a sort of do-it-yourself learning technique with the pupils responsible for finding their own mistakes and correcting them.

Here's how it works:

When the pupils hand in their daily written assignments, Mrs. Thomas glances over them. If she finds mistakes, she doesn't mark them—she merely hands the paper back to the child.

Then she goes to the board and writes 8 or 10 sentences, full of the mistakes she has noted in the papers. And she asks the class to find the mistakes.

"I'll discuss the mistakes with them," she said. "I'll explain why you use one verb form instead of another, or the difference between to, too, and two. But I never make the corrections on the board—the sentences stay there just as they are.

"Then I ask the youngsters to write the sentences properly. They have to go through them all, find the mistakes and correct them. If I made the corrections, the children would just copy them, and they wouldn't learn a thing."

On the papers handed back, the pupils also are expected to find and correct their mistakes.

Mrs. Thomas spends only a few days teaching penmanship. She teaches the proper form for each letter and insists the pupils write each one as carefully as if it were a drawing lession.

"Whenever they get careless or sloppy," Mrs. Thomas said, "I simply refuse to accept their work. They have to do it over. They soon get the idea."

Mrs. Thomas also used a phonetic system of teaching reading and insists that each child have a dictionary from the second grade on. Misspelled word? Look it up.

Last fall, her revolutionary methods, a distillation of years of trial and error and revision, were adopted in the three-school Lincoln Park District, just outside Rockford. At the same time, the district adopted the Open Court reading program with a strong phonetic approach.

In the Open Court program, the children start learning letter sounds and printing on their very first day in first grade. By the eighth lesson they are printing sentences dictated by the teacher. By the 20th, they are working with three- and four-sentence stories.

In most classes, by the end of the first semester, the children have learned all the letter sounds and blends; they know the alphabet; they re taking increasingly difficult dictation from the teacher and they are printing their own original sentences and stories.

And, in two of the eight first-grade classes last year, the children were ready for Nellie Thomas' method of learning cursive, or longhand, writing. The other six classes will start with it on the first day of the second grade.

Today In History

Stephens College Alumnae Meet Here Sept. 18

"The New Look for Alumnae" comes under discussion at a meeting of alumnae of Stephens College in Sedalia at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 18 during a luncheon meeting at Flat Creek Inn.

Special guest at the meeting is Miss Margaret A. Witt, alumnae secretary for the college. Formerly assistant to the president of Pacific Oaks College, Pasadena, Calif., Miss Witt joined Stephens in 1963. She has worked with Dr. James B. Conant, both during his Harvard University presidency and in his government work. Immediately after World War II, she was assistant counselor for veterans at Harvard. Miss Witt's special field of interest is continuing education for women.

Her visit here is part of a schedule which takes her to the college's 64 active alumnae clubs throughout the country. Stephens has 31,000 alumnae in most of the 50 states and in some 65 foreign countries.

Local alumnae who have helped plan the meeting include general chairman Mrs. Oscar H. DeWolf, 1115 West Broadway; Mrs. Kelley E. Williams, publicity, 220 West 16th; Miss Margaret Ferguson, invitations, 2403 Dennis Road; and Mrs. George W. Chambers, reservations, 912 South Harrison, all of Sedalia.

Izvestia Runs Into Pravda Accusations

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party organ Pravda took a rare potshot at the government newspaper Izvestia Thursday, accusing it of trying to stifle the intellectual freedom of Soviet authors.

Pravda editor Alexei M. Rumyantzev, one of the government's leading policy spokesmen, charged that Izvestia critics have "replaced principles by intolerance, an all-around approach by a one-sided approach."

"Our criticism must not disunite, but should unite all which serve the ideals of communism," said Rumyantzev, whose article ran a full page.

FLOATING BRIDGE — A 300-foot railroad bridge is floated in Calumet River, Chicago, Thursday on two barges on which it was constructed. Bridge replaces old drawbridge and will speed both rail and river traffic. U.S. army engineers handed moving of span to abutments where it will be lowered by jacks to permanent mooring. This is first bridge on Cal-Sag channel to be built in this manner. It was constructed for Kingston and Eastern Railroad, a subsidiary of Illinois Central. (UPI)

Pretty Lady Cop Stops London Traffic

LONDON (AP) — A lovely girl stopped the traffic in London's Oxford Street today — and that's official.

She wore a blue suit with silver buttons, austere white collar with man-type tie, high heels, nylons and a neat white cap.

Her name: Elisha Pirchi, 20, an Israeli policewoman.

She is helping with the Israeli exhibition in London and at the same time studying British traffic methods.

She said she expects to marry soon.

"I met him," she explained "on a one-way street." He was going the wrong way — and she booked him.

Errors Are Found In Coolidge Records

PLYMOUTH, Vt. (AP) — Calvin Coolidge, 30th president of the United States, didn't rest his hand on his mother's Bible as he took the oath of office, nor was he in Plymouth Notch, Vt., at the time.

The National Geographic Society says researchers found a Plymouth Township, a Plymouth Village and a Plymouth Union in the records — but no Plymouth Notch as the legend says. As for the Bible, the society says it lay on a nearby table but was not used when Coolidge was sworn in by his father.

BICYCLE BILL'S RULES OF THE ROAD

Americans are not only the most automobile-happy people in the world, there also are more of them on bicycles than in any other country—an estimated 58 million. With so many cyclists mingling with the ever-increasing numbers of motor vehicles on the roads, it is more necessary than ever that basic rules of bicycling safety be studied and followed. And with school days again fast approaching, this is particularly important for some eight million school-bound young Americans—one in seven of all those enrolled from kindergarten through college—who will be using bicycles for transportation to classes.

1. Obey all traffic regulations, signs and lights. Know local bicycle regulations, they vary from community to community.

2. Keep to the right and always ride in a straight line. Always ride single file.

3. Have a white light in front and a red light or reflector in back.

4. Have a working signaling device, such as a horn or bell.

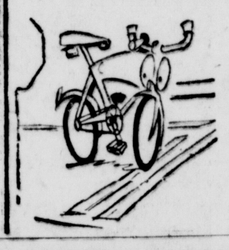
5. Give pedestrians the right of way.

6. Look out for parked cars pulling into traffic. Watch for doors opening on parked cars.

7. Never hitch on other vehicles, stunt or race in traffic.

8. Carry no passengers or objects which interfere with vision or control.

9. Make sure brakes are functioning smoothly. Keep your bike in perfect operating condition.



10. Look to the right and left at all intersections.

11. Always use proper hand signals for turning or stopping.

12. Don't weave in and out of traffic or swerve from side to side.

4-H Helps Teens Acquire Safe And Sane Driving Habits

Driving an automobile is one of the great privileges we have as American citizens. Right now throughout the state scores of teen-age licensed drivers and pre-drivers are undergoing practical and intensive training outlined in the national 4-H Automotive program conducted by the University of Missouri Extension Division. Educational material and training aids are provided by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, a long-time supporter of 4-H.

This program is the only one of its kind in the U. S. making an effort to reach pre-drivers. As one county extension agent remarked: "A boy or girl of 14 or 15 is hungry for information on driving. Before they reach their 16th birthday they are eager to learn. But after they get that little piece of cardboard permitting them to drive, they become instant experts."

Proof that they do NOT become instant experts is the fact that persons of 25 years of age and under, who represent 15 per cent of the drivers, have 30 per cent of the traffic accidents.

Why? Lack of judgment necessary to cope with modern day traffic and improper driving attitude, say safety authorities. Not having the right attitude contributes up to 85 percent of traffic accidents.

Young people enrolled in the 4-H Automotive program learn about the mechanical function of the vehicle, develop the proper attitude and take part in traffic surveys before they get behind the wheel. They not only have carefully planned "lessons" but hear from experts such as automotive engineers, traffic officers, safety authorities, insurance representatives and mechanics.

Periodic vehicle safety checks are also conducted by many 4-H clubs in cooperation with the National Safety Council, National Vehicle Safety-Check for Communities, USDA and local safety and law enforcement groups. The new Slow Moving vehicle emblem designed primarily for farm vehicles traveling 25 miles per hour or less is another safety device for 4-H'ers to promote.

Four top members in each county are eligible for a special 4-H automation key chain. The most outstanding project in the entire state will bring for the boy or girl a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago next fall. For the six best in the nation there will be $500 scholarships that can be used for college, vocational training or any other kind of approved education.

Information about enrollment in the 4-H Automotive program can be obtained from the county University Extension Center.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

By ALLEN GARVIN

Biggest Booking Agent The most exclusive "off-Broadway" theater in the world is 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, and the top booking agent is White House social secretary Bess Abell. She books entertainment for LBJ's social functions. Performers seldom turn her down even though her shows run only one night, usually start at 11 p.m., seldom play to more than 200 persons, and are seen after the guests have gone through a heavy dinner. The man who hands out the specially printed programs is rather impressive though — his name's Johnson—and actors who play the East Parlor frame their White House show bills with a great deal of pride.

An "In-Spireing" Fact A Sunday item worth noting: the men who build spires on top of churches (yes, it's a special field in itself) say that there's a boom in church steeples. Right after World War II, churches tried to look like schools or post offices, forsaking the traditional steeple. But that trend seems to be disappearing. Churches have found it worthwhile to call attention to themselves architecturally, and spires are an eye catcher. Moreover, lightweight metals and prefabricating techniques make spires easy to construct; they can go up in days instead of the months it used to take.

Kewpie-Doll Art Sculptors traditionally have worked in stone and clay—but now they are becoming children of the modern age. Plastics are their new medium. New York's Museum of Modern Art recently bought a sculpture by a 31-year-old Chicago artist, Frank Gallo, that is done completely in reinforced polyester-resin plastic. The statue is of a girl sitting in a sling chair, and her plastic "flesh" has an eery, lifelike tone. Maybe critics should christen it "Kewpie-doll art."

The Salesman "Buys" a Name One of the hottest new English combos is Freddie and the Dreamers. Bespectacled Freddie Garrity, head of the musical mob, says he got his combo's name while selling brushes door to door to make ends meet until his music making began to pay off. A customer listened to all his big plans and murmured: "You're a right lot of dreamers, aren't you?" Freddie sold some brushes—and wound up with a salable title at the same time! The Dreamers are now dreaming in terms of six-figure incomes.

Freddie and the Dreamers

Liz Ashley Goes to Washington Kookie Elizabeth Ashley vaulted into show-business big time with a memorable Broadway role in "Barefoot in the Park." Now, at 25, this lovely stage and movie star has moved on to even bigger honors as the youngest member of President Johnson's National Council on Arts. But membership in the august group hasn't awed her into silence. Recently she blurted out: "We're not supposed to discuss what we're doing, but I've been on record many times. The arts have to be made a legitimate child of government, not just an illegitimate stepchild."

The Asphalt Eaters One of the most colorful new cults is that of drag racing—coaxing 200-mph speeds out of souped-up cars on the nation's 450 quarter-mile drag strips. But newcomers need a guide to the sport's bizarre trappings. For instance: hot rodders may don German World War I helmets and Iron Cross medals, then shout "Banzai" after a fast car zips by. They wear shirts with "Schlitz: Breakfast of Champions" emblazoned on the chest, call frankfurters "tube steaks," buy phonograph records of "Asphalt Eater" and "Jive Driver" by the thousands. Their cars carry such slogans as "Widow Maker" and "Flying Hearse," but the sport is generally well-policed and safe. Typical high compliment to a stylish car: "Man, that's boss. I'd love to blast off in that hairy beast."

What Ever Happened to Rube Goldberg? San Francisco-born Rube Goldberg began drawing funny pictures and designing kookie inventions in 1904. For 60 years, his pen-and-ink creations brought smiles to newspaper readers from coast to coast. At the same time, he also did a lot of first-rate political cartooning, wrote books and movie scripts, and even played in vaudeville. A little more than a year ago, Rube retired from his many jobs—and took up a new life: that of a professional sculptor. "I hate the word retirement," he says. "To me it spells resignation and frustration. I have merely effected a slight change in my medium." Rube has been married for 48 years to the former Irma Seeman; they have two sons and six grandchildren. Says Rube: "Success is 40 percent luck; 20 percent talent, energy, and drive; and, in my case, the other 40 percent is Irma."

Washington's Brash, New Star

Pundits warned that a song-and-dance man could never win an election—but George Murphy proved he knew more than they did about "casting" for the U.S. Senate

By MARYA SAUNDERS

A FRESHMAN SENATOR usually is nervous when he delivers his maiden speech. But George Murphy, the ex-movie star who is California's junior Senator, has few qualms about stepping into the spotlight.

He even chose a crucial moment to make his first speech. The White House had just informed the Senate that the controversial aid-to-education bill must be passed. Mike Mansfield, the majority leader, was about to push the bill through. The galleries of the chamber were packed with interested spectators.

Then Senator Murphy asked permission to speak. While Mansfield and his impatient assistants paced the Senate antechamber, Murphy delivered a long speech about Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, who, he claimed, was meddling with the livelihood of California farmers.

When one Senator whispered to Murphy that he was impeding the passage of the education bill, Murphy remarked that he was out to educate Secretary Wirtz—and if that wasn't education, what was?

Many Senators were impressed with Murphy's display of brash charm that day. So was the big gallery crowd. Since then, Murphy has barely let a day go by without showing the old matinee idols of the U.S. Senate new tricks for catching the public eye. He has regularly had his picture taken with former President Eisenhower, former Vice President Nixon, and various Senators. He even posed beside a nervous frog scheduled to jump in the famous Calaveras County Jumping Frog Jubilee.

This kind of theatricality should not come as a surprise. After all, Murph, as his friends call him, has for years played opposite nimble scene stealers like Shirley Temple. He knows every Hollywood technique for pleasing an audience. He also has been a public-relations man for the film industry and president of Technicolor Corporation since 1960.

What is surprising is that Murphy actually made the switch from show business to politics, becoming the first Senator whose footprints are immortalized in cement at Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood.

Certainly his announcement last year that he would run for office was greeted with skeptical humor by even his closest buddies. "Can't you just see him at roll call in the Senate?" Bob Hope quipped. "When they call California, he'll do a sand dance down the aisle."

Although Murphy had been active in local politics since 1939, political experts insisted he hadn't a chance of winning an election. A Republican who had come out for Goldwater, they said, just couldn't buck the Johnson landslide in a state where Democrats outnumber Republicans three to two. And an old song-and-dance man, they said, could never beat former White House press aide Pierre Salinger, who was then Senator from California and had been in the thick of government and politics for years.

But ignoring the predictions of the pundits, Murphy campaigned so vigorously that he won 3,628,555 votes to pull off a Republican upset. "Here he is, folks—dancing his way into your Senate," actor Ronald Reagan cheered as he watched the returns on television.

The political experts now explain that Murphy's image helped him enormously in the campaign. With his trim figure and handsome appearance, he looked "just like a Senator should." In contrast, the jovial but jowly Salinger did not have the statesman's image.

Murphy's well-polished Hollywood promotion helped him, too. Although there was reportedly no prearrangement, many of his old movies were shown on tv throughout his campaign.

"I am on the 'Late Late Show' almost every night of the week," Murphy joked at the time. "MGM has taken a survey that shows most people watch the late movies in bed. I, therefore, claim to have more intimate association with my constituents than any other candidate."

Politics is a strenuous business, and it requires not only theatricality but drive and physical fortitude. Murphy has these. "As a child, all I wanted was to be the best athlete ever—like my dad," Murphy told me when I spoke to him recently in his old Hollywood office at the Technicolor Corporation.

George's father, Mike Murphy, was a track coach at Yale and the University of Pennsylvania. After his death in 1913, Penn dedicated a field house in Mike Murphy's honor.

"In prep school I tried all sports," Murphy continued, "track, swimming, wrestling, basketball, football. I loved them even with their kicks! I mean one Saturday I got kicked in the jaw and lost three teeth, and the next Saturday I got kicked on the other side and lost two more. But I loved the competition."

In his sophomore year at Yale, George was put on scholastic probation. He left and tried many jobs, ending up in New York.

"That's when I met my wife Julie," Murphy said. "She was in New York studying dancing. Before I knew it, I was in show business. Julie was offered a job with Ziegfeld's Palm Beach show in Florida. That was bad for me because I was in love. 'It's silly to go down there as a chorus girl,' I insisted. 'Let's form a dance team here, instead.'

"She said, 'OK—if you get us a job before the show leaves.' And that's just what I did. We opened in a chop-suey restaurant with noodles and green peas for pay. It wasn't bad, considering that all the dancing I knew was what I'd picked up from my grandfather, who danced the Irish jig."

Julie and George were married in 1926. Soon after, the Murphy team waltzed, tangoed, and soft-shoed across the U. S. and Europe, playing before at least five kings. They became a big success in musicals and in nightclubs.

"We did a dance to 'Smoke Gets in Your Eyes' that was a smash hit at the opening night of 'Roberta' on Broadway," Murphy told me. "Sam Goldwyn saw it and offered me a Hollywood contract for 'Kid Millions' with Eddie Cantor and Ann Sothern. Goldwyn tried to sign Julie up, too, but she refused to make a test."

"That's when I decided I had had it," Julie said as she recently reminisced about that decision. "For almost eight years, we had been working and rehearsing. So when Murph signed his first long-term contract, I thought it was the proper time to start rearing a family."

The Murphys now live in a comfortable Georgian-style house just off Sunset Boulevard in Beverly Hills with their handsome 26-year-old son Dennis. They also have a 21-year-old daughter Melissa (Missy), who recently was married and lives in Colorado.

During the Murphys' early Hollywood years, Julie spent many hours alone while her husband was out winning stardom in the movies. "George wasn't home much in those days; so it isn't much different from his current job in Washington," Julie told me a bit sadly. "George flies home every other weekend when the Senate is in session. He is home the other months of the year. When he is away, he still phones me several times a day."

Julie, who still looks like the dancer she once was, small and lithe, with a sparkling smile, would love to be in Washington with George. But she suffers from arthritis and has been confined pretty much to their California home for the past three years.

Murphy, fighting for recognition in the Senate, is determinedly trying to prove that actors can be statesmen. In fact, he argues that there is not that much difference between his new job and his old movie jobs. He often quotes Shakespeare's lines: "All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players. . . ."

"And that," Murphy says, "also applies to the august United States Senate." ◆

Quips and Quotes

A woman was telling her psychiatrist about her terrible nightmares. "I keep dreaming I'm a demon, ghoul, monster, vampire, or zombie," she complained.

"Very interesting," the doctor replied. "Tell me—do you always dream in alphabetical order?" —John Shotwell

"At long last," the woman told her best friend, "I've met the perfect man and am finally getting married."

"Are you really sure you're in love?" the friend asked.

"I must be in love!" the woman replied. "I told him my right age."

What Faith does for the Catholic man!

He sees in his religion, first of all, a means to the salvation of his immortal soul.

But it also has a more immediate and urgent purpose — to teach him how to live!

The Catholic man doesn't have to invent his own theory as to the nature of God. He doesn't have to set up his own code of ethics for his relations with other men. He doesn't have to formulate personal standards of moral and social behavior... or make his own distinction between right and wrong, good and bad.

All these problems are resolved for him by his belief in God's revealed truths... by the clear instructions contained in the Gospel of Jesus Christ... by his acceptance of the Sacraments dispensed through the Church for the nourishment of his soul.

How this Faith enriches the everyday life of the Catholic man is told in a new pocket-size pamphlet which we hope you will want to read. It is written by a group of Catholic men from different walks of life, who find peace of mind and spiritual certainty by applying Christ's truths to such everyday things as business, marriage, social responsibility and personal morality.

God did not, of course, just toss us into the world to fend for ourselves... with only our human intelligence to guide us in matters of divine and super-natural truths. Nor did He tell us in just a few broad generalities what we should know about our Creator, our world and ourselves. On the contrary, He pictured the wondrous gifts of eternal life He holds forth for those who abide by His word and do His will... and He gave us clear guidelines we must follow along the highway of life to accomplish these ends.

For the Catholic man, this means listening to Jesus, Who said "I am the way, and the truth, and the life" (John 14:6). It means "hearing the church," as our Lord commanded. It means continuously nourishing our Faith through the supernatural effects of the Sacraments. It means, in short, listening to God.

Whatever your age, occupation, religious belief or station in life, you will find inspiration in the pamphlet written by Catholic men to explain their Faith as a way of life. We'll gladly send you a copy free on request and without obligation. And nobody will call on you. Just ask for Pamphlet FM-26.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Toward the end of the first year, your baby's manual dexterity will improve mightily. Watch, and one fine day you'll see him (or her) accomplish the pinch-hold feat: picking up objects with thumb and forefinger. Great achievement, this. How else could we learn to write, sew, hold a fork?

Memo from Dan Gerber. "Do you know why we 'custom cook' your baby's foods? Because different foods require different treatment. Some foods need longer cooking time than others . . . some higher temperatures. Fruits, for example, are flash-cooked . . . sweet potatoes are slow-cooked (to break down starches into easily digested sugars). Egg yolks are processed differently from meat. But whatever the method, cooking times and temperatures are scientifically controlled to preserve the utmost in nutritive values.

"When you buy Gerber, you're sure of your money's worth in nourishment."

Table talk. Most toddler feeding problems fall into two classes. One is that the child doesn't eat what mother thinks is enough. The other is a refusal, sometimes, to eat "good-for-you" foods mother thinks are necessary. Important things to remember: a child's appetite usually wanes at the year-old stage and his appetite is a good guide to how much he should eat. Also, no one food is a must. There are several alternates in every Gerber food category to choose from.

Lip-smacking and new, for you know who? That's Gerber Junior Vegetables and Ham with Bacon . . . a dinner that's bound to be downed with delight. This happy combination of vegetables, cereal and meat is deftly blended and seasoned to please even the most persnickity palates. Like all Gerber Baby Foods, it's "custom-cooked" to preserve the utmost in nutritive values. Gerber® Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Michigan.

SPECIAL SECTION

Spotlight on Breakfast

Waffles are teamed with juicy, golden pork-sausage links for a delicious, nutrition-packed breakfast.

It's Always Time for Better Breakfasts

September is Better Breakfast Month, a time to evaluate your breakfast menus and plan ahead for substantial protein-rich breakfasts every day of the year. A nourishing breakfast should supply one fourth to one third of the day's food needs.

Family Weekly Cookbook • MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

Specialty Waffles

Crisp, evenly browned waffles and rich, tender pancakes, made from your favorite recipe or any of the excellent mixes, are equally delicious. Breakfast meats such as pork-sausage links, bacon, ham, or Canadian-style bacon add tantalizing flavor and body-building protein along with substantial amounts of the nutrients, thiamine and iron.

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 egg yolks
- 1¼ cups milk
- 5 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, cooled
- 2 egg whites

1. Preheat waffle baker according to manufacturer's directions.
2. Blend the first four ingredients; set aside.
3. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Blend in the milk and cooled butter or margarine.
4. Make a well in the center of dry ingredients and add liquid mixture all at one time. Stir only until the mixture is blended.
5. Using a clean bowl and beater, beat egg whites until stiff, not dry, peaks are formed. Gently fold beaten egg whites into the batter. (Turn batter into a pitcher for easy pouring.)
6. Pour batter onto center of preheated waffle baker; allow it to spread to within 1 in. of edges.
7. Lower cover and allow waffles to bake according to manufacturer's directions; do not raise cover during baking period. Lift cover and loosen waffle with a fork. Serve immediately with pats of butter or margarine. About 8 waffle sections

Cornmeal Waffles

Follow recipe for Specialty Waffles. Reduce flour to 1 cup and blend ¾ cup yellow cornmeal with dry ingredients.

Banana Waffles

Follow recipe for Specialty Waffles. Fold 1½ cups diced ripe banana into batter before folding in the beaten egg whites.

WHAT HAPPY BELTONE USERS TELL US:

I enjoy Church much more since I got my Beltone hearing aid. Now I can sit where I like instead of right up in front —and still hear the sermon. —Fay Moyer, nurse

I have a very severe hearing loss in both ears. There is nothing like the Beltone hearing aid I am now wearing. May I express my thanks to you who designed this terrific instrument. —Fred D. Weller, mfg. representative

I had been making errors of many kinds in my job and the company had threatened to fire me. But now with my Beltone hearing aid I have had two raises. I am much more relaxed and don't jump at sharp sounds any more. Mrs. Ralph Keeler Lindsay, office worker

I find my school work much easier because of my Beltone behind-the-ear hearing aids. My grades are up from C's to B's and better. —Patti Kelly, college student

Peaches à l'Orange with Cereal

Ready-to-eat or hot cereals become special fare when topped with this delicately spiced, ambrosial, orange-peach sauce.

- 1 1-lb. 13-oz. can sliced peaches, drained (reserve ½ cup sirup)
- ¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1½ teaspoons cornstarch
- Few grains salt
- ½ cup orange juice
- 8 whole cloves
- 6 whole allspice
- 1 tablespoon grated orange peel

1. Mix the brown sugar, cornstarch, and salt together in a saucepan. Add the reserved peach sirup and orange juice gradually, stirring constantly to mix evenly. Stir in the cloves, allspice, and orange peel.

2. Bring mixture to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil 2 to 3 min., or until slightly thickened.

3. Reduce heat, add the sliced peaches, and simmer about 3 min., stirring occasionally. Remove cloves and allspice. Serve peach sauce warm or chilled over crisp ready-to-eat cereal or hot cooked cereal. Accompany with a pitcher of cream, if desired. About 4 cups sauce

Bacon Omelet

Whether the bacon is cane, brown, or maple sugar cured, or hickory smoked, this omelet is ever popular because of the distinctively delicious flavor the bacon imparts.

- ½ lb. bacon
- 6 eggs
- 6 tablespoons milk or water
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon black pepper

1. Unwrap bacon, do not separate, and cut crosswise into fine thin strips. Put into an unheated 8- to 10-in. skillet and fry until crisp. Drain bacon fat from skillet and return about 2 tablespoons of fat to the skillet.

2. Beat eggs, milk or water, salt, and pepper together until well blended but not foamy.

3. Pour egg mixture over bacon in skillet and set over medium heat. As edges of omelet begin to thicken, draw cooked portions toward center with spoon or fork to allow uncooked mixture to flow to bottom of skillet, tilting skillet as necessary. Do not stir.

4. When eggs are thickened but surface is still moist, increase heat to quickly brown the bottom of omelet. Loosen edges carefully and fold in half. Slide onto a warm serving platter. If desired, garnish with watercress. 4 to 6 servings

Shirred Eggs with Meat and Cheese

- Canadian-style bacon, salami, or bologna, thinly sliced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- Swiss or Cheddar cheese, thinly sliced
- 6 eggs
- Few drops Worcestershire sauce

1. Brown meat lightly in the butter or margarine in a skillet; reserve drippings in skillet.

2. Line a 9-in. pie plate with meat. Evenly layer cheese over meat.

3. Break the eggs, one at a time, into a small dish and slip each onto the cheese. Sprinkle eggs with salt and pepper and drizzle with Worcestershire sauce. Pour browned drippings in skillet over eggs.

4. Bake at 325°F. about 22 min., depending on firmness desired. Serve immediately with a stack of parsley-buttered toast. 6 servings

Pineapple Biscuit-Coffeecake

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ⅓ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 8¾-oz. can crushed pineapple, drained
- ½ cup coarsely chopped pecans
- 2 tablespoons chopped red maraschino cherries
- 1 8-oz. pkg. refrigerated biscuits or refrigerated buttermilk biscuits

1. Melt butter or margarine in a small saucepan. Stir in the sugar, pineapple, pecans, and cherries until blended.

2. Flatten each biscuit to about ¼ in. thick and coat thoroughly with pineapple mixture. Arrange biscuits overlapping slightly to cover the bottom of a buttered 8-in. square pan. Spread remaining pineapple mixture over top of biscuits.

3. Bake at 425°F. about 20 min., or until biscuits and topping are lightly browned. Serve warm.

One 8-in. square coffeecake

Frosted Brown Sugar Bubble Loaf

- 4 cups biscuit mix
- ¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon ground mace
- Few grains salt
- ¼ cup coarsely chopped toasted almonds
- ¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons grated lemon peel
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg, well beaten
- ½ cup melted butter or margarine
- ½ teaspoon vanilla extract
- Coffee Glaze

1. Blend the first five ingredients thoroughly; set aside.

2. Mix almonds, remaining ¼ cup sugar, and lemon peel thoroughly.

3. Combine milk, egg, ¼ cup of the butter or margarine, and extract. Make a well in the center of the dry ingredients and add the liquid ingredients all at one time. Stir with a fork until dough follows fork. Gently form dough into a ball and turn onto a lightly floured surface. Knead lightly 10 to 15 times.

4. Shape dough into 52 small balls, about 1 in. in diameter. Form three layers of balls, 18 in each of the first two and 12 in the third, in a greased 9x5x3-in. loaf pan, brushing each layer with some of remaining melted butter or margarine and sprinkling with one third of the nut mixture. Place 4 balls down the center and brush with any remaining butter or margarine.

5. Bake at 350°F. about 45 min., or until loaf is golden brown. Remove from pan and drizzle with Coffee Glaze. Serve hot; pull apart with two forks. One 9 x 5-in. loaf

Coffee Glaze

Stir about 2½ teaspoons double or triple strength coffee into ¾ cup sifted confectioners' sugar until smooth and of desired consistency. Drizzle over hot loaf.

About ¼ cup glaze

Molasses Banana Drink

- 2 cups milk
- 2 medium-sized ripe bananas, peeled and cut in pieces
- ¼ cup light molasses
- ¼ teaspoon ground ginger

1. Combine all ingredients in an electric blender container and blend. Chill thoroughly.

2. To serve, pour over ice in glasses and accompany each drink with a cinnamon-stick stirrer.

About 3 cups drink

Café au Lait

With all of the coffees available, instant as well as the various other grinds and methods of brewing coffee such as glass filter-type, drip, percolator, and vacuum, occasionally serve your favorite brew with a touch of Old Vienna—a whipped cream rosette afloat on each serving. Or use your perfectly brewed coffee for Café au Lait, especially appealing at breakfast.

For each cup of freshly brewed coffee, scald an equal measure of rich milk. Simultaneously pour hot coffee and hot milk into each cup. Sweeten if desired.

A HUMOROUS HISTORY OF BREAKFAST:

From Caves to

A prehistoric papa had to catch a dinosaur for the morning meal; today

BREAKFAST has changed considerably since prehistoric man woke up one morning and knew instinctively that something was the matter, but not what. Finally it dawned on him (this was the dawn of civilization) that he was hungry.

He was relieved to realize it was nothing worse and probably nothing permanent. Though he was unaware of it, because he had slept soundly, he had been fasting. Now if he could just break that fast, he would feel fine again, and also he would have invented the word "breakfast."

Before fire was invented, breakfasts were simple. There were no troublesome questions, such as, "Which do you want, hot cereal or cold cereal?" or "How would you like your eggs?"

Almost the only question was, "Is there anything to eat?" When people lived in a one-room cave and slept on the floor, there were no difficult decisions about whether to eat breakfast in the dining room, in the kitchen, or in bed.

If there were no food in the cave, Stone Age man picked up a club and went to get some, his empty stomach growling so menacingly that dinosaurs fled in terror. He did not carry his food home in a shopping bag; he dragged it behind him. He was so muscular in those days, however, that he could have opened a package at the end that's marked "Open Other End" without so much as breaking a fingernail.

The earliest breakfast was probably raw meat garnished with weeds, and what was left over was eaten for lunch and dinner. If it is hard for you to imagine breakfast without coffee, don't try.

By the time of the Romans, great improvement had been made in breakfast. For one thing, having only to slip into their togas, which had no loose buttons or balky zippers, they could get to the breakfast table in a jiffy. For another, everyone spoke Latin at the table, even the small children, and breakfast conversation sounded very cultured.

Julius Caesar is said to have been responsible for the first breakfast room. One day at breakfast, he was being fed by his slaves when, after about an hour, he exclaimed, "I haven't any room." Members of the senate were notified of his remark and, having no idea he meant he was full (not Caesar, with that huge paunch!), they built him a breakfast room and raised everyone's taxes a little to cover the cost.

During the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, or the Decadent Period, Romans ate breakfast lying on couches, opening their mouths only wide enough for servants to drop in the food. A breakfast favorite was grapes, which were easier than oranges to drop into the mouth.

We come now to the Middle Ages. Knights always ate a hearty break-

My Country Cousins

I SEE by the tv there's a big boom in hillbillies. Where I come from, we've had them in our family for generations.

Most of the characters on the little screen are as overdrawn as caricatures, but a good many of their expressions and attitudes are for certain sure. The only difference between the reel and the real is that my kinfolk were never funny, just purely wonderful.

Originally they were landed gentry from the Carolinas who moved overland to settle the clay hills and continued to raise fine horses for long afterward. So far as I know, they never raised Cain or corn likker and hadn't a feud to their names. But there were among them mule traders, and they did live in isolated simplicity back in the hills.

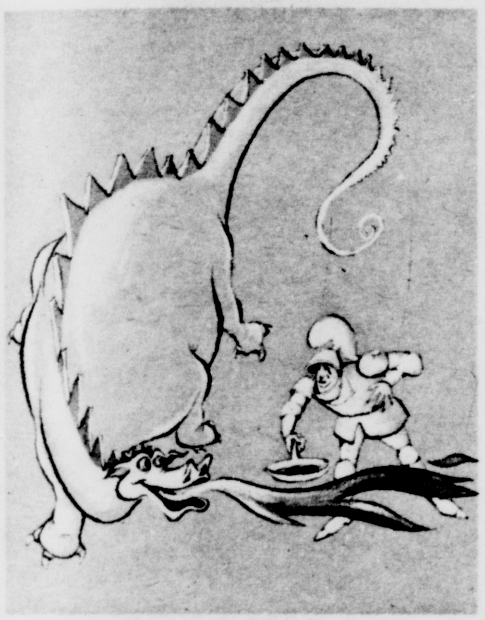
fast to get ready for a day of jousting in tournaments or rescuing damsels in distress. They needed something that would stick to their ribs on the inside, just as their chain mail did on the outside. Who knows? They might even encounter a fire-breathing dragon, in fighting trim after a breakfast of kindling and kerosene.



When a knight ate breakfast, he usually lifted his visor; it was easier to get the food in this way than poking it through the narrow slots. Occasionally, though, his visor would fall just as he had tilted his head back to drop in his dinner, and it made a mess. It was easy, however, to wipe the food off a suit of armor, and the only bad consequence might be a little rust.

In the Middle Ages not everyone was a knight. Some people were serfs. Their breakfast was simple, ranging from nothing to leftovers the knights left over when they got tired of lifting their arms. No one helped the serfs, and their having to do all the preparing and all the cleaning up afterwards led to what was called the serf-yourself breakfast.

So we come to the Modern Era. Since Father is downtown at lunch and Father and Mother are out on the town and the children are left with a baby sitter at dinner, breakfast is the only meal when the whole family is, or should be, together.

Unlike the dark cave of the Stone Age, breakfast is served in a sunny room, everyone wearing sunglasses. Instead of wearing a toga like a Roman or a suit of armor like a medieval knight, Father is clad in a business suit with a white shirt that shows egg stains. There are no longer any serfs or slaves, but there is Mother. Though there is no worry about fire-breathing dragons, there is worry about the car in the garage. Will it start?

Everyone today agrees that a hearty breakfast is a Good Thing. If you finished dinner the night before at 8, it has been 12 hours since you last ate. Imagine going from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. without eating!

So Mother encourages the children to "eat a good, big breakfast." She does this in subtle little ways, such as offering them money if they eat and threatening them with all sorts of terrible punishment, such as an hour less of television watching, if they don't.

As for food itself, we have come a long way since breakfasts in early times. No longer do we wonder where our next breakfast is coming from. Now we know: the refrigerator or the pantry. No longer are we ignorant about whether our food is good for us. We know it is. It says so, right on the package.

So we have come a long way. Maybe, though, we should go back just a little. Not back to the Stone Age or the Middle Ages, but back to the days when we could eat a hearty, healthful breakfast without counting calories or knowing whether it was a protein or carbohydrate one. Now, when I was a boy. . . . ◆ lifted his hand. He sired a passel of strapping big sons, and they hacked a living outen the rocky ground while their Daddy set on the porch and rocked and had hisself a fine life. They all did. He lived to be 95, and the boys thrived and growed bigger than ever down along the Schuyler brakes.

They set a fine table, too, when company could get in on the road. They et ham from the smokehouse and turnips, lamb's quarter, dandelion greens, and mustard greens from the garden. And they was grits and red-eye gravy and homemade bread and seven-layer cake. All of it was cooked and baked on a wood-burning stove and tasted better'n anything you-all ever et from a fancy modren oven.

A few of the folks still live back there in the hills and carry on like their daddy and their granddaddy afore them. Some of them have college degrees nowadays, but it hasn't hurt their spirit none.

Likely they'd raise a shout of laughter among the city folks that watch the tv, but my hillbilly family wouldn't have nothing but pity for suchlike.

For out of those hills and the ones like them has come the strength of a nation, and in those hills there still exist the same openhanded hospitality and neighboring the rest of us have long forgot.

And when trouble comes, they come, too, their big hands holding baskets of food and their kind eyes filled with sympathy.

"Now, don't you never mind," they say. "We all got our tribulations, and we're gonna he'p you-all through yourn."

It may not be the King's English, but it's got it beat a country mile.

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, loss of sleep and a tormenting itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

Coat fryer parts with seasoned flour. Brown.
Add 1⅔ cups of Dole pineapple chunks with syrup, plus ½ cup of water. Cover and simmer for 45 minutes. Uncover and simmer 15 minutes more.
Dole pineapple is always a special treat, because it's always Hawaiian pineapple. The soil and climate of Hawaii put something into Dole's flavor that pineapple from other parts of the world just never has!

Pick Dole:

Most young actresses would give anything to be in a film with the Beatles— but Eleanor Bron would just as soon appear with Donald Duck

The headgear Eleanor Bron is wearing (upper left) isn't part of a chain-mail costume for a historical movie. It's just a rather unusual beach cap—that befits a most unusual girl. Surrounded by Beatles, as she is in the other photos, Eleanor remains unaffected. She finds them interesting, amusing company —but not awesome heroes to be worshiped.

THE LUCKIEST GIRL IN THE WORLD

SOME YOUNG GIRLS desire diamonds, others like shiny Cadillacs, but almost any young woman in the world would give up all these for the chance to play the Beatles' love interest in their long-awaited film, "Help!"

But movie producers tend to be capricious, and the role has gone to one of the few girls who are not especially awed by England's famous longhairs. What's more, she prefers the waltz to the twist!

Her name is Eleanor Bron, and she is a brown-haired, brown-eyed, slightly overweight girl whose main ambition is to act—and she doesn't care whether it is the Beatles, Lassie, or Donald Duck on the screen opposite her.

Dick Lester, who has directed the two Beatles movies, explains why he wanted a girl like Eleanor as the female lead: "I needed a girl who had vitality and charm and who wouldn't be awed by the Beatles, since that would have shown." Says Eleanor, "I think they wanted someone who would prove no distraction for the millions of Beatles fans."

Eleanor was born in a London suburb in 1938, which makes her three years older than the oldest Beatle. She insists she was always a little spoiled. "I never fought hard for anything," she told me, "except to go on the stage. My father insisted I first go to college, but in the end, he let me have my way."

Eleanor got her first big break when she toured the U.S. in the celebrated "Establishment" revue. Back in England, she joined a tv show called "Not So Much a Program, More a Way of Life" and caught the eye of producer Walter Shenson, who promptly cast her as the female lead in the Beatles' film.

Eleanor readily admits, "All my friends were envious when I got the part with the Beatles, and everyone keeps asking about them. They are wonderful to work with and go out of their way to be friendly, although they pay little attention to conventional behavior.

"For example, they don't go in for normal conversation. I remember telling them a joke once which wasn't funny, and they just sat there stony-faced. It was a bit embarrassing, but I preferred that to false laughter."

Eleanor summed up her situation by saying, "I think working with the Beatles will be good for me. It is like touching a lucky stone. People want to be close to something magical, and I am no exception." ◆
